LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—This city, Los Angeles, if it lives up to its opportunities, which it usually does, will do for flying machines what Detroit has done for automobiles.

An excellent start has been made, good machines are manufactured here. They will be delivered to the consumer in any part of North America after a 24-hour try-out flight, and the price will be "f. o. b. wherever you have a landing field."

Many an American in years to come will wire to Los Angeles for a flying machine, have it delivered the next morning, step in and fly back to California. Many that read this, will see that.

EASTERN religions have a horror of destroying animal life. The ignorant mother on the banks of the Nile will allow flies to eat around the eyes of her baby because it is a sin to kill those flies.

The Japanese are eastern, but also practical, and hate hydrophobia. So here and there they celebrate "dog hunting week." In Hyogo district recently 5,800 wild homeless dogs were rounded up and killed.

THEN a special religious service in their honor was held in the Okurayama temple, 30 Buddhist priests officiating. Gautama, the original Buddhist, you remember, allowed a starving tigress with no milk for her cub to eat his body. The cubs had milk. Gautama was miraculously restored to life, and all lived happily.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, bandmaster [illegible] says he will march out of life to the tune of his own band. "A man keeps going, by keeping going," says he.

The best thing Sousa ever said was, 'Anybody could lead my band as well as I can lead it, for a little while."

Therein resides the safety of the old fellows, that are fortunate. They know how, and can keep going.

GEORGE MAYER, 65, MAY DIE AS RESULT OF HIS INJURIES

William J. Waters, Car Owner, Also in Hospital.

GIRL IS CUT

Machine, Family Says, Was Crowded Off Eighth Street.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, when a Willys-Knight touring car hurtled the curb and crashed into a telephone pole east of Patterson field on West Eighth street at 12:45 o'clock this morning.

Three Persons in Car.

The injured:

George Mayer, 65, pottery worker, Shadyside avenue, concussion of the brain and possibly internal injuries; may die, in City hospital.

William J. Waters, 31; also pottery employe, Shadyside avenue, two fractured ribs, lacerated knee; in hospital.

Miss Mildred Mayer, 19, daughter of George Mayer, suffering from shock and injuries to head; removed to home of her grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Hadgett, Monroe street.

Waters and Mayer were accompanying Miss Mayer to her grandmother's home, after a party at the Mayer residence, when the accident occurred. Miss Mayer was in the front seat with Waters, who was at the wheel of the car. Mayer was alone in the rear compartment.

Car Badly Damaged.

The machine was traveling on West Eighth street when members of Mayer's family claim, it was crowded to the left side of the road by another automobile. The Walters car jumped the curb to the sidewalk on the north side of the street and struck a telephone pole, splintering it. Mayer, who was thrown to the street, and the other occupants were rendered unconscious.

Two Hammondsville men on their way home from East Liverpool discovered the wreck and called the Sturgis ambulance. Mayer and Waters were taken to the hospital, while Miss Mayer was taken to her home, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall and M. D. McCutcheon. The two in the hospital were attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey.

The front end of the automobile was crushed and one wheel demolished. The car was taken to the McElravy garage by the McElravy wrecker.

Patrolman William Lister made an investigation of the accident.

Friday, Saturday Are Tag Days for High School Band

Approximately 100 pupils have been enrolled by the Lions' club for the "Tag Day" campaign to be conducted tomorrow and Saturday for the benefit of a fund which will be used in purchasing instruments for the high school band.

Headquarters during the two-day drive will be maintained in the high school building.

EIGHT YEARS AFTER ARMISTICE—STILL IN HOSPITAL

With a mighty outburst of relief, the World War was ended eight years ago—armistice declared Nov. 11, 1918,—but to the man pictured below there has been no armistice. He continues to battle pain. According to figures of the United States Veterans Bureau, more than 25,000 war veterans are being cared for in hospitals. There are altogether approximately 225,000 veterans receiving compensation for disabilities. All told, more than 700,000 applications for compensation has been filed. Top views: Arrival of German armistice delegates within the French lines, and surrender of the German fleet, 1918; bottom: American overseas' veteran still in Veterans Bureau hospital, eight years after the armistice was declared.

CITY BOWS HER HEAD IN HOMAGE

Orphans Attend Theatre; Legion and Vets Celebrate.

East Liverpool paused in her daily toil today and bowed her head in tribute to the heroes of the World war—the boys who went "over there" and did not return and those who did come back.

Sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, exercises were conducted in front of the Carnegie Library at 11 o'clock this morning. Children from the Central, Sixth street and Third street schools took part in the ceremony and also in the parade which preceded the exercises. Superintendent of School C. S. McVay led the flag salute, while an address was delivered by Common Pleas Judge-elect W. F. Lones. This was followed by a volley of three shots and taps by a bugler.

Church bells tolled, factory whistles and fire sirens shrieked for five minutes preceeding 11 o'clock. This was followed by a two-minute period of silence in which all business was stopped in memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice. Exercises of a patriotic nature were carried out in each room of the public and parochial schools.

City Officials Announce Proposed Corporate Lines on Eve of Hearing Here Before County Commissioners.

Hearing on the application of the city of East Liverpool to annex "certain property" bordering along the present corporation line, will be resumed in the municipal court rooms at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the county commissioners will hear testimony.

Opening arguments for and against the proposal were heard at Lisbon last Monday morning. Solicitor Frank Hoover and Attorney Jason H. Brookes appeared in behalf of the city, while Attorneys Harry Brokaw and Charles Boyd spoke for the opposition.

The proposed new territory includes sections along the Lincoln highway as far north as La Croft, taking in Sherwood, Fisher Park and other of the hilltop districts. It also takes in all of Maplewood and the Park boulevard zones, running as far north as the township line. The line then follows the Park Way road into East End, embracing all of Beechwood. It also includes Harker avenue and other territory near the upper end of East End.

Mrs. Mulrine, Widow, Dies in Her Home; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Elizabeth Mulrine, 78, widow of Bernard Murline, died last night in her home, 317 West Third street, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Mulrine, who was born in Boness, Scotland, was a resident here for 50 years. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John J. McKeever and Mrs. Harry Barker, both of this city; one brother, Anthony Hughes, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Gooley, both of Brooklyn, N. Y. Six grand children also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Aloysius church. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Europe must accept the reservations of the U. S. senate exactly as written, or abandon all hope of American adherence to the world court.

President Coolidge so declared today in an Armistice day message to the world which he had come 1,400 miles to deliver from the base of Kansas City's $2,000,000 memorial to America's world war dead.

The president began speaking at 11:02 o'clock. The weather was perfect with a tinge of winter in the air. A crowd of 100,000 had gathered around Memorial Hill. The president's speech was amplified by loud speakers.

Plea for Lasting Peace.

OHIO COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS ONE BALLOT FOR NATIONAL, STATE, DISTRICT AND COUNTY TICKETS AND ALL SPECIAL PROPOSALS

Names of presidential electors will be eliminated, while the national, state, district and county tickets and all special propositions will appear on one ballot, if the Ohio general assembly, at its January session, approves changes in the election laws recommended by a legislative committee, it was announced today.

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today made public 22 proposed changes in the election code, recommended by the 10-man committee of which he is executive secretary. Secretary of State Thad H. Brown is chairman of the committee.

The committee also recommends that the primary elections be held on the first Tuesday of May instead of August, in order to combine state and presidential preference primary, and suggests that absent voters should be required to certify absence from the county rather than precinct.

In precincts where the vote is 150 or less at one election the number of election officials for the next balloting should be reduced from six to four—two judges and two clerks, the committee believes.

If the city council approves, biennial instead of quadrennial registration may be held in cities of 11,800 to 250,000 population, another proposal sets forth.

In quadrennial registration cities three days instead of four would be designated for enrollment. Registrars would be required to be on duty from 2 to 9 p. m., instead of 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and 5 to 10 p. m.

The recommendations follow:

"Elimination of the names of the presidential electors from the ballot and having the names of the electors filed with the secretary of state by the controlling committee of the party and on the ballot the candidates for president and vice-president of respective parties will appear.

"The combining of the national, state, district, and county tickets and all special questions on one ballot. Only one ballot to be presented to the voter at the time of any election.

"Absent voters to certify absence from the county rather than from the precinct before being entitled to vote.

"All voters in line at the time of closing of polls shall be entitled to vote.

"Charge back the costs of all special elections to the different political sub-divisions under which said election is held.

"Change the time limit for filing resolutions or petitions for bond issues and other special causes so that the same shall be filed not less than 40 days before election upon which said propositions are to be voted for, in order to meet the requirements of the absent voters' law.

"No rotation of names of candidates on ballot if there are no more candidates than are candidates to be voted for.

"Furnishing uniform certificates of elections by secretary of state.

"Better methods of lighting booths.

"In advertising for ballots, right be given to have bids submitted from any place in the state rather than just in the county as at present in Section 5050, General Code of Ohio.

"The elimination of proclamations by the sheriff.

"All primaries to be held first Tuesday in May of each year and that the state and presidential primaries be combined and held on the same day.

"Registration: Quadrennial cities, 11,800 to 250,000 population. Biennial may be held by act of council in the said cities and providing funds therefore.

"Biennial registration for cities of 250,000 population or more, registration in even numbered years.

"In biennial registration cities the office of the county board to be opened from January 1 to October 1 for purposes of registering during said office hours.

"Re-count: That the same law in reference to recount of the vote now provided for after general elections be made applicable to primary elections.

"Number of election officers: If the number of voters at the preceeding general election in any precinct be 150 or less the board shall provide only four members—two judges and two clerks.

"Registration in quadrennial registration cities: Precincts registration three days in presidential years before the general election but eliminate first registration day now provided for by law. Opportunity to register, transfer, etc., to be given at the election board headquarters of a central point designated by the board for a period prescribed by the board which shall include the period from 30 to 15 days before each election during those hours prescribed by the board. The board may, by a majority vote at a meeting held 60 days or more prior to any election, general, primary or special, provide for a precinct registration prior to that election for one day only.

"No political sub-division shall be paid rent for public places or halls used for election purposes.

"Boards of education to be nominated by petition only.

"On registration days the registrars shall be in session from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock.

"The right to use printed slips containing the names of the persons for whom the voters desire to vote and make a cross-mark to the left of the names as though the name substituted had been originally placed thereon, amending Section 5071."

A sub committee will meet within a few weeks in Cincinnati to embody the recommendations in an election code.

The general committee includes three members of the state senate, three from the house, the secretary of state and three others named by the latter official.

"Charge back the costs of all special elections to the different political sub-divisions under which said election is held.

"Change the time limit for filing resolutions or petitions for bond issues and other special causes so that the same shall be filed not less than 40 days before election upon which said propositions are to be voted for, in order to meet the requirements of the absent voters' law.

"No rotation of names of candidates on ballot if there are no more candidates than are candidates to be voted for.

"Furnishing uniform certificates of elections by secretary of state.

"Better methods of lighting booths.

"In advertising for ballots, right be given to have bids submitted from any place in the state rather than just in the county as at present in Section 5050, General Code of Ohio.

"The elimination of proclamations by the sheriff.

"All primaries to be held first Tuesday in May of each year and that the state and presidential primaries be combined and held on the same day.

"Registration: Quadrennial cities, 11,800 to 250,000 population. Biennial may be held by act of council in the said cities and providing funds therefore.

"Biennial registration for cities of 250,000 population or more, registration in even numbered years.

"In biennial registration cities the office of the county board to be opened from January 1 to October 1 for purposes of registering during said office hours.

"Re-count: That the same law in reference to recount of the vote now provided for after general elections be made applicable to primary elections.

"Number of election officers: If the number of voters at the preceeding general election in any precinct be 150 or less the board shall provide only four members—two judges and two clerks.

"Registration in quadrennial registration cities: Precincts registration three days in presidential years before the general election but eliminate first registration day now provided for by law. Opportunity to register, transfer, etc., to be given at the election board headquarters of a central point designated by the board for a period prescribed by the board which shall include the period from 30 to 15 days before each election during those hours prescribed by the board. The board may, by a majority vote at a meeting held 60 days or more prior to any election, general, primary or special, provide for a precinct registration prior to that election for one day only.

"No political sub-division shall be paid rent for public places or halls used for election purposes.

"Boards of education to be nominated by petition only.

"On registration days the registrars shall be in session from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock.

"The right to use printed slips containing the names of the persons for whom the voters desire to vote and make a cross-mark to the left of the names as though the name substituted had been originally placed thereon, amending Section 5071."

A sub-committee will meet within a few weeks in Cincinnati to embody the recommendations in an election code.

The general committee includes three members of the state senate, three from the house, the secretary of state and three others named by the latter official.

War Veteran Gets Senate Place of Late A. B. Cummins

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Senator David W. Stewart, (R) of Iowa, a world war veteran, was sworn in at yesterday's brief session of the senate to succeed the late Albert B. Cummins.

He will serve until next March 4, when Smith W. Brookhart, the Republican insurgent, will return to the senate for a full six-year term.

Stewart was introduced in the senate by Senator Daniel F. Steck, the Iowa Democrat, who was seated by the senate last spring in place of Brookhart. Steck also announced to the senate the death of Cummins.

Senator Hale (R) of Maine also announced the death of the late Senator Bert M. Fernald, his colleague.

Before Baby Comes

WONDERFUL! Gloriously wonderful is the achievement of Mother's Friend in relieving suffering incident to motherhood. Its benefits are amazing! Its soothing, relaxing qualities make the months before maternity comfortable. Yes, you can rub discomfort away with Mother's Friend! Mrs. John S. Herr, Manheim, Pa., writes: "Mother's Friend did wonders for me. I can almost say my baby was born without pain."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. Mother's Friend is externally applied. It soothes the nerves and muscles as month follows month. Finally, it makes childbirth a joy!

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 30, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

Lew Fields' 'Girl Friend' Coming Nov. 16.

Lew Fields' "The Girl Friend," which scored a success on its premiere at the New York Vanderbilt theatre early last spring and played to capacity audiences throughout the summer and is still ringing the bell of metropolian popularity, will be presented at the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday evening, Nov. 16.

"The Girl Friend" is credited with having all the graces essential to a successful musical comedy, including a cast of capable artists, supplemented by an ensemble of pretty and shapely young girls and boys who can sing and have that rare modicum, a sense of humor, exhibited at each performance in a series of eccentric terpsichorean members.

In addition to the popular song hits, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," the lilting melodies include "Why Do I?" "The Damsel Who Done All the Dirt," "Town Hall Tonight," "Good Fellow Mine," "He's a Winner," "I'd Like To Take You Home" and "What Is It?"

More Lovely Imported Bead Bags

Fashion's little whims flit from this to that. Season follows season and generation piles upon generation, yet the bags fashioned after those our great-grandmothers carried are just a little richer and just a little finer and just a little more popular than ever. Today the vogue is color. Tastes go back to Egypt and Persia and all the olden lands for oddity and queerness of design, but ever since beaded bags have been beaded bags they have reflected the glory of the times.

Especially these hand-beaded bags that came from across the water, each done by a master.

Bright and deeply somber shades riot and dance all over them. Flowers of France are side by side with the strange figures of Persia.

Made of small beads and made as soft and rumply as silk. All mounted on filigree frames. There is no end to the variety.

Group of pouch bead bags on gold or silver frames. Green, rose, blue and other combinations. Beads are hand-knit and will not come off. Priced at $4.95.

Group of novelty bead bags with beads knit in purse. All colors in attractive combinations. Priced at $9.75.

$50,000,000 BOND ISSUE FAVORED

J. S. Lakin, president of the state board of control, who returned to his tour of inspection of state institutions, confirmed reports from Huntington to the effect that he is advocating a new state bond issue of $50,000,000 to be used to complete the good roads system and build state institutions.

While in Huntington Mr. Lakin talked with newspaper men, giving his views as to what steps the state should take in building the rest of its roads and also in expanding its institutions to keep up with the expansion of the state.

The $50,000,000 he said is to be divided, giving $35,000,000 to roads and $15,000,000 for institutions. In this way, he said, the tax burdens would be relieved and the future generation, which would reap the gretest benefits from the roads and institutions would pay the bill. He pointed out that at least $5,000,000 more will be needed to complete the new capitol; that the size of the penitentiary at Moundsville should be doubled and that the insane hospitals and other institutions, including the West Virginia university are overcrowded and badly in need of building and equipment.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

Charles M. Stewart and John W. Graham, both of Newell, were elected members of the Grant district board of education at the recent election. The former polled 351 votes, while the latter received 328.

John W. Talbott, of Newell, was elected constable receiving 847 votes. These figures were made public by members of the county court who canvassed the vote this week.

Smith Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma J. Smith, 66 years old, were held this afternoon in the home, Washington street, in charge of Rev. Lulu Kell, formerly pastor of the Newell Nazarene church. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

$50,000,000 BOND ISSUE FAVORED

J. S. Lakin, president of the state board of control, who returned to his tour of inspection of state institutions, confirmed reports from Huntington to the effect that he is advocating a new state bond issue of $50,000,000 to be used to complete the good roads system and build state institutions.

While in Huntington Mr. Lakin talked with newspaper men, giving his views as to what steps the state should take in building the rest of its roads and also in expanding its institutions to keep up with the expansion of the state.

The $50,000,000 he said is to be divided, giving $35,000,000 to roads and $15,000,000 for institutions. In this way, he said, the tax burdens would be relieved and the future generation, which would reap the gretest benefits from the roads and institutions would pay the bill. He pointed out that at least $5,000,000 more will be needed to complete the new capitol; that the size of the penitentiary at Moundsville should be doubled and that the insane hospitals and other institutions, including the West Virginia university are overcrowded and badly in need of building and equipment.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

Charles M. Stewart and John W. Graham, both of Newell, were elected members of the Grant district board of education at the recent election. The former polled 351 votes, while the latter received 328.

John W. Talbott, of Newell, was elected constable receiving 847 votes. These figures were made public by members of the county court who canvassed the vote this week.

Red Cross Roll Call

Armistice Day, appropriately enough, witnesses the launching of the annual Red Cross Roll Call in most cities of the United States. However, inasmuch as the organization of precinct workers will not be completed for a few days, the campaign which ends on Thanksgiving Day, will not begin in East Liverpool until Monday.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be chairman of the canvass here. Twenty-one precincts leaders have named workers for a house-to-house drive, while booths, too, will be maintained in downtown stores and public buildings.

The southern Columbiana county tornado, in which one child was killed, five persons seriously injured and approximately $100,000 property damage exacted, and hurricanes and earthquakes in other parts of the globe have emphasized again in a spectacular way the relief work of the Red Cross.

The daily work of the Great Mother of Mankind in communities untouched by great disasters, is not spectacular and so is little known or soon forgotten. Yet that work, because of its nearness to daily, hum-drum community life, is of very great importance.

Once a year, when the Red Cross conducts its roll call for membership—and funds—these things are brought forward and talked about. Red Cross instruction in domestic hygiene and home nursing, Red Cross co-operation in the elimination and preventing of disease, local relief work of many kinds, disaster relief on an international scale, all are phases of Red Cross activity.

Any one may be a member of the American Red Cross and a sharer in its good works by contributing a dollar to the organization. During this 1926 Roll Call there should be a gain in first memberships as well as widespread renewal of old memberships.

Lese-Majesty In Italy

An English lady, a niece of Lord Dunmore, traveling in Italy, suddenly disappeared. A letter received from her later informed her relatives in England that she had been thrown into prison on an accusation of "speaking against Mussolini." She was said to have made derogatory remarks about the Duce while in a cafe.

She was released a few days later, on condition that she leave Italy.

There is considerable resentment about that in England. There is considerable uneasiness, too, there and elsewhere. It is evident that no foreign visitor is safe in Italy today if he is at all disposed to criticise the Italian dictator.

It isn't a question of making inflammatory speeches against Mussolini, or conspiring against his life, or trying to stir up a revolt. No government would want that sort of thing done, especially by outsiders. But it is evidently perilous in Italy for either natives or aliens to make any kind of critical comment against the Fascist leader, in public or in private. Mussolini is enforcing, for himself, the old autocratic principle of "lese-majesty" more arrogantly than Kaiser Wilhelm ever did.

The inevitable result of such a policy is to invite domestic revolt and to make Italy unpopular with other nations. Travelers are already beginning to boycott that country.

Europe Falls Behind

Figures compiled by League of Nations experts show that in the last 14 years Europe has fallen sadly behind in population and trade, with the western hemisphere and the antipodes running away from her.

North America has increased 20 per cent in population, South America a little more, and Australia and New Zealand 17 per cent, while Europe has gained only 1 per cent.

In the same period Europe's foodstuffs and raw materials have increased 4 to 5 per cent, while they increased 25 per cent in North America and Asia and 33 per cent in South America.

The center of world trade, the Geneva experts say, has shifted from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Central Europe is reviving, but Europe as a whole is far behind the procession and seems likely to stay behind.

Loans

The new Roumanian minister to the United States denies that his country is seeking an American loan. Thus by implication he denies that the real purpose of Queen Marie's visit is to get the American public into a lending mood.

At the same time, he admits, there might be some effort of the sort made later on, for all he knows, because Roumania could make good use of a loan "to develop her agriculture and railroads."

Come to think of it, our own railroads and agriculture might be able to use a few hundred millions. But American investors lately seem to prefer lending their money abroad. It's more romantic.

To say that a man is "innocent until he's proved guilty" and that a man is innocent because "they can't prove it on him" may sound very much alike, but they're not exactly the same thing.

Mussolini, since he has become a popular target for rebellious patriots, wears a steel union suit.

THE PASSIVE ROLE.

As I look back on it, it seems to me I've been hearing various versions of this story ever since I was a babe in arms. But, as I have repeatedly stated before, I do not think age should be a bar to a yarn when it possesses merits.

It is set forth that during the Civil War a young officer in the Union army was taking a stroll along a road in Virginia when he met an old negro man and engaged him in conversation. The ancient darky returned such quaint answers to the Northerner's questions that the latter was moved to quiz him humorously.

"Uncle," he said, "you know, don't you, that this war between us and the Rebs is largely on your account"

"Yas, sah, dat's whut I done heared 'em say."

"Well, you crave to have your freedom, don't you?"

"I 'spects I does."

"Then why aren't you in the army yourself?"

The negro scratched his head reflectively.

"Boss," he said, at length, "did you ever see to dawgs fightin' over a bone?"

"Yes, many a time."

"Well, wuz de bone fightin'?"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There is, of course, much sneering prattle about the de luxe life in Manhattan among those of us who peer at it from hall room cloisters and wonder how there could be fun in that. In many ways it does seem a boorish procedure.

There is a rich bachelor, for instance, who is said to spend $200,000 a year on actual living expenses. He lives alone in a house that resembles a marble mausoleum—that is if you could call livin with 18 servants alone.

His private swimming pool is a half block long and heh as a dining room that will seat comfortably 110 guests. There is also a squash court, a motion picture projection room seating 50, a fully equipped gymnasium, bar and two mechanical pipe organs.

With all this luxury it is said he gave up entertaining a year ago. He found many guests took advantage of his hospitality to interest him in this scheme and that. Now when he entertains on a large scale he engages a private dining room in a hotel.

It is true, too, that few of those massive homes in and fringing Millionaire's Row are occupied for any length of time. Somehow the big rooms and grandeur become monotonous and will be deserted for the compact intimacy of an apartment house hotel.

Two of the largest homes on Riverside Drive have not been tenanted for nearly two years and there is one home in the East Fifties furnished with a magnificence that is a throw back to Louis XVI. The owner lived in it one month and said he nearly died of loanliness.

It is doubtless Pollyannish to declare that there is more real happiness in those peaceful little homes out where the pavement ends but one thing is certain—in New York at least—that most of those grand mansions are generally as listless as a tomb.

New York is to have a college for waiters. The greatest need for enlightenment is perhaps among bus boys. Most of them are asleep when you want ice water, but wide awake when it comes to snatching away plates of unfinished food.

In a restaurant last night I heard a querulous patron inquire of a bus boy, "What do you have to do around here to get a glass of water?" The boy gazed at him and replied, "No spik Englis'."

Dorothea Antel's Sunshine Shoppe has opened on West 72nd street. It is a monument to courage in affliction. Miss Antel, an actress, was injured in a stage fall in a manner which left her unable to move in her bed without excruciating agony. She has never lost hope and conducts her shop propped up in bed. She has through the encouragement of Nellie Revell, who fought her way back from invalidism, built up a steady trade among theatrical folk.

Somehow the stage seems to furnish rare epics in courage. No finer story of heroism has been told than that of the late Ben Welch who carried on for five years blind when he might have retired and accepted sufficient insurance to which he was entitled to live in comfort. And the bravery of Bernhardt facing the latest curtain call will live long after her acting perhaps is forgotten.

On Tenth Avenue is an eating place run by two vaudeville acrobats who crashed through a net one night and were permanently disabled. On the wall is a sign: "We will talk about anything but our troubles."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Cotton Problem—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—In the middle west and west record-breaking crops of the principal agricultural products spell prosperity for the farmers. In the south, a banner crop of cotton is a tragedy for the cotton growers, the ill effects of which are also felt by cotton manufacturers. This is one of the anomalies of economics and industry of which the country is now having an acute experience. What to do about it is engaging widespread attention throughout the country, but more particularly in the cotton-growing states and in the textile districts of New England. President Coolidge has appointed a commission headed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., to study the problem and to co-operate with state officials and industrial organizations in working out a plan of relief.

Already much has been accomplished toward meeting the immediate emergency. Cotton prices are firmer, and growers of the banner crop who saw its value drop $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 within a few days after the government crop estimates were made public, are not so panicky as they were. They can draw a full breath now without wondering what may happen to them before they have time to exhale it.

Throughout the country a strong public sentiment has been aroused that finds expression in a movement to bring about a larger domestic consumption of the products of this great American crop. This movement is in a measure comparable with the "Buy-a-bale-of-cotton" campaign of 1914-1915 when disaster threatened the cotton growers through the demorialization of their best market by the European war.

A drive is on in many sections that is illustrated by the action of the students of a woman's college in Mississippi who agreed to give up wearing silk garments of all kinds and wear nothing but cotton fabrics. Women's organizations in other states have taken the lead in urging similar action. Cotton manufacturers are aroused to the necessity of creating a larger domestic demand for their wares, and are initiating concerted efforts that give promise of fruitful results

The Anti-Silk Theory.

Some years ago some one coined a saying that gained widespread circulation. It was to the effect that if one inch could be added to the length of the Chinaman's shirt or coat the market for cotton would be doubled.

Much the same idea is back of the theory that if American women will stop wearing silk and adopt cotton fabrics as their national garb the troubles of the American cotton grower and manufacturer will all be over. Sometimes facetiously, but often quite seriously, it has been suggested that when American women take to wearing cotton they can absolutely insure the prosperity of our cotton industry if they will but add four to six inches to the length of their skirts and return to the use of the good old cotton petticoat, the petticoat being a garment that has become practically obsolete since the ascendancy of the short and skimpy dress and the advent of the silken bloomers or other unmentionables.

However, there is one fundamental fallacy in both the theory about the Chinaman and that about the American woman. You can't make the Oriental add an inch or a fraction thereof to the length of his shirt or coat, and you can't make the American woman abandon silk, lengthen her skirt, or wear petticoats.

In a great emergency many American women might consider it their patriotic duty to wear cotton more extensively, if not exclusively, but they would do that only temporarily and no permanent benefit would accrue to the cotton industry, the problems of which demand a permanent solution. The American woman wears silk because she prefers it, finds it more comfortable, believes it to be more attractive, knows it to be more convenient and more acceptable to her purposes, and finds it to be in some respects more economical, and she is not likely to abandon it until cotton or some other fabric is offered her that has all the qualities and utilities she now sees in silk. Cotton fabrics are certain to come into greater use, but that will be because the manufacturers concentrate on making those fabrics constantly more attractive and on giving them qualities not possessed by silk, or superior to those of silk.

In support of the anti-silk theory it has been argued that because we spend several hundred millions of dollars annually with Japan and China for raw silk, all that money might be diverted to cotton and at present prices would be sufficient to buy almost 10 per cent of the cotton crop, or approximately 6,600,000 bales. That, too, is fallacious.

A Question of Quantity.

That amount of cotton, in addition to the amount that now is used in domestic manufactures for domestic consumption, would make so much fabric that it could not be consumed each year if in addition to its present uses it were made a substitute for wallpaper. It is a question of quantity, rather than of cost. Government experts say that if cotton were to be used as a substitute for all the silk and rayon that are now used in this country it would not create a demand for an additional 500,000 bales a year and that it would have no appreciable effect on the cotton market. And in making that statement they call attention to the fact that we use silk for many purposes besides garments for women, hence what women might accomplish through abandoning silk is further minimized.

It is not to be understood that anybody is discouraging the movement to bring about the use of cotton instead of silk by American women. On the contrary, it will be encouraged and stimulated in every possible way, both by government officials and by the cotton interests, and it will be helpful. It is desired, however, that no false public impression be created as to the degree to which it will relieve the present situation, or like future situations should they develop.

Certain facts are to be borne in mind in connection with the cotton problem. Of a normal crop under normal conditions, approximately 60 per cent is exported in a raw state, while about 40 per cent goes into domestic consumption, which includes personal household, and industrial uses, and our exports of cotton manufactures. What proportion of the domestic consumption goes into each of the uses cited is practically impossible of determination at present. Statistics are not available that permit of anything beyond rough estimates, and those who make the estimates do not agree.

One expert says that one-half the domestic consumption goes into clothing of various kinds, one-fourth for household uses, while one-fourth is devoted to industrial purposes. Another expert says he does not believe more than 30 per cent is consumed in personal and household uses. Industry, he says takes 70 per cent.

One thing is definitely known—the annual domestic per capita consumption of cotton is virtually what it was 20 years ago, 57 to 59 pounds. That means that in spite of the great increase in the use of silk for women's garments we are using as much cotton per individual per year as in the days when it took 12 to 15 yards to make a dress and the women wore voluminous and numerous petticoats and had never thought of bloomers or teddy-bears. Of course this is explained by the far more extensive use of cotton today for industrial purposes.

The inevitable result of such a policy is to invite domestic revolt and to make Italy unpopular with other nations. Travelers are already beginning to boycott that country.

Europe Falls Behind

Figures compiled by League of Nations experts show that in the last 14 years Europe has fallen sadly behind in population and trade, with the western hemisphere and the antipodes running away from her.

North America has increased 20 per cent in population, South America a little more, and Australia and New Zealand 17 per cent, while Europe has gained only 1 per cent.

In the same period Europe's foodstuffs and raw materials have increased 4 to 5 per cent, while they increased 25 per cent in North America and Asia and 33 per cent in South America.

The center of world trade, the Geneva experts say, has shifted from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Central Europe is reviving, but Europe as a whole is far behind the procession and seems likely to stay behind.

Loans

The new Roumanian minister to the United States denies that his country is seeking an American loan. Thus by implication he denies that the real purpose of Queen Marie's visit is to get the American public into a lending mood.

At the same time, he admits, there might be some effort of the sort made later on, for all he knows, because Roumania could make good use of a loan "to develop her agriculture and railroads."

Come to think of it, our own railroads and agriculture might be able to use a few hundred millions. But American investors lately seem to prefer lending their money abroad. It's more romantic.

To say that a man is "innocent until he's proved guilty" and that a man is innocent because "they can't prove it on him" may sound very much alike, but they're not exactly the same thing.

Mussolini, since he has become a popular target for rebellious patriots, wears a steel union suit.

THE PASSIVE ROLE.

As I look back on it, it seems to me I've been hearing various versions of this story ever since I was a babe in arms. But, as I have repeatedly stated before, I do not think age should be a bar to a yarn when it possesses merits.

It is set forth that during the Civil War a young officer in the Union army was taking a stroll along a road in Virginia when he met an old negro man and engaged him in conversation. The ancient darky returned such quaint answers to the Northerner's questions that the latter was moved to quiz him humorously.

"Uncle," he said, "you know, don't you, that this war between us and the Rebs is largely on your account"

"Yas, sah, dat's whut I done heared 'em say."

"Well, you crave to have your freedom, don't you?"

"I 'spects I does."

"Then why aren't you in the army yourself?"

The negro scratched his head reflectively.

"Boss," he said, at length, "did you ever see to dawgs fightin' over a bone?"

"Yes, many a time."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There is, of course, much sneering prattle about the de luxe life in Manhattan among those of us who peer at it from hall room cloisters and wonder how there could be fun in that. In many ways it does seem a boorish procedure.

There is a rich bachelor, for instance, who is said to spend $200,000 a year on actual living expenses. He lives alone in a house that resembles a marble mausoleum—that is if you could call livin with 18 servants alone.

His private swimming pool is a half block long and heh as a dining room that will seat comfortably 110 guests. There is also a squash court, a motion picture projection room seating 50, a fully equipped gymnasium, bar and two mechanical pipe organs.

With all this luxury it is said he gave up entertaining a year ago. He found many guests took advantage of his hospitality to interest him in this scheme and that. Now when he entertains on a large scale he engages a private dining room in a hotel.

It is true, too, that few of those massive homes in and fringing Millionaire's Row are occupied for any length of time. Somehow the big rooms and grandeur become monotonous and will be deserted for the compact intimacy of an apartment house hotel.

Two of the largest homes on Riverside Drive have not been tenanted for nearly two years and there is one home in the East Fifties furnished with a magnificence that is a throw back to Louis XVI. The owner lived in it one month and said he nearly died of loanliness.

It is doubtless Pollyannish to declare that there is more real happiness in those peaceful little homes out where the pavement ends but one thing is certain—in New York at least—that most of those grand mansions are generally as listless as a tomb.

New York is to have a college for waiters. The greatest need for enlightenment is perhaps among bus boys. Most of them are asleep when you want ice water, but wide awake when it comes to snatching away plates of unfinished food.

In a restaurant last night I heard a querulous patron inquire of a bus boy, "What do you have to do around here to get a glass of water?" The boy gazed at him and replied, "No spik Englis'."

Dorothea Antel's Sunshine Shoppe has opened on West 72nd street. It is a monument to courage in affliction. Miss Antel, an actress, was injured in a stage fall in a manner which left her unable to move in her bed without excruciating agony. She has never lost hope and conducts her shop propped up in bed. She has through the encouragement of Nellie Revell, who fought her way back from invalidism, built up a steady trade among theatrical folk.

Somehow the stage seems to furnish rare epics in courage. No finer story of heroism has been told than that of the late Ben Welch who carried on for five years blind when he might have retired and accepted sufficient insurance to which he was entitled to live in comfort. And the bravery of Bernhardt facing the latest curtain call will live long after her acting perhaps is forgotten.

On Tenth Avenue is an eating place run by two vaudeville acrobats who crashed through a net one night and were permanently disabled. On the wall is a sign: "We will talk about anything but our troubles."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Cotton Problem—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—In the middle west and west record-breaking crops of the principal agricultural products spell prosperity for the farmers. In the south, a banner crop of cotton is a tragedy for the cotton growers, the ill effects of which are also felt by cotton manufacturers. This is one of the anomalies of economics and industry of which the country is now having an acute experience. What to do about it is engaging widespread attention throughout the country, but more particularly in the cotton-growing states and in the textile districts of New England. President Coolidge has appointed a commission, headed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., to study the problem and to co-operate with state officials and industrial organizations in working out a plan of relief.

Already much has been accomplished toward meeting the immediate emergency. Cotton prices are firmer, and growers of the banner crop who saw its value drop $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 within a few days after the government crop estimates were made public, are not so panicky as they were. They can draw a full breath now without wondering what may happen to them before they have time to exhale it.

Throughout the country a strong public sentiment has been aroused that finds expression in a movement to bring about a larger domestic consumption of the products of this great American crop. This movement is in a measure comparable with the "Buy-a-bale-of-cotton" campaign of 1914-1915 when disaster threatened the cotton growers through the demorialization of their best market by the European war.

A drive is on in many sections that is illustrated by the action of the students of a woman's college in Mississippi who agreed to give up wearing silk garments of all kinds and wear nothing but cotton fabrics. Women's organizations in other states have taken the lead in urging similar action. Cotton manufacturers are aroused to the necessity of creating a larger domestic demand for their wares, and are initiating concerted efforts that give promise of fruitful results

The Anti-Silk Theory.

Some years ago some one coined a saying that gained widespread circulation. It was to the effect that if one inch could be added to the length of the Chinaman's shirt or coat the market for cotton would be doubled.

Much the same idea is back of the theory that if American women will stop wearing silk and adopt cotton fabrics as their national garb the troubles of the American cotton grower and manufacturer will all be over. Sometimes facetiously, but often quite seriously, it has been suggested that when American women take to wearing cotton they can absolutely insure the prosperity of our cotton industry if they will but add four to six inches to the length of their skirts and return to the use of the good old cotton petticoat, the petticoat being a garment that has become practically obsolete since the ascendancy of the short and skimpy dress and the advent of the silken bloomers or other unmentionables.

However, there is one fundamental fallacy in both the theory about the Chinaman and that about the American woman. You can't make the Oriental add an inch or a fraction thereof to the length of his shirt or coat, and you can't make the American woman abandon silk, lengthen her skirt, or wear petticoats.

In a great emergency many American women might consider it their patriotic duty to wear cotton more extensively, if not exclusively, but they would do that only temporarily and no permanent benefit would accrue to the cotton industry, the problems of which demand a permanent solution. The American woman wears silk because she prefers it, finds it more comfortable, believes it to be more attractive, knows it to be more convenient and more acceptable to her purposes, and finds it to be in some respects more economical, and she is not likely to abandon it until cotton or some other fabric is offered her that has all the qualities and utilities she now sees in silk. Cotton fabrics are certain to come into greater use, but that will be because the manufacturers concentrate on making those fabrics constantly more attractive and on giving them qualities not possessed by silk, or superior to those of silk.

In support of the anti-silk theory it has been argued that because we spend several hundred millions of dollars annually with Japan and China for raw silk, all that money might be diverted to cotton and at present prices would be sufficient to buy almost 10 per cent of the cotton crop, or approximately 6,600,000 bales. That, too, is fallacious.

A Question of Quantity.

That amount of cotton, in addition to the amount that now is used in domestic manufactures for domestic consumption, would make so much fabric that it could not be consumed each year if in addition to its present uses it were made a substitute for wallpaper. It is a question of quantity, rather than of cost. Government experts say that if cotton were to be used as a substitute for all the silk and rayon that are now used in this country it would not create a demand for an additional 500,000 bales a year and that it would have no appreciable effect on the cotton market. And in making that statement they call attention to the fact that we use silk for many purposes besides garments for women, hence what women might accomplish through abandoning silk is further minimized.

It is not to be understood that anybody is discouraging the movement to bring about the use of cotton instead of silk by American women. On the contrary, it will be encouraged and stimulated in every possible way, both by government officials and by the cotton interests, and it will be helpful. It is desired, however, that no false public impression be created as to the degree to which it will relieve the present situation, or like future situations should they develop.

Certain facts are to be borne in mind in connection with the cotton problem. Of a normal crop under normal conditions, approximately 60 per cent is exported in a raw state, while about 40 per cent goes into domestic consumption, which includes personal household, and industrial uses, and our exports of cotton manufactures. What proportion of the domestic consumption goes into each of the uses cited is practically impossible of determination at present. Statistics are not available that permit of anything beyond rough estimates, and those who make the estimates do not agree.

One expert says that one-half the domestic consumption goes into clothing of various kinds, one-fourth for household uses, while one-fourth is devoted to industrial purposes. Another expert says he does not believe more than 30 per cent is consumed in personal and household uses. Industry, he says takes 70 per cent.

One thing is definitely known—the annual domestic per capita consumption of cotton is virtually what it was 20 years ago, 57 to 59 pounds. That means that in spite of the great increase in the use of silk for women's garments we are using as much cotton per individual per year as in the days when it took 12 to 15 yards to make a dress and the women wore voluminous and numerous petticoats and had never thought of bloomers or teddy-bears. Of course this is explained by the far more extensive use of cotton today for industrial purposes.

EDITOR FUND SUIT DROPPED

Bonding Company Asks State to Set Amount of Shortage.

Aside from the prosecution of the indictments, the state's chief interest now in the case of John C. Bond, deposed auditor, missing since last Wednesday a week ago, is the amount of money it will seek to recover from the surety company which gave bond for the ex-auditor during his first administration in the sum of $20,000.

There probably will be no suit to recover the alleged shortage, Attorney General Lee said today, as the surety company has written him that it does not desire a suit. The company also sent the attorney general a form to fill out, which would show the exact shortage. This form, however, has not yet been filled out and it will not be, until Mr. Lee and Governor Gore have determined on the amount of shortage. The shortage has been estimated at between $16,000 and $18,000.

The condition of the bond of the former auditor required of him "faithful and honest performance of his duties" and that "he shall honestly account for, and turn over to the state all monies collected by him for the state."

At the hearing of Bond, nothing was brought out to show that he had not turned over to the state and accounted for all the monies he collected. The charges related only to checks some of which were alleged to be forgeries and all of them alleged to have been issued unlawfully and improperly.

A majority of these checks were paid out of the fire marshal's fund which is collected by the fire marshal from the insurance companies at the rate of one quarter of one percent of all premiums paid on fire insurance. Over this insurance fund the auditor has absolute supervision of the spending, but all of it must go to conduct the fire marshal's department. If at the end of a fiscal year, any balance remains, it must be turned over to the state treasury.

Now the question is, how far could Bond go in paying out the fire marshal's fund, in the absence of specific mandate from the legislature as to how it could be spent.

Attorney General Lee says that this question will not interfere in the matter of collecting from the surety company, when it is shown that the money was improperly obtained and improperly spent from the fire marshal's department.

Others however, contend that the auditor had a right to use his own judgment in spending the fire marshal's fund and there was no one who could tell him how to spend it, except the legislature, and it is pointed out that the legislature did not specify further than to say that it should be used to operate the fire marshal's department.

FACTS — This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other advertisements.

This illustration shows how springs are used to support the compressor mechanism in a Frigidaire cabinet. Vibration is absorbed, noise is eliminated, trouble-free and dependable operation is assured.

FRIGIDAIRE employs a noiseless, flexible power transmission. The compressor is mounted on flexible springs, and the knowledge of General Motors engineers has been applied in reducing vibration. And automatic lubrication keeps it quiet.

When you buy an electric refrigerator make sure that you are getting flexible power transmission and freedom from vibration—the greatest possible number of cubic feet of food capacity at the lowest cost—the greater ice-freezing capacity—the low operating cost that is made possible by frost coil cooling—and the more precise engineering and manufacturing standards of General Motors. All of these features are offered only in genuine Frigidaire.

FACTS

This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other advertisements.

This illustration shows how springs are used to support the compressor mechanism in a Frigidaire cabinet. Vibration is absorbed, noise is eliminated, trouble-free and dependable operation is assured.

FRIGIDAIRE employs a noiseless, flexible power transmission. The compressor is mounted on flexible springs, and the knowledge of General Motors engineers has been applied in reducing vibration. And automatic lubrication keeps it quiet.

When you buy an electric refrigerator make sure that you are getting flexible power transmission and freedom from vibration—the greatest possible number of cubic feet of food capacity at the lowest cost—the greater ice-freezing capacity—the low operating cost that is made possible by frost coil cooling—and the more precise engineering and manufacturing standards of General Motors. All of these features are offered only in genuine Frigidaire.

Call at our display room, telephone or mail the coupon for complete information.

SOCIETY

D. A. R. Celebrate Armistice Day at Mary Hanley Home

The Bethia Southwick chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, was entertained at an Armistice Day party last evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Hanley, High street, East End.

During a business session, it was decided to establish a chair in the new Continental Memorial hall at Washington, D. C. The club members are packing a box of material to send to Ellis Island, for the foreign women to make Christmas gifts. This was suggested by Mrs. Mary Ward, chairman of the committee for Ellis Island.

A program followed the business session. The first part was devoted to Armistice Day, and the second part to Thanksgiving Day. "Armistice Day" was discussed by Mrs. J. W. Chetwynd. The poem, "Flander's Field," by John McCrea, and a discussion of the author's life was given by Mrs. Mary Hanley. Victrola selections for Armistice Day were also diversions.

Miss Carrie Southwick read the address on Thanksgiving by the president general, Mrs. Alfred Brosseau, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Robert Harlingame read "Our Reason for Being Thankful," by Edgar Guest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sadie Leuty.

Mrs. William Wilson was elected chaplain.

The next session will be in the form of a Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Chetwynd, West Sixth street, the date to be announced later.

Surprise Party at Gemeny Home.

The girls in the decorating shop of the Homer Laughlin China company plant No 6, Newell, surprised Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gemeny at their home in Avondale street, last evening, in honor of their marriage Saturday. The social hours were spent with music and games Trophies were awarded Mrs. Hamilton English and Miss Bernice Finley.

The bride and bridegroom were presented with floor and table lamps.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ida Campbell, assisted by Mrs. Flay Clapsaddle, served refreshments.

BOOK FIVE—X.

The return to normalcy took place suddenly and painlessly.

Madelaine Hamill, opening the door to her son at five o'clock of a blistering afternoon in early July, saw instantly that it had. A dozen little things told her. The look in his eyes. The ring of his voice. The what-care-I tilt of his hat. The long skinny paper-wrapped package under his arm, which could be nothing whatever except a new golf club. . . . When he kissed her his lips made a smack! sound on her cheek, indicative of enthusiasm.

But because she was a very wise woman, who understood Jock very well, she did not say, "Tell me about it!" Nor did she dance a jig, nor sing hallalujahs, nor give way to any of the impulses that surged in her maternal breast. Instead she went back to the chair in which she had been sitting and flopped down with a tiny moan.

"Isn't it hot!"

"Hell was never hotter," Jock agreed cheerfully.

He removed his hat and let it sail in a neat arc to the divan across the room. He peeled off his coat. He planted his feet astraddle, and with the new golf club, wrapping and all, took several terrific practice swings in air, barely missing the chandelier.

Mrs. Hamill waited.

Jock leaned the brassie tenderly in a corner and approached the victrola. He selected a record with maddening deliberation. While it tinkled in glad tune he stood over it, and twice he moved the needle back to repeat a few bars which he seemed to find particularly pleasing.

Mrs. Hamill waited, and wished she could spank him.

Finally he stretched himself in a chair near hers, poked his thumbs in the pockets his vest, dropped his head back, and said, "I saw Yvonne today."

"Yes?"

"Yes. And it didn't mean anything!" With his elbows he impelled his body forward and looked straight at his mother, and there was a sort of wonder in his eyes. "Can you beat that? After all these months of—of moping around like I have, it simply didn't—mean—anything! I didn't feel anything."

"Did you—talk to her?"

Jock shook his head. "She didn't see me. She was in a machine" . . .

Mrs. Hamill, from the sentences that followed, got this picture:

Fifth avenue and Thirty-fifth street at high noon. A procession of motor cars, and, on the corner, a damp impatient host of people, waiting for them to slide by.

". . . And a fellow standing next to me said to his girl, 'There's the new Demorest Straight Eight.' Demorest is the one, you know. I looked" . . .

A magnificent two-passenger racing car, low slung, painted gray, without a top. In the deep well of it, lounging recumbent behind the massive steering wheel—Yvonne. Yvonne in a gray gown and a tight gray turban with long uncurled feathers that sprayed down on one shoulder. Yvonne with hair that was a loop of flame on her cheek, with diamonds that glittered in the sunlight on her hands, with a Russian wolfhound in a jeweled collar sitting stiffly on his haunches beside here.

". . . And I kept thinking, 'This ought to hurt like hell. This ought to just about kill me.' But it didn't. It just left me absolutely—at peace. Glad for her, because she's got everything money buys to make her happy. And glad for myself."

The room was quite quiet for several minutes. Then Jock lounged to his feet and stood smiling down upon his mother. "And it woke me up," he said, "to a lot of things."

Mrs. Hamill smiled back, but did not speak.

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out conjestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

BOOK FIVE—X.

The return to normalcy took place suddenly and painlessly.

Madelaine Hamill, opening the door to her son at five o'clock of a blistering afternoon in early July, saw instantly that it had. A dozen little things told her. The look in his eyes. The ring of his voice. The what-care-I tilt of his hat. The long skinny paper-wrapped package under his arm, which could be nothing whatever except a new golf club. . . . When he kissed her his lips made a smack! sound on her cheek, indicative of enthusiasm.

But because she was a very wise woman, who understood Jock very well, she did not say, "Tell me about it!" Nor did she dance a jig, nor sing hallaluiahs, nor give way to any of the impulses that surged in her maternal breast. Instead she went back to the chair in which she had been sitting and flopped down with a tiny moan.

"Isn't it hot!"

"Hell was never hotter," Jock agreed cheerfully.

He removed his hat and let it sail in a neat arc to the divan across the room. He peeled off his coat. He planted his feet astraddle, and with the new golf club, wrapping and all, took several terrific practice swings in air, barely missing the chandelier.

Mrs. Hamill waited.

Jock leaned the brassie tenderly in a corner and approached the victrola. He selected a record with maddening deliberation. While it tinkled in glad tune he stood over it, and twice he moved the needle back to repeat a few bars which he seemed to find particularly pleasing.

Mrs. Hamill waited, and wished she could spank him.

Finally he stretched himself in a chair near hers, poked his thumbs in the pockets his vest, dropped his head back, and said, "I saw Yvonne today."

"Yes?"

"Yes. And it didn't mean anything!" With his elbows he impelled his body forward and looked straight at his mother, and there was a sort of wonder in his eyes. "Can you beat that? After all these months of—of moping around like I have, it simply didn't—mean—anything! I didn't feel anything."

"Did you—talk to her?"

Jock shook his head. "She didn't see me. She was in a machine" . . .

Mrs. Hamill, from the sentences that followed, got this picture:

Fifth avenue and Thirty-fifth street at high noon. A procession of motor cars, and, on the corner, a damp impatient host of people, waiting for them to slide by.

". . . And a fellow standing next to me said to his girl, 'There's the new Demorest Straight Eight.' Demorest is the one, you know. I looked" . . .

A magnificent two-passenger racing car, low slung, painted gray, without a top. In the deep well of it, lounging recumbent behind the massive steering wheel—Yvonne. Yvonne in a gray gown and a tight gray turban with long uncurled feathers that sprayed down on one shoulder. Yvonne with hair that was a loop of flame on her cheek, with diamonds that glittered in the sunlight on her hands, with a Russian wolfhound in a jeweled collar sitting stiffly on his haunches beside here.

". . . And I kept thinking, 'This ought to hurt like hell. This ought to just about kill me.' But it didn't. It just left me absolutely—at peace. Glad for her, because she's got everything money buys to make her happy. And glad for myself."

The room was quite quiet for several minutes. Then Jock lounged to his feet and stood smiling down upon his mother. "And it woke me up," he said, "to a lot of things."

Mrs. Hamill smiled back, but did not speak.

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out conjestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

127 WITNESSES ARE CALLED IN FALL-DOHENY COURT TRIALS

Government Marshals Forces for Oil Reserve Charges.

DATE IS NOV. 22

Defendants Will be Tried Separately on Conspiracy Count.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government will call 127 witnesses in its efforts to convict Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, of conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves, it was learned here today.

Dozens of subpoenas will be issued during the next week for witnesses in many parts of the country. Two battalions of lawyers, the prosecution and the defense, are busily engaged in the preliminaries of the trials, which begin on Nov. 22 in the district supreme court.

The defendants will be tried separately, as was done in the recent case of the trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Col. Thomas W. Miller in New York, who also were accused of conspiracy to defraud the government. While the trials proceed concurrently, separate verdicts will be rendered, and the attorneys for one defendant will not necessarily be bound by the actions of the attorneys for the other.

It is estimated the trials will consume six weeks at least.

Some of the subpoenas have already been issued. Among those to be called are understood to be the following:

Ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty; Senators Reed Smoot of Utah; I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin; John W. Harreld of Oklahoma; Thomas J. Walsh of Montana; J. C. Anderson, of Los Angeles, president of the Pan-American Petroleum company, a Doheny concern; Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior under Fall; former representative John J. KIWANIS MARKS ARMISTICE DAY

Dr. Edward Andrews and I. A. Hoffman Speak.

Armistice Day and National Educational week were observed at the noon luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

Rev. Edward Andrews, D. D., Cleveland, vice-president of the American Guild of Health, who is conducting a mission in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, was the Armistice Day speaker, while Prof. I. A. Hoffman, principal of the Central school and chairman of the club's educational committee, discussed the Educational Week movement.

Rev. R. K. Caulk, rector of St. Stephen's church, was a guest. Clarence Cline presided. About 50 members of the club attended.

"In 1917 a challenge was issued to mankind to make the world safe for democracy," said Dr. Andrews. "We went into war to end future wars. We sent our boys over there. Some came back and some did not. Many of those who came back returned broken in health and spirit.

"On this the eighth anniversary of the Armistice let us remember those who died in France. Let us take up the torch where they left off and keep the faith of those who rest in Flanders field where the poppies grow. Let us establish a consciousness in the minds of men to outlaw war and remember those who did not return as well as those who came back."

Prof. Hoffman, in discussing National Educational week asserted, that "one of the dark spots in American history was the failure of the United States to enter the league of nations." He paid a high tribute to the late war president, Woodrow Wilson, saying that "Wilson's name will go down in history as one of the nation's greatest men."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—In observance of Armistice Day, the business of the New York stock exchange, the grain and cotton markets, all of the important commodity markets, the banks and business houses was suspended for two minutes at 11 o'clock today.

Trading on the stock exchange was largely a matter of professional swapping of the speculative leaders in the first hour. Moderate price gains were recorded in United States Steel, the motor shares and the public utilities, but speculative traders were disposed to hold back in view of the important dividend meeting of General Motors Corporation directors after the close of the market.

Shorts in the industrial shares which are the brunt of Wednesday's heavy selling were active buyers of the same stocks on short covering. Montana Power, Federal Light and Traction, Consolidated Gas and other well known utility stocks made the only appreciable move to higher price levels. Steel common gained a point at 147½; and industrial alcohol was in demand at the best prices of the movement.

Court of Appeals Will Rule Friday In Anderson Case

Ruling on the application for a third trial for George A. Anderson, East Liverpool automobile dealer, twice convicted of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank McLain, taxicab operator, may be handed down Friday by the court of appeals. The case, which was carried to the higher court on error, was argued at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Anderson was sentenced to serve four years in penitentiary following his second trial. He was returned to Lisbon from the penitentiary where he had already served four months after his first conviction.

Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, Lisbon, represented Anderson, while Prosecuting Attorney Robert Brookes appeared for the state.

300 DELEGATES AT MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEET

Convention Banquet Served in Methodist Episcopal Church.

TROPHY AWARDED

Three-day Session Will Adjourn Friday Noon.

About 300 delegates are registered for the three-day convention of the Women's Home Missionary society of the North-East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which opened in the First Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday afternoon.

Convention banquet was served in the social rooms of the church last evening by members of the class taught by Mrs. A. J. Savage. The hall was decorated in the society's colors, purple and gold.

Mrs. D. W. Merell, Steubenville, chairman of the young people's work of the conference, delivered the opening speech and introduced the conference officers. Mrs. J. Y. Montague, Steubenville, toastmistress, gave the story of "Pandora's Box and the Stinging Insects" representing earthly troubles.

The symbol of the society, "The Young People's Hope Chest," was portrayed by a group of five girls, Miss Georgia McVay, of this city, "pep;" Miss Frances Bowers, of Steubenville, "faith;" Miss Ethel Shears, Salem, "love;" Miss Ruth Shepherd, Wintersville, "prayer," and Miss Hester Van Dyne, Steubenville, "tithe."

The Steubenville district was awarded the silver cup for the best report during the year, having a gain of more than $1,000 in cash and 127 in membership. This report was given by Mrs. Merrell.

Mrs. Collins J. Brock, a national officer, discussed the mission schools conducted by the church. The devotional services was in charge of Mrs. Mabel Miller, Coshocton, while Mrs. A. R. Brown gave a reading on the subject, "Washed Up By The Sea." The organ prelude was rendered by Mrs. T. C. Flick.

The morning session today opened with communion, followed by a memorial service in charge of Mrs. W. E. Hammaker, Cleveland. The keynote message was given by Mrs. M. S. Crass, Cleveland. Address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. G. L. Brokaw, with a response by Mrs. W. S. Valmore. Conference reports were then given. Luncheon was served in the church parlors at noon.

A children's hour will feature the afternoon session. Mrs. J. W. Dowds of New York, will be the speaker. A mixed quartet will render music at tonight's session. An address will be delivered by Miss Margaret Palmer, a sister of Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, wife of Rev. Isaac L. Miller, now of Columbus, who was pastor of the First church here for several years. Miss Palmer is connected with the national missionary organization of the church.

Should Phipps be named to the irrigation chairmanship, a new chairman will be named to succeed him as head of the committee on education and labor. His successor would be either Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, or Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island. Again if Couzens were given this post, a new chairman of the civil service committee would have to be selected for which Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, has the preference over other members under the seniority rule.

The deaths of Cummins and Fernald and the defeats of Senators William M. Butler in Massachusetts and George H. Williams in Missouri will cause another scramble for their posts on senate committees. The principal plum will be a membership on the powerful foreign relations committee, which Butler held, as well as two posts on the interstate commerce committee, which Cummins and Fernald held.

The veterans continued their program at the post rooms at 12 o'clock when East Liverpool's service flag was unfurled. A football game this afternoon and a community entertainment tonight is also scheduled.

The American Legion will celebrate the day with a banquet and a "jamboree" tonight. The Sons of St. George will give a banquet and entertainment in the St. Stephen's parish house. The Knights of Columbus and the Temple Sisterhood have also arranged for celebrations tonight.

Members of the Elks lodge will entertain children of the McCollough-Jefferson county home. The children will be guests at the Ceramic theatre this afternoon. Don Lanning and his musical comedy company who will offer "Top Hole." The kiddies will also enjoy an automobile ride, followed by a dinner at the lodge temple.

army, the air force nad the ex-soldiers' associations, were drawn up at attention, while to the right of the memorial and fronting the facade of the home department were the combined choirs of the Chapel Royal and Westminster abbey, attired in their white vestments and lead by the bishop of Willesden, the Right Reverend William W. Perrin, and other church dignitaries.

All the leading members of the cabinet, the dominion premiers now in London for the imperial conference, prominent statesmen and army and navy officials were grouped to the north of the centopah.

At 10:50 a. m., King George, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and Prince Henry, came from the home office and ranged themselves before the cenotaph, while Queen Mary and other women of the royal household took places on the home office balconies.

King Places Wreath on Memorial.

The king, baring his head, advanced and laid a huge wreath of Flanders poppies at the base of the memorial, which was already almost buried beneath a sea of floral tributes. The Prince of Wales and the other royal princes then laid their wreaths and were followed by the representatives of various civic organizations and branches of the government.

War-Wounded in Parade.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Thousands lined the flag-decked Champs Elysees today while hundreds of war-wounded soldiers, led by a guard of honor with torn and tattered battle flags thrown to the breeze, marched to the Arc de Triumph, for Armistice Day services.

President Doumergue, Premier Poincare, Marshall Foch and Joffre, members of the cabinet and other officials wainted in front of the arch while the wounded soldiers and flags of the regiments passed in review.

At 11 o'clock, the trumpets sounded and the crowds stood at attention for a minute of silence, while flags dipped in salute before the tomb of the unknown warrior.

America's Tribute.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—At 11 o'clock this morning the American nation became motionless, for two minutes, as if under a spell, in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War. It was the most impressive moment of Armistice Day.

A sudden hush covered the country. Street cars, subways, elevators, everything stopped. Office workers remained motionless. The nation held its breath. In newspaper and telegraph offices the clattering instruments ceased as the power was shut off.

For two minutes the silence lasted, and then with a rush everything went on again as before.

A bugler sounded the "roll call" at City Hall and in the financial district here.

Broadcasting stations have agreed to sound "roll call," composed by Walter Krebs, to their audiences tonight.

Coolidge Says

state of the world that responsibility is more grave than it ever was at any other time. We have to have the facts. The margin of safety in human affairs is never very broad, as we have seen from the experience of the last dozen years. If the American spirit fails, what hope has the world?"

With this text in mind, Mr. Coolidge proceeded to tear down the Shylock character built up for the United States by the debtor nations of Europe.

Did Not Profit from War.

"It is often said that we profited from the World War," he declared. "We did not profit from it, but lost from it in common with all other countries engaged in it. Some individuals made gains, but the nation suffered great losses. Merely in matter of our national debt (now standing at $19,000,000,000) it will require heavy sacrifices extended over a period of about 30 years to recoup those losses. What we suffered indirectly in the diminution of our commerce and through the deflation which occurred when we had to terminate the expenditure of our capital and begin to live on our income is a vast sum which can never be estimated. The war left us with debts and mortgages, without counting our obligations to our veterans, which will take a generation to discharge. High taxes, insolvent banks, ruined industry, distressed agriculture, all followed in its train. While the period of liquidation appears to have been passed, long years of laborious toil on the part of our people will be necessary to repair our loss.

"In time this damage can be repaired, but there are irreparable losses which will go on forever. We see them in the vacant home, in the orphaned children, in the widowed women, in the bereaved parents. To the thousands of the youth who are gone forever must be added other thousands of maimed and disabled.

Urges Conscription of Wealth.

"They tell us we are not liked in Europe. Such reports are undoubtedly exaggerated and can be given altogether too much importance. We are a creditor nation. We are more prosperous than some others. This means that our interests have come within the European circle where distrust and suspicion, if nothing more, have been altogether too common. To turn such attention to us indicates at least that we are not ignored."

The executive did take cognizance, however, of the manner in which a few great American fortunes were made during the World war and demanded that such never happen again.

"It is more and more becoming the conviction of students of adequate defense that in time of national peril the government should be clothed with authority to call into its service all of its man-power and all of its prosperity under such terms and conditions that it may avoid making a sacrifice of one and a profiteer of another. To expose some men to the perils of the battle field while others are left to reap large gains from the distress of their country is not in harmony with our idea of equality. Any future policy of conscription should be all inclusive, applicable in its terms to the entire personnel and the entire wealth of the United States."

Military-Naval Force 550,000.

Although President Coolidge reminded his audience that this government is thoroughly committed to a policy of permanent international peace, he reminded them equally that America committed to a policy of adequate national defense. In the last half dozen years, he said, about four billions of dollars has been spent on this defense.

"Taken as a whole there is no better navy than our own in the world,' he said, "if our army is not as large as that of some other countries, it is not outmatched by any other like number of troops. Our entire military and naval forces represent a strength of about 550,000 men, altogether the largest which we have ever maintained in time of peace. We have recently laid out a five-year program for improving out aviation service. It is a mistake to suppose that our country is lagging behind in this modern art."

Pershing Hits "Slush Fund."

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—General John J. Pershing, in an Armistice Day address here today, departed from the usual tenor of patriotic day addresses and in no uncertain terms condemned political slush funds.

"In the light of recent events in certain states, some of our citizens should modify the methods of selecting candidates for office," he said.

"If the present system encourages or permits the contribution of inordinate sums by wealthy candidates or their supporters it should receive the most careful scrutiny by honest citizens.

"The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes may be made without ulterior motive does not appear to be warranted.

"To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nomination of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthy from such contests.

"If the time ever comes when public offices can be virtually bought and sold either directly or indirectly, then the downfall of the Republic will not be far off."

"May We Always Remain United," is Message From Foch

PARIS, Nov. 11.—"May we always remain united and understand each other."

This is the Armistice Day message of Marshal Foch to the millions who fought under him, as published in Le Matin today.

Driver is Slightly Hurt as Truck Runs Away on Hillside

Carmel Patterson, 32, driver for the Purity Milk company, Chester avenue, received minor injuries when his truck ran away on St. Clair avenue at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after he failed in an attempt to shift the car into low gear near Grant street.

Without brakes the car gained momentum as it traveled down the hill. At the sharp turn near Walnut street, the machine overturned. One front wheel was demolished as the truck slid into the curb.

Patterson, who remained in the cab of the machine, suffered cuts to his right leg and head.

Figures compiled by the city engineer show that 559 acres of territory are in the proposed zone, adding about 450 houses and 2,000 population.

Should the move for annexation fail, it has been intimated that the fire department will be instructed to answer no calls beyond the city limits as the department is maintained by city taxpayers.

At tomorrow's hearing the annexationists will call attention to the fact that residents outside the city are using the garbage disposal plant and Carnegie library, both maintained by the city. Should annexation be approved the city will construct water lines to the new territory, install street lights and provide fire and police protection.

127 WITNESSES ARE CALLED IN FALL-DOHENY COURT TRIALS

Government Marshals Forces for Oil Reserve Charges.

DATE IS NOV. 22

Defendants Will be Tried Separately on Conspiracy Count.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government will call 127 witnesses in its efforts to convict Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, of conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves, it was learned here today.

Dozens of subpoenas will be issued during the next week for witnesses in many parts of the country. Two battalions of lawyers, the prosecution and the defense, are busily engaged in the preliminaries of the trials, which begin on Nov. 22 in the district supreme court.

The defendants will be tried separately, as was done in the recent case of the trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Col. Thomas W. Miller in New York, who also were accused of conspiracy to defraud the government. While the trials proceed concurrently, separate verdicts will be rendered, and the attorneys for one defendant will not necessarily be bound by the actions of the attorneys for the other.

It is estimated the trials will consume six weeks at least.

Some of the subpoenas have already been issued. Among those to be called are understood to be the following:

Ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty; Senators Reed Smoot of Utah; I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin; John W. Harreld of Oklahoma; Thomas J. Walsh of Montana; J. C. Anderson, of Los Angeles, president of the Pan-American Petroleum company, a Doheny concern; Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior under Fall; former representative John J. Fitzgerald of New York; former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma; Rear Admiral L. E. Gregory; Rear Admiral R. S. Griffin; Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post; Rear Admiral C. W. Parks; Edwin Denby of Detroit, former secretary of the navy; Col. Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy; former Representative Swagar Sherley of Kentucky; Rear Admiral H. H. Rosseau; Paul M. Shoup of San Francisco, president of the Pacific Oil company; Commander H. A. Stuart, U. S. N.; all the officers of the Pan-American Petroleum company; officers of several banks, including two at El Paso, Texas, where Fall had accounts.

Court of Appeals Will Rule Friday In Anderson Case

Ruling on the application for a third trial for George A. Anderson, East Liverpool automobile dealer, twice convicted of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank McLain, taxicab operator, may be handed down Friday by the court of appeals. The case, which was carried to the higher court on error, was argued at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Anderson was sentenced to serve four years in penitentiary following his second trial. He was returned to Lisbon from the penitentiary where he had already served four months after his first conviction.

Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, Lisbon, represented Anderson, while Prosecuting Attorney Robert Brookes appeared for the state.

300 DELEGATES AT MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEET

Convention Banquet Served in Methodist Episcopal Church.

TROPHY AWARDED

Three-day Session Will Adjourn Friday Noon.

About 300 delegates are registered for the three-day convention of the Women's Home Missionary society of the North-East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which opened in the First Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday afternoon.

Convention banquet was served in the social rooms of the church last evening by members of the class taught by Mrs. A. J. Savage. The hall was decorated in the society's colors, purple and gold.

Mrs. D. W. Merell, Steubenville, chairman of the young people's work of the conference, delivered the opening speech and introduced the conference officers. Mrs. J. Y. Montague, Steubenville, toastmistress, gave the story of "Pandora's Box and the Stinging Insects" representing earthly troubles.

The symbol of the society, "The Young People's Hope Chest," was portrayed by a group of five girls. Miss Georgia McVay, of this city, "pep;" Miss Frances Bowers, of Steubenville, "faith;" Miss Ethel Shears, Salem, "love;" Miss Ruth Shepherd, Wintersville, "prayer," and Miss Hester Van Dyne, Steubenville, "tithe."

The Steubenville district was awarded the silver cup for the best report during the year, having a gain of more than $1,000 in cash and 127 in membership. This report was given by Mrs. Merrell.

Mrs. Collins J. Brock, a national officer, discussed the mission schools conducted by the church. The devotional services was in charge of Mrs. Mabel Miller, Coshocton, while Mrs. A. R. Brown gave a reading on the subject, "Washed Up By The Sea." The organ prelude was rendered by Mrs. T. C. Flick.

The morning session today opened with communion, followed by a memorial service in charge of Mrs. W. E. Hammaker, Cleveland. The keynote message was given by Mrs. M. S. Crass, Cleveland. Address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. G. L. Brokaw, with a response by Mrs. W. S. Valmore. Conference reports were then given. Luncheon was served in the church parlors at noon.

A children's hour will feature the afternoon session. Mrs. J. W. Dowds of New York, will be the speaker. A mixed quartet will render music at tonight's session. An address will be delivered by Miss Margaret Palmer, a sister of Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, wife of Rev. Isaac L. Miller, now of Columbus, who was pastor of the First church here for several years. Miss Palmer is connected with the national missionary organization of the church.

Shonts Phipps be named to the irrigation chairmanship, a new chairman will be named to succeed him as head of the committee on education and labor. His successor would be either Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, or Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island. Again if Couzens were given this post, a new chairman of the civil service committee would have to be selected for which Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, has the preference over other members under the seniority rule.

The deaths of Cummins and Fernald and the defeats of Senators William M. Butler in Massachusetts and George H. Williams in Missouri will cause another scramble for their posts on senate committees. The principal plum will be a membership on the powerful foreign relations committee, which Butler held, as well as two posts on the interstate commerce committee, which Cummins and Fernald held.

City Bows Head

The veterans continued their program at the post rooms at 12 o'clock when East Liverpool's service flag was unfurled. A football game this afternoon and a community entertainment tonight is also scheduled.

The American Legion will celebrate the day with a banquet and a "jamboree" tonight. The Sons of St. George will give a banquet and entertainment in the St. Stephen's parish house. The Knights of Columbus and the Temple Sisterhood have also arranged for celebrations tonight.

Members of the Elks lodge will entertain children of the McCollough-Jefferson county home. The children will be guests at the Ceramic theatre this afternoon. Don Lanning and his musical comedy company who will offer "Top Hole." The kiddies will also enjoy an automobile ride, followed by a dinner at the lodge temple.

army, the air force nad the ex-soldiers' associations, were drawn up at attention, while to the right of the memorial and fronting the facade of the home department were the combined choirs of the Chapel Royal and Westminster abbey, attired in their white vestments and lead by the bishop of Willesden, the Right Reverend William W. Perrin, and other church dignitaries.

All the leading members of the cabinet, the dominion premiers now in London for the imperial conference, prominent statesmen and army and navy officials were grouped to the north of the centopah.

At 10:50 a. m., King George, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and Prince Henry, came from the home office and ranged themselves before the cenotaph, while Queen Mary and other women of the royal household took places on the home office balconies.

King Places Wreath on Memorial.

The king, baring his head, advanced and laid a huge wreath of Flanders poppies at the base of the memorial, which was already almost buried beneath a sea of floral tributes. The Prince of Wales and the other royal princes then laid their wreaths and were followed by the representatives of various civic organizations and branches of the government.

War-Wounded in Parade.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Thousands lined the flag-decked Champs Elysees today while hundreds of war-wounded soldiers, led by a guard of honor with torn and tattered battle flags thrown to the breeze, marched to the Arc de Triumph, for Armistice Day services.

President Doumergue, Premier Poincare, Marshall Foch and Joffre, members of the cabinet and other officials wainted in front of the arch while the wounded soldiers and flags of the regiments passed in review.

At 11 o'clock, the trumpets sounded and the crowds stood at attention for a minute of silence, while flags dipped in salute before the tomb of the unknown warrior.

America's Tribute.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—At 11 o'clock this morning the American nation became motionless, for two minutes, as if under a spell, in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War. It was the most impressive moment of Armistice Day.

A sudden hush covered the country. Street cars, subways, elevators, everything stopped. Office workers remained motionless. The nation held its breath. In newspaper and telegraph offices the clattering instruments ceased as the power was shut off.

For two minutes the silence lasted, and then with a rush everything went on again as before.

A bugler sounded the "roll call" at City Hall and in the financial district here.

Broadcasting stations have agreed to sound "roll call," composed by Walter Krebs, to their audiences tonight.

state of the world that responsibility is more grave than it ever was at any other time. We have to have the facts. The margin of safety in human affairs is never very broad, as we have seen from the experience of the last dozen years. If the American spirit fails, what hope has the world?"

With this text in mind, Mr. Coolidge proceeded to tear down the Shylock character built up for the United States by the debtor nations of Europe.

Did Not Profit from War.

"It is often said that we profited from the World War," he declared. "We did not profit from it, but lost from it in common with all other countries engaged in it. Some individuals made gains, but the nation suffered great losses. Merely in matter of our national debt (now standing at $19,000,000,000) it will require heavy sacrifices extended over a period of about 30 years to recoup those losses. What we suffered indirectly in the diminution of our commerce and through the deflation which occurred when we had to terminate the expenditure of our capital and begin to live on our income is a vast sum which can never be estimated. The war left us with debts and mortgages, without counting our obligations to our veterans, which will take a generation to discharge. High taxes, insolvent banks, ruined industry, distressed agriculture, all followed in its train. While the period of liquidation appears to have been passed, long years of laborious toil on the part of our people will be necessary to repair our loss.

"In time this damage can be repaired, but there are irreparable losses which will go on forever. We see them in the vacant home, in the orphaned children, in the widowed women, in the bereaved parents. To the thousands of the youth who are gone forever must be added other thousands of maimed and disabled.

Urges Conscription of Wealth.

"They tell us we are not liked in Europe. Such reports are undoubtedly exaggerated and can be given altogether too much importance. We are a creditor nation. We are more prosperous than some others. This means that our interests have come within the European circle where distrust and suspicion, if nothing more, have been altogether too common. To turn such attention to us indicates at least that we are not ignored."

The executive did take cognizance, however, of the manner in which a few great American fortunes were made during the World war and demanded that such never happen again.

"It is more and more becoming the conviction of students of adequate defense that in time of national peril the government should be clothed with authority to call into its service all of its man-power and all of its prosperity under such terms and conditions that it may avoid making a sacrifice of one and a profiteer of another. To expose some men to the perils of the battle field while others are left to reap large gains from the distress of their country is not in harmony with our idea of equality. Any future policy of conscription should be all inclusive, applicable in its terms to the entire personnel and the entire wealth of the United States."

Military-Naval Force 550,000.

Although President Coolidge reminded his audience that this government is thoroughly committed to a policy of permanent international peace, he reminded them equally that America committed to a policy of adequate national defense. In the last half dozen years, he said, about four billions of dollars has been spent on this defense.

"Taken as a whole there is no better navy than our own in the world,' he said, "if our army is not as large as that of some other countries, it is not outmatched by any other like number of troops. Our entire military and naval forces represent a strength of about 550,000 men, altogether the largest which we have ever maintained in time of peace. We have recently laid out a five-year program for improving out aviation service. It is a mistake to suppose that our country is lagging behind in this modern art."

Pershing Hits "Slush Fund."

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—General John J. Pershing, in an Armistice Day address here today, departed from the usual tenor of patriotic day addresses and in no uncertain terms condemned political slush funds.

"In the light of recent events in certain states, some of our citizens should modify the methods of selecting candidates for office," he said.

"If the present system encourages or permits the contribution of inordinate sums by wealthy candidates or their supporters it should receive the most careful scrutiny by honest citizens.

"The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes may be made without ulterior motive does not appear to be warranted.

"To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nomination of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthy from such contests.

"If the time ever comes when public offices can be virtually bought and sold either directly or indirectly, then the downfall of the Republic will not be far off."

"May We Always Remain United," is Message From Foch

PARIS, Nov. 11.—"May we always remain united and understand each other."

This is the Armistice Day message of Marshal Foch to the millions who fought under him, as published in Le Matin today.

Driver is Slightly Hurt as Truck Runs Away on Hillside

Carmel Patterson, 32, driver for the Purity Milk company, Chester avenue, received minor injuries when a truck ran away on St. Clair avenue at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after he failed in an attempt to shift the car into low gear near Grant street.

Without brakes the car gained momentum as it traveled down the hill. At the sharp turn near Walnut street, the machine overturned. One front wheel was demolished as the truck slid into the curb.

Patterson, who remained in the cab of the machine, suffered cuts to his right leg and head.

Both Sides Await

Figures compiled by the city engineer show that 559 acres of territory are in the proposed zone, adding about 450 houses and 2,000 population.

Should the move for annexation fail, it has been intimated that the fire department will be instructed to answer no calls beyond the city limits as the department is maintained by city taxpayers.

At tomorrow's hearing the annexationists will call attention to the fact that residents outside the city are using the garbage disposal plant and Carnegie library, both maintained by the city. Should annexation be approved the city will construct water lines to the new territory, install street lights and provide fire and police protection.

Noah Leightner of Waynesburg and Carrie Holloway of East Palestine, secured a marriage license. The ceremony is to be performed by the Rev. Plummer.

EDMOND DU BOIS GRANTED DIVORCE

On his cross petition, Edmond S. DuBois, of East Liverpool, has been granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Grace DuBois, on grounds of wilful absence and gross neglect of duty. Alimony has been settled by agreement.

The original petition of the plaintiff was filed Sept. 24, by Cochran & Crawford of East Liverpool and George T. Farrell of Lisbon. The cross petition and answer were filed by Attorney Charles Boyd of East Liverpool.

WOMEN GRANTED DIVORCE DECREES

Rachel Smith was represented by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool when her divorce action against her husband Jacob T. Smith was called for trial before Judge Spence. She was granted a decree on the grounds of failure to support, and gross neglect of duty.

Following a brief hearing in common pleas court, a decree of divorce was granted Alice Toothman of East Liverpool against her husband William Toothman on the grounds of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Toothman was restored to her maiden name, that of Alice M. Stuart.

SUITS FILED TO RECOVER MONEY

Frank D. Taylor of Rogers, through his counsel George T. Farrell of Lisbon has filed an action in common pleas court against J. N. Riffle and Mrs. J. N. Riffle on a note for $500. The note is declared to have been signed by the defendants and the loan made July 18, 1914. The defendants reside on Main street, Columbiana.

A petition has been filed in court by O. H. Shaw against H. O. Reeder and Etta Reeder of Kensington, claiming there being due the plaintiff $169.67 on a note for $700 given by the defendants to the plaintiff July 28th, 1925.

Given Custody of Child.

Another entry has been made in the divorce case filed in common pleas court, Nov. 4, 1921, in which Lenora Monroe was granted a decree against her husband, James A. Monroe, of East Liverpool. The divorce was granted on the grounds of extreme cruelty, and the custody of a child was awarded to the plaintiff.

Through his counsel, P. V. Mackall, Monroe went before Judge W. H. Spence Wednesday afternoon and regained the custody of his child.

The divorce was granted Mrs. Monroe January 27, 1922, by the late Judge James G. Moore.

Judgment Asked.

Declaring that many loans were made him upon request from time to time, and that none of the money has been repaid. Lucy Thompson, through her counsel, Lones, Hill & Davidson, of East Liverpool, has filed a petition in common pleas court against Fred E. STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60c at Mathews Med. Store and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60c at Mathews Med. Store and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

FOUR INJURED IN TWO WELLSVILLE AUTO ACCIDENTS

WIFE, HUSBAND AND DAUGHTER IN ONE CRASH

Mrs. James H. Baum In Accident at Yellow Creek.

SEVERELY HURT

Thomas Reed, East Liverpool, Bruised in Collision.

One woman was severely injured and three other persons were cut and bruised in automobile accidents here Tuesday night and this morning.

Mrs. James H. Baum, of the Lisbon road, is suffering from the effects of a dislocated wrist which she received when the auto in which she was riding went over an embankment north of the county bridge over Little Yellow Creek this morning at 8 o'clock.

Her husband, a local florist, and daughter, Thelma, who also were occupants of the machine, were less seriously hurt. The former was cut about the face and the latter escaped with a few bruises.

Bringing a quantity of flowers from their greenhouse a short distance north of Hillcrest, the Baums were enroute to the city, with Miss Baum driving.

Something, apparently, happened to the steering geer as Miss Baum made the turn to the right at the foot of the Lisbon hill road, preparatory to crossing the county bridge, and the front wheels could not be straightened out in time. The car slid over the embankment and, about two-thirds of the way down, lodged against a telephone pole and an old three stump. The pole prevented the machine from turning over.

G. H. McGeehan, of the McGeehan Auto Repair company, Wells avenue, conveyed the party to the office of Dr. J. S. McCulloch where their injuries were dressed. The machine, a Hupmobile sedan, was taken to the McGeehan garage for repairs.

Thomas Reed, of East Liverpool, escaped with a few bruises when the Ford coupe in which he was riding Tuesday night collided with another machine on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. The impact of the collision threw Reed's car into a truck which was passing at that moment and between the two the small car was badly damaged.

Reed was enroute to Wellsville at the time of the collision. His car was towed to McGeehan's garage for repairs.

Amateur Baseball Players Benefit by Bout in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—The amateur baseball players of this city are to be the beneficiaries of the boxing show to be conducted at the public auditorium Friday night.

For this occasion, Promoter Matt Hinkel has donated his services as matchmaker. He has arranged a card calling for thirty-eight rounds of fighting, featuring Johnny Datto and Johnny Farr, two of the best featherweights in the twelve round decision main bout. This is a fight Cleveland fans have been waiting for. The rivalry between the two is keen and lots of action is expected.

In the eight round semi-final, Ted Eastbrook of Niles and Floyd Hybert of Ashtabula have been matched. They are quite evenly matched.

In a six round fight Jimmy Mendo of Philadelphia is to meet Billy Herrold from the Pacific coast at 126 pounds.

Three four round fights with promising Cleveland talent will precede these affairs. The recent show at the public hall, which opened the indoor season was attended by the customary number of northern Ohio fight fans and it is expected that the fast Farr-Datto battle will bring in more hundreds from other cities.

Cleveland fans are supporting the coming fight quite generously as the proceeds go to the amateur baseball players' medical fund from which they pay for attention given injured players. They also are keen about the show for they figure the events will produce some exciting fighting.

Carbicella Brothers Face Probate Court Examination.

Three men who have been held at the county jail in connection with the murder of Patrolman James Kenny, of Wellsville, the morning of May 17th, last, have been released on bail, these being the last three arrested in connection with the investigation of this case by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, Sheriff George Wright and Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville.

Recently the court set bond at $5,000 each in the cases of Mike Zionno and Mike Scoia, of Cleveland, who were charged with murder on an affidavit filed by Chief Fultz in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon. Zionno was the first to be released on bond, and since then a steady effort has been made to secure bond for Scoia. This bond was not secured until late Wednesday afternoon and the defendant was ordered released.

Attorney W. A O'Grady, of Wellsville, then went before the court and asked for a bond in the case of Antonio Scaccuto, a brother of Nick Scaccuto, and who was arrested at Detroit, Mich., recently by Sheriff George Wright and Chief Fultz as a material witness in this murder case. The court set this bond at $500, and soon after this was approved by Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine, Scaccuto was also released.

Friday morning Frank Carbicello and his brother, Bennie, together with Joe Fusco will go before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and undergo an examination, which will permit the court to determine whether or not they can be released on bail, this latter request for an examination being filed with the probate court last Saturday.

FOUR INJURED IN TWO WELLSVILLE AUTO ACCIDENTS

WIFE, HUSBAND AND DAUGHTER IN ONE CRASH

Mrs. James H. Baum In Accident at Yellow Creek.

SEVERELY HURT

Thomas Reed, East Liverpool, Bruised in Collision.

One woman was severely injured and three other persons were cut and bruised in automobile accidents here Tuesday night and this morning.

Mrs. James H. Baum, of the Lisbon road, is suffering from the effects of a dislocated wrist which she received when the auto in which she was riding went over an embankment north of the county bridge over Little Yellow Creek this morning at 8 o'clock.

Her husband, a local florist, and daughter, Thelma, who also were occupants of the machine, were less seriously hurt. The former was cut about the face and the latter escaped with a few bruises.

Bringing a quantity of flowers from their greenhouse a short distance north of Hillcrest, the Baums were enroute to the city, with Miss Baum driving.

Something, apparently, happened to the steering geer as Miss Baum made the turn to the right at the foot of the Lisbon hill road, preparatory to crossing the county bridge, and the front wheels could not be straightened out in time. The car slid over the embankment and, about two-thirds of the way down, lodged against a telephone pole and an old three stump. The pole prevented the machine from turning over.

G. H. McGeehan, of the McGeehan Auto Repair company, Wells avenue, conveyed the party to the office of Dr. J. S. McCulloch where their injuries were dressed. The machine, a Hupmobile sedan, was taken to the McGeehan garage for repairs.

Thomas Reed, of East Liverpool, escaped with a few bruises when the Ford coupe in which he was riding Tuesday night collided with another machine on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. The impact of the collision threw Reed's car into a truck which was passing at that moment and between the two the small car was badly damaged.

Reed was enroute to Wellsville at the time of the collision. His car was towed to McGeehan's garage for repairs.

Amateur Baseball Players Benefit by Bout in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—The amateur baseball players of this city are to be the beneficiaries of the boxing show to be conducted at the public auditorium Friday night.

For this occasion, Promoter Matt Hinkel has donated his services as matchmaker. He has arranged a card calling for thirty-eight rounds of fighting, featuring Johnny Datto and Johnny Farr, two of the best featherweights in the twelve round decision main bout. This is a fight Cleveland fans have been waiting for. The rivalry between the two is keen and lots of action is expected.

In the eight round semi-final, Ted Eastbrook of Niles and Floyd Hybert of Ashtabula have been matched. They are quite evenly matched.

In a six round fight Jimmy Mendo of Philadelphia is to meet Billy Herrold from the Pacific coast at 126 pounds.

Three four round fights with promising Cleveland talent will precede these affairs. The recent show at the public hall, which opened the indoor season was attended by the customary number of northern Ohio fight fans and it is expected that the fast Farr-Datto battle will bring in more hundreds from other cities.

Cleveland fans are supporting the coming fight quite generously as the proceeds go to the amateur baseball players' medical fund from which they pay for attention given injured players. They also are keen about the show for they figure the events will produce some exciting fighting.

PARK ENGINEER IS ON JOB AT ROCK SPRINGS

New York Company Sends Experts to Chester.

BUILD COASTER

Dancing Pavilion Will Open on or About Dec. 10.

Amusement park engineers from the Harry C. Baker company, Inc., New York, arrived in Chester yesterday to assume charge of the rebuilding of New Rock Springs park, recently leased by C. C. Macdonald, former operator of Summit Beach park, at Akron.

The party includes Vernon Keenan, chief engineer; John S. Dean, business manager, and Albert McKee, construction superintendent. Their first work will be to supervise the erection of the new coaster ride, which will take the place of the "Scenic Railway" already razed to make room for the new device. The ride will circle the dancing pavilion and other amusements.

Improvements to the dancing pavilion, which is being enlarged and remodeled, will be completed on or about December 10, according to Macdonald. The building is being enclosed making is available in winter as well as summer. The orchestra pit will be in the center of the floor. About 1,000 square feet additional floor space has been added to the pavilion.

Repainting of the fences and buildings in the park is progressing. Landscape architects have already visited the park arranging for the beautifying of the lawns, floral beds and the park grounds in general.

WESTERN STUFF IN MIX FILM

"Great K. & A. Train Robbery" at American Theatre.

Real Western stuff!

Tom Mix has it in "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Films version of Paul Leicester Ford's thrilling story, which will show at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

It's a story of a cowboy-detective on horseback running down and capturing a gang of outlaws who have terrorized a great railway and driven its president to the edge of a nervous breakdown. Mix has the role of Tom Gordon, detective. He gives a great performance.

Tom rides the trail of the outlaws, overhears their plans and discovers that Burton Holt, division superintendent, one of the trusted employes of Eugene Cullen, president of the line, is the real brains of the bandits, while Bill Tolfree is only the able leader in their actual operations.

Tom's horse accidentally discloses his presence to the gang. The desperadoes leap on their horses and start to run him down. Boulders dislodged by the horses' flying hoofs roll down the mountain to the hairpin turn below and frighten the horse of Madge Cullen, daughter of the railway president. She is unseated and a foot catches in a stirrup so that her head dangles near the runaway's flying feet.

Tom disregards the danger of bullets and rides to the rescue. His handkerchief masks his face and Madge mistakes him for a bandit and the outlaws for a sheriff's posse. She tries to escape but he is unwilling to leave her to the outlaws. He takes her on his horse and dashes toward the railway, with the gang in pursuit.

Cullen's car is attached to the rear of the train. Tom rides alongside and lifts her over the observation platform rail into the arms of her father who also believes Tom is an outlaw. Holt is aboard and Tom recognizes him, so that it is necessary for him to change his plans.

Cullen directs Holt to stop the train. The jerk is almost fatal to de Luxe Harry, a tramp who is riding in his hammack under Cullen's car. Harry proves to have been Tom's orderly when Tom was an army officer and the detective accepts his offer to aid in tracking the bandits. That night they go to Cullen's home to spy on Holt. He takes Harry to Cullen's car and puts him underneath, to overhear the plans. Then he dashes away to the gorge where the gang is to hold up a train carrying a fortune.

Tom routs the desperadoes and recovers the loot. He finds Madge in her father's car attending Harry, who is wounded, and their faces register possibilities of future happiness.

In the cast are Dorothy Dwan, William Walling, Edward Peil, Sr., Harry Gripp, Carl Miller and Curtis McHenry.

WESTERN STUFF IN MIX FILM

"Great K. & A. Train Robbery" at American Theatre.

Real Western stuff!

Tom Mix has it in "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Films version of Paul Leicester Ford's thrilling story, which will show at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

It's a story of a cowboy-detective on horseback running down and capturing a gang of outlaws who have terrorized a great railway and driven its president to the edge of a nervous breakdown. Mix has the role of Tom Gordon, detective. He gives a great performance.

Tom rides the trail of the outlaws, overhears their plans and discovers that Burton Holt, division superintendent, one of the trusted employes of Eugene Cullen, president of the line, is the real brains of the bandits, while Bill Tolfree is only the able leader in their actual operations.

Tom's horse accidentally discloses his presence to the gang. The desperadoes leap on their horses and start to run him down. Boulders dislodged by the horses' flying hoofs roll down the mountain to the hairpin turn below and frighten the horse of Madge Cullen, daughter of the railway president. She is unseated and a foot catches in a stirrup so that her head dangles near the runaway's flying feet.

Tom disregards the danger of bullets and rides to the rescue. His handkerchief masks his face and Madge mistakes him for a bandit and the outlaws for a sheriff's posse. She tries to escapé but he is unwilling to leave her to the outlaws. He takes her on his horse and dashes toward the railway, with the gang in pursuit.

Cullen's car is attached to the rear of the train. Tom rides alongside and lifts her over the observation platform rail into the arms of her father who also believes Tom is an outlaw. Holt is aboard and Tom recognizes him, so that it is necessary for him to change his plans.

Cullen directs Holt to stop the train. The jerk is almost fatal to de Luxe Harry, a tramp who is riding in his hammack under Cullen's car. Harry proves to have been Tom's orderly when Tom was an army officer and the detective accepts his offer to aid in tracking the bandits. That night they go to Cullen's home to spy on Holt. He takes Harry to Cullen's car and puts him underneath, to overhear the plans. Then he dashes away to the gorge where the gang is to hold up a train carrying a fortune.

Tom routs the desperadoes and recovers the loot. He finds Madge in her father's car attending Harry, who is wounded, and their faces register possibilities of future happiness.

In the cast are Dorothy Dwan, William Walling, Edward Peil, Sr., Harry Gripp, Carl Miller and Curtis McHenry.

A "street car pageant," given during a civic week celebration in Manchester, England, recently, showed the evolution of street passenger service.

High Grid Rivals Confident as They Prepare for Battle

Princeton Wouldn't Be Goat; Breaks Off Harvard Relations

Crimson's Refusal to Put Tiger Game on Annual Basis Leads to Upheaval, Together With Jeering Editorial in Lampoon and "Dirty" Football Charges Hurled at Cambridge Team.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—Princeton refused to be "the goat."

That in a nutshell was the reason the Tiger broke off athletic relations with the Crimson, it was learned today.

Harvard graduates have been clamoring for a game with Michigan or other middle western universities.

The upshot was that the Harvard committee on the regulations of athletic sports drew up a new athletic policy, under which Harvard reserved the right to select her athletic opponents with the sole exception of Yale. This, in effect, was a refusal to place the Princeton football game on an annual basis. When the new Harvard policy reached Old Nassau, Princeton cut loose and wrecked the "Big Three."

The anti-Princeton jeering editorial in the Harvard comic paper, Lampoon, issued last Saturday to the crowds entering the stadium for the Princeton-Harvard battle, and much Harvard talk about "dirty football" are believed here to have hastened the Princeton action.

Athletic Director William J. Bingham said today that the Princeton action came as a complete surprise to him. He and President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, declined to discuss the matter.

The only statement coming from anybody was from Captain Clem Coady of the football eleven, who said: "I am sorry that Princeton thinks it necessary to severe athletic relations with Harvard. I hope time will remedy the situation."

Details of the new proposed Harvard agreement, drawn up here October 8, but not sent to Yale and Princeton until yesterday, could not be obtained here. It leaked out, however, that the "big shot" in the new Crimson policy was the making of the Harvard-Yale football game the only "must" game on the schedule.

Students Approve Action.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—While graduates of Princeton, Harvard and Yale were stunned today by the action of Princeton last night in formally breaking off athletic relations with Harvard, thus ending the historic "Big Three," undergraduates hailed the move with approval.

Some regret was expressed at the passing of the Princeton-Harvard football classic, dating back to 1877, but the students as a whole were glad to see Harvard dropped.

The storm which has been brewing for weeks and which came to a head when the Harvard Lampoon took notice of the already strained relations between the two universities in humorous vein, broke when the board of athletic control met here to consider the possible severance of relations.

Vote Unanimous.

The vote was unanimous, according to Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board, who made the public announcement following the meeting and who wrote a letter to William J. Bingham, chairman of the board of athletic control at Harvard, announcing the break.

It was announced, and Harvard was so informed in the letter, that all athletic events already scheduled would be played off if Harvard so wished otherwise cancelled. The announcement made it clear that the articles and poems in the last issue of the Harvard Lampoon were not the only cause of the decision, but that they were, in effect, the last straw.

The Harvard-Princeton game last week was the twenty-eighth between the two universities. Of these Princeton had won sixteen, Harvard had won nine and three have been ties. Since the war nine games have been played, and Princeton has won eight of them losing only in 1923.

Fourth Break.

This is the fourth time the two universities have discontinued athletic relations. The other breaks were from 1885 to 1886 on charges of professionalism; from 1890 to 1894 on charges of professionalism; 1897 to 1910 on charges of unsportsmanlike tactics preferred by Harvard, and from 1917 to 1918 on account of the war.

The letter sent to Harvard by Professor Kennedy read in part:

"We have been forced to the conviction that it is at present impossible to expect in athletic competition with Harvard that spirit of cordial good will between the undergraduate bodies of the two universities which should characterize college sport.

"Unless athletic contests between colleges grow out of and reproduce a feeling of friendly rivalry and mutual respect there can be no valid reason for their continuance."

Object To Harvard Policy.

However, the Lampoon attack merely decided Princeton in its attitude. Previous to the issue of this publication, officials here felt that Harvard and Princeton must reach the parting of the ways because of Harvard's latest policy, announced in an official communication to the effect that the Crimson would meet Yale in all branches of sport annually, but that all other colleges would be met intermittently.

If such an arrangement were adhered to by Harvard, local officials were of the opinion that a Princeton-Harvard break would have been necessary, anyhow.

Break in All Sports.

Dr. Kennedy's letter to Bingham clearly indicated Princeton's desire to make the break an immediate one.

General satisfaction was felt here that Princeton had taken the initiative in severing relations, particularly since Harvard had evinced a desire to drop Princeton from its 1927 football schedule in favor of Michigan. Later Harvard reconsidered and offered Princeton an October date, which the Tiger declined. Then, at the solicitation of Yale, the Crimson decided to return to the old November arrangement.

The present break is the first between the two institutions in all branches of sport but not the first affecting football alone.

MICHIGAN OFF TO OHIO CAPITAL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11.—Michigan's squad of 34 players and six coaches and trainers will leave tonight at midnight for Columbus where the Wolverines will do battle with the Ohio State grid machine Saturday afternoon. The squad will arrive in Columbus early Friday morning and will retire at once to the Columbus Athletic club. A brief workout Friday afternoon on the Ohio gridiron will be the only activity provided for the players before the game.

TUNNEY PLANS STAGE TOUR

Champ Scheduled to Open in Youngstown Nov. 22.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—None the worse for a series of very brutal rounds—golf, angelo, not boxing—Gene Tunney, champion of the world in several languages, will return from Bermuda today to lay belated claim to those requisites of the profession, a hastier acceptance of which his proud spirit forbade.

Our Mr. Tunney turned up more or less missing immediately after making Jack Dempsey exactly what he is today. But he will be easy to find now. All one will need is $165 in cash money and a rough location of the box office. Tunney is going into vaudeville and much power to him. If you don't get it quickly, you finally get nothing except a punch on the nose and the right to clamor for a return bout.

Opens In Youngstown.

Tunney will open in Youngstown, O., on November 22 and is booked ahead to the coast for three months. That will mean that the boy friend will not be on fistic view until late in the summer. Billy Gibson, who sometimes is right, admits as much.

"Let Sharkey and Maloney and all those other mugs show something," quoth Mr. Gibson in his elegant way. "Tunney had to do it. They say we have a lot of good heavyweights around now. All right. Let's find out who is the best many and Tunney will be glad to take him on. Persson? Sure. Dempsey again? I don't see why not. Tunney is a fighting champion. He'll fight anybody."

But, Mr. Gibson neglected to add, not indoors. This was overnight. Mr. Gibson no doubt will be glad to tell anyone Tunney will not fight Abe Attel indoors. It isn't being done by our best people these enlightened days because, while a punch on the nose is the same, indoors or out, its merited reward is somewhat different.

Won't Fight for Nothing.

Tunney probably is a better fighter than a lot of people suspect and his faith in himself is so great as to be almost touching. But the day is gone long since when John L. Sullivan toured the land, inviting all comers to take a swing at his nostril.

The boys don't do that sort of thing now. They are willing to be swung at but only under approved conditions. If it should so be that Mr. Tunney is to halt one with his jawl, he will do it where the air is open and the addicts are gathering in the greatest possible numbers.

BILLIARD FANS SEE CLOSE MATCH

Another close, keenly contested match gave cue addicts additional thrills last night at the American Billiard parlors as Johannes nosed out Shevers by the narrow margin of 100 to 98.

E. Smith and Rodebaugh are slated to clash tonight.

WILLS-PERSSON MATCH IN VIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Prospects of a heavyweight match between Harry Wills and Harry Persson, of Sweden, at Madison Square Garden some time in February were considered bright today, following Tex Rickard's announcement that he stood ready to match the two boxers. Rickard previously had declared that he had washed his hands of Wills after the colored man's efforts, through his manager, Paddy Mullins, to halt the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Philadelphia.

Persson, at present, is not available, being under indefinite suspension here for fouling Bud Gorman. The Swede also is out of training owing to an injured left thumb.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

The forward passing combination of Benny Friedman and Oosterbaan has helped make Michigan one of the country's greatest elevens the past two seasons. Quite obviously such a combination is only as good as its receiver. Oosterbaan, as end and chief receiver of the passes Friedman hurls, has stamped himself as one of the best linemen in the game. He is not only a brilliant wingman on offense, but a sterling defensive player. He and Flory give the Yostmen two of the best ends in the west, if not in the country.

OOSTERBAAN

LINDENMEYER

Oosterbaan's great height gives him an advantage in receiving Friedman's long passes. He stands six feet four inches with his cleats in the mud. Edgar Lindenmeyer, All-American line selection last season because of his work at tackle for the Missouri team. His punting, open field running and passing have played important parts in Missouri's game to date. His punting helped keep Oklahoma U. from rolling up a bigger score in blasting Missouri's chances of copping the Missouri Valley conference title by a 10 to 7 victory. His passing helped the Show Me team score its touchdown. He is one of the outstanding stars of the middle west.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If the player could have a peg projecting from his side at a point about half way between front and back so that his right arm could strike and rest against this stopper during the back swing, he would have a device that would keep his right arm in the correct track. That is, in the back swing action his right arm would strike this peg, pause just a moment, and then go outward and upward slightly. The point is that this elbow leaves the body only when it is required to do so to follow the shaft, and then it goes out and somewhat up—not very much up, but considerably out, in a full swing. This keeps the right arm under the shaft where it can hit at the last moment, as it should.

LIBERTY PIN LOOP FORMED

Six Clubs are Lined Up For Duckpin Campaign.

Forbes "Scotty" Alcock, ex-coast league baseball star, who recently took over the management of the Liberty bowling alleys, today announced plans for the operation of a six team duckpin league there this winter.

Arrangements for the first half of the league schedule will be made at a meeting Friday night at 7:15 at the alleys. The entire schedule likely will cover a period of from four to five months, with the initial matches billed for Monday.

The following clubs have lined up: Harry Altmans, Golden Star Dairy, Turk-Nash, Smith News, Strabley's Roselawns, and the Libertys.

Cornell In Top Shape.

ITHACA, N. J.—With every man in good shape and the varsity at top form, Cornell is ready for Dartmouth. The only worry of the coaches is the Green's passing game.

Toronto Game Only Basis of Comparison For Saturday Clash

Chester Licked Jefferson Countians, 6-0, and East Liverpool Lost by Same Score; But Dope for This Particular Tilt is Likely to Prove Anything But Reliable.

CHESTER high school gridders, under the direction of Coach Ray Wilde, who is generally credited with having produced the most effective football machine that has operated for the Purple and Gold for a number of years, Saturday will make their strongest bid for the triumph that the Blue and White of East Liverpool has denied over a long period of campaigns.

Having hung up a record of four victories in five starts up until this stage of the season, the West Virginians are confident of their ability to give the local eleven a battle, even if they don't win, and many of the Hancock county delegation are optimistic enough to look forward to a victory.

Lost To Follansbee.

The Follansbee game is the only black spot on the Chester record to date and even in that game Wilde's crew made the Brooke county aggregation hustle to win.

The rest of the schedule to date includes victories over Wellsville, Weirton, Wellsburg and Toronto.

The Weirton conquest puts the Chester eleven in position to argue with New Cumberland for Hancock county honors and this will come about on Thanksgiving day at New Cumberland.

Compare Toronto Scores.

The game with Toronto provides the only line on the respective merits of the Chester and East Liverpool teams. Wilde's combine turned the Torontoans back with a 6-0 trimming at Chester in their game two weeks ago, while the Kidder-Cox outfit went down to defeat by the same score on Toronto's own lot.

But the score doesn't tell the entire story and to reason out a Chester victory on this basis alone may prove disastrous. The backbone of the East Liverpool team was virtually broken by the absence of three leading players, all idle as a result of injuries, and even at that there is question in the minds of the locals as to the referee's decision on a goal line play there.

And irrespective of what logic may be produced from the two teams' respective performances against Toronto, it will be a case Saturday of East Liverpool against Chester and anything can happen.

Regulars Injured.

Although the local coaches are not ballyhooing the news, it may be a fact that three Blue and White regulars will not get into action again on Saturday. Smith, tackle, is out with a broken ankle, it became known today, and Clark, another tackle, is suffering from the effects of a bruised thigh and quite possibly will be unable to play. Jack Bromby's right ankle, twisted in the Salem clash, is badly swollen and his status is questionable.

Crawford and Irwin both good linemen, will replace Clark and Smith in the event these latter two are kept out, but a successor to Bromby in the backfield, if necessary, has not been determined upon by Coach Kidder. He has a number of good boys to call upon and his selection may prove a surprise, at that.

Blue and White Confident.

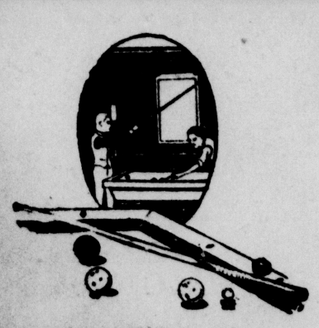

None of these circumstances, however, has failed to shake the confidence of the team as a whole. There is no question in the minds of any of them that the Chester eleven of 1926 is a far more formidable organization than other team of recent years and that they are in for a stiff battle but they feel more than confident as to the ultimate outcome.

Faculty Manager Decker today announced the following officials for the game: Referee, W. Brown Sterrett, of Beaver Falls; Umpire, Jones, Sebring; Headlinesman, Ewing, Rochester, Pa.

The game will be played at Columbian park. Decker announced today. Hopes had been held out for the contest at Patterson Field but rains this week have made this practically impossible.

Portugal plans to repair nearly 2,000 miles of roads.

High Grid Rivals Confident as They Prepare for Battle

Princeton Wouldn't Be Goat; Breaks Off Harvard Relations

Crimson's Refusal to Put Tiger Game on Annual Basis Leads to Upheaval, Together With Jeering Editorial in Lampoon and "Dirty" Football Charges Hurled at Cambridge Team.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—Princeton refused to be "the goat."

That in a nutshell was the reason the Tiger broke off athletic relations with the Crimson, it was learned today.

Harvard graduates have been clamoring for a game with Michigan or other middle western universities.

The upshot was that the Harvard committee on the regulations of athletic sports drew up a new athletic policy, under which Harvard reserved the right to select her athletic opponents with the sole exception of Yale. This, in effect, was a refusal to place the Princeton football game on an annual basis. When the new Harvard policy reached Old Nassau, Princeton cut loose and wrecked the "Big Three."

The anti-Princeton jeering editorial in the Harvard comic paper, Lampoon, issued last Saturday to the crowds entering the stadium for the Princeton-Harvard battle, and much Harvard talk about "dirty football" are believed here to have hastened the Princeton action.

Athletic Director William J. Bingham said today that the Princeton action came as a complete surprise to him. He and President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, declined to discuss the matter.

The only statement coming from anybody was from Captain Clem Coady of the football eleven, who said: "I am sorry that Princeton thinks it necessary to severe athletic relations with Harvard. I hope time will remedy the situation."

Details of the new proposed Harvard agreement, drawn up here October 8, but not sent to Yale and Princeton until yesterday, could not be obtained here. It leaked out, however, that the "big shot" in the new Crimson policy was the making of the Harvard-Yale football game the only "must" game on the schedule.

Students Approve Action.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—While graduates of Princeton, Harvard and Yale were stunned today by the action of Princeton last night in formally breaking off athletic relations with Harvard, thus ending the historic "Big Three," undergraduates hailed the move with approval.

Some regret was expressed at the passing of the Princeton-Harvard football classic, dating back to 1877, but the students as a whole were glad to see Harvard dropped.

The storm which has been brewing for weeks and which came to a head when the Harvard Lampoon took notice of the already strained relations between the two universities in humorous vein, broke when the board of athletic control met here to consider the possible severance of relations.

Vote Unanimous.

The vote was unanimous, according to Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board, who made the public announcement following the meeting and who wrote a letter to William J. Bingham, chairman of the board of athletic control at Harvard, announcing the break.

It was announced, and Harvard was so informed in the letter, that all athletic events already scheduled would be played off if Harvard so wished otherwise cancelled. The announcement made it clear that the articles and poems in the last issue of the Harvard Lampoon were not the only cause of the decision, but that they were, in effect, the last straw.

The Harvard-Princeton game last week was the twenty-eighth between the two universities. Of these Princeton had won sixteen, Harvard had won nine and three have been ties. Since the war nine games have been played, and Princeton has won eight of them losing only in 1923.

Fourth Break.

This is the fourth time the two universities have discontinued athletic relations. The other breaks were from 1885 to 1886 on charges of professionalism; from 1890 to 1894 on charges of professionalism; 1897 to 1910 on charges of unsportsmanlike tactics preferred by Harvard, and from 1917 to 1918 on account of the war.

The letter sent to Harvard by Professor Kennedy read in part:

"We have been forced to the conviction that it is at present impossible to expect in athletic competition with Harvard that spirit of cordial good will between the undergraduate bodies of the two universities which should characterize college sport.

"Unless athletic contests between colleges grow out of and reproduce a feeling of friendly rivalry and mutual respect there can be no valid reason for their continuance."

Object To Harvard Policy.

However, the Lampoon attack merely decided Princeton in its attitude. Previous to the issue of this publication, officials here felt that Harvard and Princeton must reach the parting of the ways because of Harvard's latest policy, announced in an official communication to the effect that the Crimson would meet Yale in all branches of sport annually, but that all other colleges would be met intermittently.

If such an arrangement were adhered to by Harvard, local officials were of the opinion that a Princeton-Harvard break would have been necessary, anyhow.

Break in All Sports.

Dr. Kennedy's letter to Bingham clearly indicated Princeton's desire to make the break an immediate one.

General satisfaction was felt here that Princeton had taken the initiative in severing relations, particularly since Harvard had evinced a desire to drop Princeton from its 1927 football schedule in favor of Michigan. Later Harvard reconsidered and offered Princeton an October date, which the Tiger declined. Then, at the solicitation of Yale, the Crimson decided to return to the old November arrangement.

The present break is the first between the two institutions in all branches of sport but not the first affecting football alone.

TUNNEY PLANS STAGE TOUR

Champ Scheduled to Open in Youngstown Nov. 22.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—None the worse for a series of very brutal rounds—golf, angelo, not boxing—Gene Tunney, champion of the world in several languages, will return from Bermuda today to lay belated claim to those requisites of the profession, a hastier acceptance of which his proud spirit forbade.

Our Mr. Tunney turned up more or less missing immediately after making Jack Dempsey exactly what he is today. But he will be easy to find now.

All one will need is $165 in cash money and a rough location of the box office. Tunney is going into vaudeville and much power to him. If you don't get it quickly, you finally get nothing except a punch on the nose and the right to clamor for a return bout.

Opens in Youngstown.

Tunney will open in Youngstown, O., on November 22 and is booked ahead to the coast for three months. That will mean that the boy friend will not be on fistic view until late in the summer. Billy Gibson, who sometimes is right, admits as much.

"Let Sharkey and Maloney and all those other mugs show something," quoth Mr. Gibson in his elegant way. "Tunney had to do it. They say we have a lot of good heavyweights around now. All right. Let's find out who is the best many and Tunney will be glad to take him on. Persson? Sure. Dempsey again? I don't see why not. Tunney is a fighting champion. He'll fight anybody."

But, Mr. Gibson neglected to add, not indoors. This was overnight. Mr. Gibson no doubt will be glad to tell anyone Tunney will not fight Abe Attel indoors. It isn't being done by our best people these enlightened days because, while a punch on the nose is the same, indoors or out, its merited reward is somewhat different.

Won't Fight for Nothing.

Tunney probably is a better fighter than a lot of people suspect and his faith in himself is so great as to be almost touching. But the day is gone long since when John L. Sullivan toured the land, inviting all comers to take a swing at his nostril.

The boys don't do that sort of thing now. They are willing to be swung at but only under approved conditions. If it should so be that Mr. Tunney is to halt one with his jawl, he will do it where the air is open and the addicts are gathering in the greatest possible numbers.

BILLIARD FANS SEE CLOSE MATCH

Another close, keenly contested match gave cue addicts additional thrills last night at the American Billiard parlors as Johannes nosed out Shevers by the narrow margin of 100 to 98.

E. Smith and Rodebaugh are slated to clash tonight.

WILLS-PERSSON MATCH IN VIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Prospects of a heavyweight match between Harry Wills and Harry Persson, of Sweden, at Madison Square Garden some time in February were considered bright today, following Tex Rickard's announcement that he stood ready to match the two boxers. Rickard previously had declared that he had washed his hands of Wills after the colored man's efforts, through his manager, Paddy Mullins, to halt the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Philadelphia.

Persson, at present, is not available, being under indefinite suspension here for fouling Bud Gorman. The Swede also is out of training owing to an injured left thumb.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

The forward passing combination of Benny Friedman and Oosterbaan has helped make Michigan one of the country's greatest elevens the past two seasons. Quite obviously such a combination is only as good as its receiver. Oosterbaan, as end and chief receiver of the passes Friedman hurls, has stamped himself as one of the best linemen in the game. He is not only a brilliant wingman on offense, but a sterling defensive player. He and Flory give the Yostmen two of the best ends in the west, if not in the country.

OOSTERBAAN

Oosterbaan's great height gives him an advantage in receiving Friedman's long passes. He stands six feet four inches with his cleats in the mud. Edgar Lindenmeyer, All-American line selection last season because of his work at tackle for the Missouri team. His punting, open field running and passing have played important parts in Missouri's game to date. His punting helped keep Oklahoma U. from rolling up a bigger score in blasting Missouri's chances of copping the Missouri Valley conference title by a 10 to-7 victory. His passing helped the Show Me team score its touchdown. He is one of the outstanding stars of the middle west.

LINDENMEYER

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If the player could have a peg projecting from his side at a point about half way between front and back so that his right arm could strike and rest against this stopper during the back swing, he would have a device that would keep his right arm in the correct track. That is, in the back swing action his right arm would strike this peg, pause just a moment, and then go outward and upward slightly. The point is that this elbow leaves the body only when it is required to do so to follow the shaft, and then it goes out and somewhat up—not very much up, but considerably out, in a full swing. This keeps the right arm under the shaft where it can hit at the last moment, as it should.

LIBERTY PIN LOOP FORMED

Six Clubs are Lined Up For Duckpin Campaign.

Forbes "Scotty" Alcock, ex-coast league baseball star, who recently took over the management of the Liberty bowling alleys, today announced plans for the operation of a six team duckpin league there this winter.

Arrangements for the first half of the league schedule will be made at a meeting Friday night at 7:15 at the alleys. The entire schedule likely will cover a period of from four to five months, with the initial matches billed for Monday.

The following clubs have lined up: Harry Altmans, Golden Star Dairy, Turk-Nash, Smith News, Strabley's Roselawns, and the Libertys.

Cornell In Top Shape.

ITHACA, N. J.—With every man in good shape and the varsity at top form, Cornell is ready for Dartmouth. The only worry of the coaches is the Green's passing game.

Toronto Game Only Basis of Comparison For Saturday Clash

Chester Licked Jefferson Countians, 6-0, and East Liverpool Lost by Same Score; But Dope for This Particular Tilt is Likely to Prove Anything But Reliable.

CHESTER high school gridders, under the direction of Coach Ray Wilde, who is generally credited with having produced the most effective football machine that has operated for the Purple and Gold for a number of years, Saturday will make their strongest bid for the triumph that the Blue and White of East Liverpool has denied over a long period of campaigns.

Having hung up a record of four victories in five starts up until this stage of the season, the West Virginians are confident of their ability to give the local eleven a battle, even if they don't win, and many of the Hancock county delegation are optimistic enough to look forward to a victory.

Lost To Follansbee.

The Follansbee game is the only black spot on the Chester record to date and even in that game Wilde's crew made the Brooke county aggregation hustle to win.

The rest of the schedule to date includes victories over Wellsville, Weirton, Wellsburg and Toronto.

The Weirton conquest puts the Chester eleven in position to argue with New Cumberland for Hancock county honors and this will come about on Thanksgiving day at New Cumberland.

Compare Toronto Scores.

The game with Toronto provides the only line on the respective merits of the Chester and East Liverpool teams. Wilde's combine turned the Torontoans back with a 6-0 trimming at Chester in their game two weeks ago, while the Kidder-Cox outfit went down to defeat by the same score on Toronto's own lot.

But the score doesn't tell the entire story and to reason out a Chester victory on this basis alone may prove disastrous. The backbone of the East Liverpool team was virtually broken by the absence of three leading players, all idle as a result of injuries, and even at that there is question in the minds of the locals as to the referee's decision on a goal line play there.

And irrespective of what logic may be produced from the two teams' respective performances against Toronto, it will be a case Saturday of East Liverpool against Chester and anything can happen.

Regulars Injured.

Although the local coaches are not ballyhooing the news, it may be a fact that three Blue and White regulars will not get into action again on Saturday. Smith, tackle, is out with a broken ankle, it became known today, and Clark, another tackle, is suffering from the effects of a bruised thigh and quite possibly will be unable to play. Jack Bromby's right ankle, twisted in the Salem clash, is badly swollen and his status is questionable.

Crawford and Irwin both good linemen, will replace Clark and Smith in the event these latter two are kept out, but a successor to Bromby in the backfield, if necessary, has not been determined upon by Coach Kidder. He has a number of good boys to call upon and his selection may prove a surprise, at that.

Blue and White Confident.

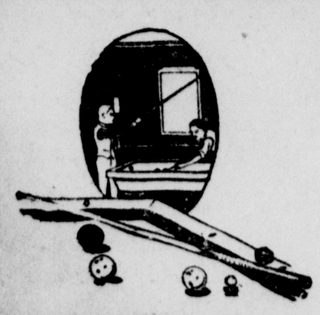

None of these circumstances, however, has failed to shake the confidence of the team as a whole. There is no question in the minds of any of them that the Chester eleven of 1926 is a far more formidable organization than other team of recent years and that they are in for a stiff battle but they feel more than confident as to the ultimate outcome.

Faculty Manager Decker today announced the following officials for the game: Referee, W. Brown Sterrett, of Beaver Falls; Umpire, Jones, Sebring; Headlinesman, Ewing, Rochester, Pa.

The game will be played at Columbian park. Decker announced today. Hopes had been held out for the contest at Patterson Field but rains this week have made this practically impossible.

Portugal plans to repair nearly 2,000 miles of roads.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SIDELINES

Army Drill Light.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 11.—A light workout was scheduled for the Army squad today in preparation for the Notre Dame game. The scrubs, using Notre Dame formations, have been unable to score on the varsity. A fine punter appears to have been uncovered in Brentnall, a sub back.

Green's Offense Improves.

HANOVER, N. H.—Following a short workout the Dartmouth squad will leave late this afternoon for Ithaca, N. Y., where the Green plays Cornell on Saturday. Although this week's practice has been held in snow and mud, the varsity has developed a more powerful offensive.

Practice in Sheepskins.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—Following the return of all of Colgate's injured regulars to the line-up, the team is confident of defeating Syracuse. The intense cold has forced the squad to practice in sheepskins.

Show Up Varsity.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Syracuse is none too confident of defeating Colgate as a result of the varsity's showing yesterday against a team composed of coaches and ineligibles, which ripped through the varsity's line at will.

Slagle Running Again.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Princeton team that tackles Yale on Saturday will be the strongest Tiger eleven assembled on the field this season. With Jake Slagle leading the attack the varsity scored three touchdowns against an all-star team in its final hard workout.

Stick to Tad.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Despite Yale's losing streak, the team is optimistic regarding Princeton. The players scoff at reports of disruption and dissension and are with Coach Tad Jones to a man.

Columbia to Scrimmage.

NEW YORK—The Columbia squad today will hold its last scrimmage before the Penn game. Mike Sesit, injured back, is in fine shape.

Scull Back on Job.

PHILADELPHIA—Paul Scull, Penn back, has recovered from his injuries and will play against Columbia. Douglass has starred this week with several sensational runs and is also expected to play.

Pitt Dickers With Ohio and Nebraska

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Although athletic department officials would make no further formal announcement until the schedule is completed, it was learned here today that the 1927 Pitt gridiron schedule is likely to include games with Nebraska and Ohio State. Rumors were to the effect that Nebraska will play here next season and that a two-year arrangement has been negotiated with Ohio State, Pitt to play at Columbus next season.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SIDELINES

Army Drill Light.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 11.—A light workout was scheduled for the Army squad today in preparation for the Notre Dame game. The scrubs, using Notre Dame formations, have been unable to score on the varsity. A fine punter appears to have been uncovered in Brentnall, a sub back.

Green's Offense Improves.

HANOVER, N. H.—Following a short workout the Dartmouth squad will leave late this afternoon for Ithaca, N. Y., where the Green plays Cornell on Saturday. Although this week's practice has been held in snow and mud, the varsity has developed a more powerful offensive.

Practice in Sheepskins.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—Following the return of all of Colgate's injured regulars to the line-up, the team is confident of defeating Syracuse. The intense cold has forced the squad to practice in sheepskins.

Show Up Varsity.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Syracuse is none too confident of defeating Colgate as a result of the varsity's showing yesterday against a team composed of coaches and ineligibles, which ripped through the varsity's line at will.

Slagle Running Again.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Princeton team that tackles Yale on Saturday will be the strongest Tiger eleven assembled on the field this season. With Jake Slagle leading the attack the varsity scored three touchdowns against an all-star team in its final hard workout.

Stick to Tad.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Despite Yale's losing streak, the team is optimistic regarding Princeton. The players scoff at reports of disruption and dissenion and are with Coach Tad Jones to a man.

Columbia to Scrimmage.

NEW YORK—The Columbia squad today will hold its last scrimmage before the Penn game. Mike Sesit, injured back, is in fine shape.

Scull Back on Job.

PHILADELPHIA—Paul Scull, Penn back, has recovered from his injuries and will play against Columbia. Douglass has starred this week with several sensational runs and is also expected to play.

Pitt Dickers With Ohio and Nebraska

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Although athletic department officials would make no further formal announcement until the schedule is completed, it was learned here today that the 1927 Pitt gridiron schedule is likely to include games with Nebraska and Ohio State. Rumors were to the effect that Nebraska will play here next season and that a two-year arrangement has been negotiated with Ohio State, Pitt to play at Columbus next season.

SETTLE WORST SOUR STOMACH

Takes Less than Five Minutes —Pape's Diapepsin Acts Like Magic on Acid Dyspepsia, Bloat, Belching, Gas

No More of That Bloated Tightness In My Stomach Since I Discovered Pape's Diapepsin

Quick action! In five minutes what you ate or drank is settled into sweetness. Worst sour risings, belching, gas bloat disappear, sunk without trace. You feel fine, elated. Nothing more miserable than the blues from acid dyspepsia. Nothing more bracing than the quick action of Pape's Diapepsin. Try it and prove it. Get a 60 cent package at any drug store.

Badly Inflamed Varicose Veins

Relieved and Reduced by Simple Home Treatment that Must Give Relief or Money Back.

No sensible person will continue to suffer from dangerous swollen veins or bunches when the new powerful yet harmless germicide called Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Ask for a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a few days improvement will be noticed, then continue until the swollen veins are reduced to normal. It is guaranteed and is so powerful that old chronic cases of running sores or ulcers are speedily healed. Mathews Medicine Store, J. D. Holloway and Herche's Drug Store are selling lots of it.

"CASCARETS" KEEP BOWELS REGULAR AND STOP COLDS

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets to-night and you will wake up with a clear head and no doubt you will wonder what became of your cold. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

MAN READS OF GOOD NEWS IN RECENT NEWSPAPER ARTICLE

Marietta Grocer First Learns About Tepee Herb Tonic From Reading Friend's Statement.

One night while quietly reading his newspaper, D. F. Mendenhall, who runs a grocery store at 117½ South Fourth street, Marietta, Ohio, chanced to read an advertisement in which a friend recommended Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic for stomach and bowel trouble.

Inasmuch as Mr. Mendenhall had been having considerable trouble with his stomach and bowels he decided it would be well for him to try Tepee Herb Tonic. He obtained a bottle the very next day and began taking it. In a short time his ailments disappeared.

Mr. Mendenhall says: "For months I was in a badly run down state of health. My bowels were very irregular and try as I might I couldn't find anything to help me. I became so nervous that I couldn't sleep soundly at night. When I got up in the morning I felt tired and worn out. My tongue was usually coated and I had a dull headache that lasted pretty much of the day.

"It's wonderful how Tepee Herb Tonic relieved me of those troubles. Since taking the medicine my bowels are regular and I don't have to be resorting to the use of pills and tablets. I seldom have a headache.

"I have a good appetite, too, and my food doesn't hurt me like it did. I sleep as soundly as a boy. I advise every person who feels like I did to try this medicine. You can't go wrong."

If your food doesn't taste right, if you have dizzy spells and your tongue is coated; if you feel all worn out and when night comes you are so tired that you can hardly drag one foot after the other; if you have any of the disagreeable symptoms of stomach, kidney or liver trouble you owe it to yourself to take Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic. It has helped thousands and you may confidently expect it to help you.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in East Liverpool at Carnahan's Drug stores.

A Flying Detroit.
Kind, But Practical.
For a Little While.
First Armistice Day.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—This city, Los Angeles, if it lives up to its opportunities, which it usually does, will do for flying machines what Detroit has done for automobiles.

An excellent start has been made, good machines are manufactured here. They will be delivered to the consumer in any part of North America after a 24-hour try-out flight, and the price will be "f. o. b. wherever you have a landing field."

Many an American in years to come will wire to Los Angeles for a flying machine, have it delivered the next morning, step in and fly back to California. Many that read this, will see that.

EASTERN religions have a horror of destroying animal life. The ignorant mother on the banks of the Nile will allow flies to eat around the eyes of her baby because it is a sin to kill those flies.

The Japanese are eastern, but also practical, and hate hydrophobia. So here and there they celebrate "dog hunting week." In Hyogo district recently 5,800 wild homeless dogs were rounded up and killed.

THEN a special religious service in their honor was held in the Okurayama temple, 30 Buddhist priests officiating. Gautama, the original Buddhist, you remember, allowed a starving tigress with no milk for her cub to eat his body. The cubs had milk. Gautama was miraculously restored to life, and all lived happily.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, bandmaster aged 72, says he will march out of life to the tune of his own band. "A man keeps going, by keeping going," says he.

The best thing Sousa ever said was, 'Anybody could lead my band as well as I can lead it, for a little while."

Therein resides the safety of the old fellows, that are fortunate. They know how, and can keep going.

YOU remember the excitement on

GEORGE MAYER, 65, MAY DIE AS RESULT OF HIS INJURIES

William J. Waters, Car Owner, Also in Hospital.

GIRL IS CUT

Machine, Family Says, Was Crowded Off Eighth Street.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, when a Willys-Knight touring car hurtled the curb and crashed into a telephone pole east of Patterson field on West Eighth street at 12:45 o'clock this morning.

Three Persons in Car.

The injured:

George Mayer, 65, pottery worker, Shadyside avenue, concussion of the brain and possibly internal injuries; may die, in City hospital.

William J. Waters, 31; also pottery employe, Shadyside avenue, two fractured ribs, lacerated knee; in hospital.

Miss Mildred Mayer, 19, daughter of George Mayer, suffering from shock and injuries to head; removed to home of her grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Hadgett, Monroe street.

Waters and Mayer were accompanying Miss Mayer to her grandmother's home, after a party at the Mayer residence, when the accident occurred. Miss Mayer was in the front seat with Waters, who was at the wheel of the car. Mayer was alone in the rear compartment.

Car Badly Damaged.

The machine was traveling on West Eighth street when members of Mayer's family claim, it was crowded to the left side of the road by another automobile. The Walters car jumped the curb to the sidewalk on the north side of the street and struck a telephone pole, splintering it. Mayer, who was thrown to the street, and the other occupants were rendered unconscious.

Two Hammondsville men on their way home from East Liverpool discovered the wreck and called the Sturgis ambulance. Mayer and Waters were taken to the hospital, while Miss Mayer was taken to her home, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall and M. D. McCutcheon. The two in the hospital were attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey.

The front end of the automobile was crushed and one wheel demolished. The car was taken to the McElravy garage by the McElravy wrecker.

Patrolman William Lister made an investigation of the accident.

Friday, Saturday Are Tag Days for High School Band

Approximately 100 pupils have been enrolled by the Lions' club for the "Tag Day" campaign to be conducted tomorrow and Saturday for the benefit of a fund which will be used in purchasing instruments for the high school band.

Headquarters during the two-day drive will be maintained in the high school building.

EIGHT YEARS AFTER ARMISTICE—STILL IN HOSPITAL

With a mighty outburst of relief, the World War was ended eight years ago—armistice declared Nov. 11, 1918,—but to the man pictured below there has been no armistice. He continues to battle pain. According to figures of the United States Veterans Bureau, more than 25,000 war veterans are being cared for in hospitals. There are altogether approximately 225,000 veterans receiving compensation for disabilities. All told, more than 700,000 applications for compensation has been filed. Top views: Arrival of German armistice delegates within the French lines, and surrender of the German fleet, 1918; bottom: American overseas' veteran still in Veterans Bureau hospital, eight years after the armistice was declared.

CITY BOWS HER HEAD IN HOMAGE

Orphans Attend Theatre; Legion and Vets Celebrate.

East Liverpool paused in her daily toil today and bowed her head in tribute to the heroes of the World war—the boys who went "over there" and did not return and those who did come back.

Sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, exercises were conducted in front of the Carnegie Library at 11 o'clock this morning. Children from the Central, Sixth street and Third street schools took part in the ceremony and also in the parade which preceded the exercises. Superintendent of School C. S. McVay led the flag salute, while an address was delivered by Common Pleas Judge-elect W. F. Lones. This was followed by a volley of three shots and taps by a bugler.

Church bells tolled, factory whistles and fire sirens shrieked for five minutes preceeding 11 o'clock. This was followed by a two-minute period of silence in which all business was stopped in memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice. Exercises of a patriotic nature were carried out in each room of the public and parochial schools.

Both Sides Await Second Round of Annexation Fight

City Officials Announce Proposed Corporate Lines on Eve of Hearing Here Before County Commissioners.

Hearing on the application of the city of East Liverpool to annex "certain property" bordering along the present corporation line, will be resumed in the municipal court rooms at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the county commissioners will hear testimony.

Opening arguments for and against the proposal were heard at Lisbon last Monday morning. Solicitor Frank Hoover and Attorney Jason H. Brookes appeared in behalf of the city, while Attorneys Harry Brokaw and Charles Boyd spoke for the opposition.

The proposed new territory includes sections along the Lincoln highway as far north as La Croft, taking in Sherwood, Fisher Park and other of the hilltop districts. It also takes in all of Maplewood and the Park boulevard zones, running as far north as the township line. The line then follows the Park Way road into East End, embracing all of Beechwood. It also includes Harker avenue and other territory near the upper end of East End.

Mrs. Mulrine, Widow, Dies in Her Home; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Elizabeth Mulrine, 78, widow of Bernard Murline, died last night in her home, 317 West Third street, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Mulrine, who was born in Boness, Scotland, was a resident here for 50 years. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John J. McKeever and Mrs. Harry Barker, both of this city; one brother, Anthony Hughes, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Gooley, both of Brooklyn, N. Y. Six grand children also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Aloysius church. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

SCHOOL BOY RUN DOWN BY TRUCK

Greenville Prosser, 6, first grade pupil in the Central school, Third street, Chester, received minor injuries when struck by a truck as he attempted to cross the street in front of the school building at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The child was carried to a physician's office where he was given medical attention.

LONDON, PARIS PAY TRIBUTE

King and Queen Join In Britain's Homage to Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—King and navy, queen and slavey, Great Britain ceased toil and pleasure to pay tribute to its million war dead today on the eighth anniversary of the armistice.

While the entire British empire paid homage to its dead, it was the cenotaph—that empty tomb in Whitehall which is Britain's national memorial—that was the center of the impressive ceremonies.

Since the foggy dawn there has been a steady trek to Whitehall—grey and bent mothers bearing wreaths to lay on the cenotaph, fathers who have taken a day from their work to carry a few pitiful flowers on the tomb and sisters and brothers bearing their tribute of memory—all filing down the long street in orderly lines patiently waiting hours for their minute at the cenotaph.

Throngs at Cenotaph.

Shortly before 11 a. m.—the hour of the signing of the Armistice—the police held back the long lines and cleared a space before the cenotaph where detachments of the navy, the

COOLIDGE SAYS EUROPE MUST ACCEPT SENATE RESERVATIONS

President Delivers Armistice Day Message at Kansas City.

"AMERICA FIRST"

Memoirial to America's World War Dead Dedicated.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—The United States has crossed its last "t" and dotted its last "i" insofar as the world court is concerned.

Europe must accept the reservations of the U. S. senate exactly as written, or abandon all hope of American adherence to the world court.

President Coolidge so declared today in an Armistice day message to the world which he had come 1,400 miles to deliver from the base of Kansas City's $2,000,000 memorial to America's world war dead.

The president began speaking at 11:02 o'clock. The weather was perfect with a tinge of winter in the air. A crowd of 100,000 had gathered around Memorial Hill. The president's speech was amplified by loud speakers.

Plea for Lasting Peace.

Although, as usual, the executive made a plea for better world understanding and a lasting peace, a distinctly militant note ran through his address.

"America first" was his text. He warmly defended this nation against the profiteering charges which debtor Europe has bandied about. He took cognizance of future conflict and reiterated his endorsement of universal conscription of manpower and money alike in event of national emergency. He elaborated upon the nature and strength of America's military establishment.

Directly challenging Europe on the world court controversy, the president said:

"While the nations involved can not yet be said to have made a final determination, and from most of them no answer has been received, many of them have indicated that they are unwilling to concur in the conditions adopted by the resolution of the senate (for American adherence).

"While no final decision can be made by our government until final answers are received, the situation has been sufficiently developed so that I feel warranted in saying that I do not intend to ask the senate to modify its position. I do not believe the senate would take favorable action on any such proposal, and unless the requirements of the senate resolution are met by the other interested nations I can see no prospect of this country adhering to the court."

Hits Shylock Charges.

The president, admitting certain obligations of a universal nature, declared, however, that America's first thought should be of itself."

"While we recognize the obligations arising from the war and the common dictates of humanity which ever bind us to a friendly consideration for other people, our main responsibility is for America," he said. "In the present

OHIO COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS ONE BALLOT FOR NATIONAL, STATE, DISTRICT AND COUNTY TICKETS AND ALL SPECIAL PROPOSALS

Names of presidential electors will be eliminated, while the national, state, district and county tickets and all special propositions will appear on one ballot, if the Ohio general assembly, at its January session, approves changes in the election laws recommended by a legislative committee, it was announced today.

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today made public 22 proposed changes in the election code, recommended by the 10-man committee of which he is executive secretary. Secretary of State Thad H. Brown is chairman of the committee.

The committee also recommends that the primary elections be held on the first Tuesday of May instead of August, in order to combine state and presidential preference primary, and suggests that absent voters should be required to certify absence from the county rather than precinct.

In precincts where the vote is 150 or less at one election the number of election officials for the next balloting should be reduced from six to four—two judges and two clerks, the committee believes.

If the city council approves, biennial instead of quadrennial registration may be held in cities of 11,800 to 250,000 population, another proposal sets forth.

In quadrennial registration cities three days instead of four would be designated for enrollment. Registrars would be required to be on duty from 2 to 9 p. m., instead of 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and 5 to 10 p. m.

The recommendations follow:

"Elimination of the names of the presidential electors from the ballot and having the names of the electors filed with the secretary of state by the controlling committee of the party and on the ballot the candidates for president and vice-president of respective parties will appear.

"The combining of the national, state, district, and county tickets and all special questions on one ballot. Only one ballot to be presented to the voter at the time of any election.

"Absent voters to certify absence from the county rather than from the precinct before being entitled to vote.

"All voters in line at the time of closing of polls shall be entitled to vote.

"Charge back the costs of all special elections to the different political sub-divisions under which said election is held.

"Change the time limit for filing resolutions or petitions for bond issues and other special causes so that the same shall be filed not less than 40 days before election upon which said propositions are to be voted for, in order to meet the requirements of the absent voters' law.

"No rotation of names of candidates on ballot if there are no more candidates than are candidates to be voted for.

"Furnishing uniform certificates of elections by secretary of state.

"Better methods of lighting booths.

"In advertising for ballots, right be given to have bids submitted from any place in the state rather than just in the county as at present in Section 5050, General Code of Ohio.

"The elimination of proclamations by the sheriff.

"All primaries to be held first Tuesday in May of each year and that the state and presidential primaries be combined and held on the same day.

"Registration: Quadrennial cities, 11,800 to 250,000 population. Biennial may be held by act of council in the said cities and providing funds therefore.

"Biennial regisrtation for cities of 250,000 population or more, registration in even numbered years.

"In biennial registration cities the office of the county board to be opened from January 1 to October 1 for purposes of registering during said office hours.

"Re-count: That the same law in reference to recount of the vote now provided for after general elections be made applicable to primary elections.

"Number of election officers: If the number of voters at the preceeding general election in any precinct be 150 or less the board shall provide only four members—two judges and two clerks.

"Registration in quadrennial registration cities: Precincts registration three days in presidential years before the general election but eliminate first registration day now provided for by law. Opportunity to register, transfer, etc., to be given at the election board headquarters of a central point designated by the board for a period prescribed by the board which shall include the period from 30 to 15 days before each election during those hours prescribed by the board. The board may, by a majority vote at a meeting held 60 days or more prior to any election, general, primary or special, provide for a precinct registration prior to that election for one day only.

"No political sub-division shall be paid rent for public places or halls used for election purposes.

"Boards of education to be nominated by petition only.

"On registration days the registrars shall be in session from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock.

"The right to use printed slips containing the names of the persons for whom the voters desire to vote and make a cross-mark to the left of the names as though the name substituted had been originally placed thereon, amending Section 5071."

A sub-committee will meet within a few weeks in Cincinnati to embody the recommendations in an election code.

The general committee includes three members of the state senate, three from the house, the secretary of state and three others named by the latter official.

War Veteran Gets Senate Place of Late A. B. Cummins

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Senator David W. Stewart, (R) of Iowa, a world war veteran, was sworn in at yesterday's brief session of the senate to succeed the late Albert B. Cummins.

He will serve until next March 4, when Smith W. Brookhart, the Republican insurgent, will return to the senate for a full six-year term.

Stewart was introduced in the senate by Senator Daniel F. Steck, the Iowa Democrat, who was seated by the senate last spring in place of Brookhart. Steck also announced to the senate the death of Cummins.

Senator Hale (R) of Maine also announced the death of the late Senator Bert M. Fernald, his colleague.

CERAMIC BOOKS BROADWAY HIT

Lew Fields' 'Girl Friend' Coming Nov. 16.

Lew Fields' "The Girl Friend," which scored a success on its premiere at the New York Vanderbilt theatre early last spring and played to capacity audiences throughout the summer and is still ringing the bell of metropolian popularity, will be presented at the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday evening, Nov. 16.

"The Girl Friend" is credited with having all the graces essential to a successful musical comedy, including a cast of capable artists, supplemented by an ensemble of pretty and shapely young girls and boys who can sing and have that rare modicum, a sense of humor, exhibited at each performance in a series of eccentric terpsichorean numbers.

In addition to the popular song hits, "The Girl Friend" and "The Blue Room," the lilting melodies include "Why Do I?" "The Damsel Who Done All the Dirt," "Town Hall Tonight," "Good Fellow Mine," "He's a Winner," "I'd Like To Take You Home" and "What Is It?"

More Lovely Imported Bead Bags

Fashion's little whims flit from this to that. Season follows season and generation piles upon generation, yet the bags fashioned after those our great-grandmothers carried are just a little richer and just a little finer and just a little more popular than ever. Today the vogue is color. Tastes go back to Egypt and Persia and all the olden lands for oddity and queerness of design, but ever since beaded bags have been beaded bags they have reflected the glory of the times.

Especially these hand-beaded bags that came from across the water, each done by a master.

Bright and deeply somber shades riot and dance all over them. Flowers of France are side by side with the strange figures of Persia.

Made of small beads and made as soft and rumply as silk. All mounted on filigree frames. There is no end to the variety.

Group of pouch bead bags on gold or silver frames. Green, rose, blue and other combinations. Beads are hand-knit and will not come off. Priced at $4.95.

Group of novelty bead bags with beads knit in purse. All colors in attractive combinations. Priced at $9.75.

Good filigree frame bead bags with silk lining. Oblong and oval shapes with fringe. Double gold chain. Priced at $15.00.

Oblong shape bead bags in lovely color combinations. Silk lining—double chain and fringed. Priced at $18.00, $22.50 up to $39.50.

Very new in the purse family is the silver pouch bag set solid with rhinestones. Satin lining. One style at $15.00 has rhinestone set frame—another at $7.50 has plain frame.

The new pearl party purse or puff and change bag set solid with pearls. Square shape—$5.75.

Group of new black silk pouch bags with gold frame. Newest trimming features. Some fitted with small purse and mirror and swinging purse. Priced at $2.95.

Group of novelty bead bags—hand-knit. Beads won't come off. Included are small purses to carry inside large bead bags; round flat hand purses with filigree top; small wrist bag of sequins in attractive color combination. Priced at $1.25 and $1.50.

Imported bead bags for Misses' and Children. White, blue, rose and combinations. Priced at $1.00.

These Cedar Chests Are Safe Deposit Vaults

Against moth and dust. Just pack your things away, drop the lid and think no more about it. Everything will be just as fresh and fluffy and fine when you open the chest as on the day you put them away.

Years of study have proven that cedar is more repugnant than anything else to the moth, so the most fragrant Tennessee cedar is chosen for these chests. Construction does the rest. Inside dust-proof strips keep everything clear and free of dirt. Every joint is firmly met and neatly finished. Everything about the chests is the best. We have just received some new cedar chests that will do admirably for Christmas gifts. A small deposit will hold them for future delivery.

All-cedar chests—various sizes—priced at $29.75 and $30.

Group of pedestal chests priced at $20.00. Walnut and mahogany finish—cedar lined.

Other mahogany and walnut finish cedar chests with long or short legs. Various sizes. Priced up to $41.00.

$50,000,000 BOND ISSUE FAVORED

J. S. Lakin, president of the state board of control, who returned to his tour of inspection of state institutions, confirmed reports from Huntington to the effect that he is advocating a new state bond issue of $50,000,000 to be used to complete the good roads system and build state institutions.

While in Huntington Mr. Lakin talked with newspaper men, giving his views as to what steps the state should take in building the rest of its roads and also in expanding its institutions to keep up with the expansion of the state.

The $50,000,000 he said is to be divided, giving $35,000,000 to roads and $15,000,000 for institutions. In this way, he said, the tax burdens would be relieved and the future generation, which would reap the gretest benefits from the roads and institutions would pay the bill. He pointed out that at least $5,000,000 more will be needed to complete the new capitol; that the size of the penitentiary at Moundsville should be doubled and that the insane hospitals and other institutions, including the West Virginia unisity are overcrowded and badly in need of building and equipment.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

Charles M. Stewart and John W. Graham, both of Newell, were elected members of the Grant district board of education at the recent election. The former polled 351 votes, while the latter received 328.

John W. Talbott, of Newell, was elected constable receiving 847 votes. These figures were made public by members of the county court who canvassed the vote this week.

Red Cross Roll Call

Armistice Day, appropriately enough, witnesses the launching of the annual Red Cross Roll Call in most cities of the United States. However, inasmuch as the organization of precinct workers will not be completed for a few days, the campaign which ends on Thanksgiving Day, will not begin in East Liverpool until Monday.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be chairman of the canvass here. Twenty-one precincts leaders have named workers for a house-to-house drive, while booths, too, will be maintained in downtown stores and public buildings.

The southern Columbiana county tornado, in which one child was killed, five persons seriously injured and approximately $100,000 property damage exacted, and hurricanes and earthquakes in other parts of the globe have emphasized again in a spectacular way the relief work of the Red Cross.

The daily work of the Great Mother of Mankind in communities untouched by great disasters, is not spectacular and so is little known or soon forgotten. Yet that work, because of its nearness to daily, hum-drum community life, is of very great importance.

Once a year, when the Red Cross conducts its roll call for membership—and funds—these things are brought forward and talked about. Red Cross instruction in domestic hygiene and home nursing, Red Cross co-operation in the elimination and preventing of disease, local relief work of many kinds, disaster relief on an international scale, all are phases of Red Cross activity.

Any one may be a member of the American Red Cross and a sharer in its good works by contributing a dollar to the organization. During this 1926 Roll Call there should be a gain in first memberships as well as widespread renewal of old memberships.

Lese-Majesty In Italy

An English lady, a niece of Lord Dunmore, traveling in Italy, suddenly disappeared. A letter received from her later informed her relatives in England that she had been thrown into prison on an accusation of "speaking against Mussolini." She was said to have made derogatory remarks about the Duce while in a cafe.

She was released a few days later, on condition that she leave Italy.

There is considerable resentment about that in England. There is considerable uneasiness, too, there and elsewhere. It is evident that no foreign visitor is safe in Italy today if he is at all disposed to criticise the Italian dictator.

It isn't a question of making inflammatory speeches against Mussolini, or conspiring against his life, or trying to stir up a revolt. No government would want that sort of thing done, especially by outsiders. But it is evidently perilous in Italy for either natives or aliens to make any kind of critical comment against the Fascist leader, in public or in private. Mussolini is enforcing, for himself, the old autocratic principle of "lese-majesty" more arrogantly than Kaiser Wilhelm ever did.

The inevitable result of such a policy is to invite domestic revolt and to make Italy unpopular with other nations. Travelers are already beginning to boycott that country.

Europe Falls Behind

Figures compiled by League of Nations experts show that in the last 14 years Europe has fallen sadly behind in population and trade, with the western hemisphere and the antipodes running away from her.

North America has increased 20 per cent in population, South America a little more, and Australia and New Zealand 17 per cent, while Europe has gained only 1 per cent.

In the same period Europe's foodstuffs and raw materials have increased 4 to 5 per cent, while they increased 25 per cent in North America and Asia and 33 per cent in South America.

The center of world trade, the Geneva experts say, has shifted from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Central Europe is reviving, but Europe as a whole is far behind the procession and seems likely to stay behind.

Loans

The new Roumanian minister to the United States denies that his country is seeking an American loan. Thus by implication he denies that the real purpose of Queen Marie's visit is to get the American public into a lending mood.

At the same time, he admits, there might be some effort of the sort made later on, for all he knows, because Roumania could make good use of a loan "to develop her agriculture and railroads."

Come to think of it, our own railroads and agriculture might be able to use a few hundred millions. But American investors lately seem to prefer lending their money abroad. It's more romantic.

To say that a man is "innocent until he's proved guilty" and that a man is innocent because "they can't prove it on him" may sound very much alike, but they're not exactly the same thing.

Mussolini, since he has become a popular target for rebellious patriots, wears a steel union suit.

THE PASSIVE ROLE.

As I look back on it, it seems to me I've been hearing various versions of this story ever since I was a babe in arms. But, as I have repeatedly stated before, I do not think age should be a bar to a yarn when it possesses merits.

It is set forth that during the Civil War a young officer in the Union army was taking a stroll along a road in Virginia when he met an old negro man and engaged him in conversation. The ancient darky returned such quaint answers to the Northerner's questions that the latter was moved to quiz him humorously.

"Uncle," he said, "you know, don't you, that this war between us and the Rebs is largely on your account"

"Yas, sah, dat's whut I done heared 'em say."

"Well, you crave to have your freedom, don't you?"

"I 'spects I does."

"Then why aren't you in the army yourself?"

The negro scratched his head reflectively.

"Boss," he said, at length, "did you ever see to dawgs fightin' over a bone?"

"Yes, many a time."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There is, of course, much sneering prattle about the de luxe life in Manhattan among those of us who peer at it from hall room cloisters and wonder how there could be fun in that. In many ways it does seem a boorish procedure.

There is a rich bachelor, for instance, who is said to spend $200,000 a year on actual living expenses. He lives alone in a house that resembles a marble mausoleum—that is if you could call livin with 18 servants alone.

His private swimming pool is a half block long and heh as a dining room that will seat comfortably 110 guests. There is also a squash court, a motion picture projection room seating 50, a fully equipped gymnasium, bar and two mechanical pipe organs.

With all this luxury it is said he gave up entertaining a year ago. He found many guests took advantage of his hospitality to interest him in this scheme and that. Now when he entertains on a large scale he engages a private dining room in a hotel.

It is true, too, that few of those massive homes in and fringing Millionaire's Row are occupied for any length of time. Somehow the big rooms and grandeur become monotonous and will be deserted for the compact intimacy of an apartment house hotel.

Two of the largest homes on Riverside Drive have not been tenanted for nearly two years and there is one home in the East Fifties furnished with a magnificence that is a throw back to Louis XVI. The owner lived in it one month and said he nearly died of loanliness.

It is doubtless Pollyannish to declare that there is more real happiness in those peaceful little homes out where the pavement ends but one thing is certain—in New York at least—that most of those grand mansions are generally as listless as a tomb.

New York is to have a college for waiters. The greatest need for enlightenment is perhaps among bus boys. Most of them are asleep when you want ice water, but wide awake when it comes to snatching away plates of unfinished food.

In a restaurant last night I heard a querulous patron inquire of a bus boy, "What do you have to do around here to get a glass of water?" The boy gazed at him and replied, "No spik Englis'."

Dorothea Antel's Sunshine Shoppe has opened on West 72nd street. It is a monument to courage in affliction. Miss Antel, an actress, was injured in a stage fall in a manner which left her unable to move in her bed without excruciating agony. She has never lost hope and conducts her shop propped up in bed. She has through the encouragement of Nellie Revell, who fought her way back from invalidism, built up a steady trade among theatrical folk.

Somehow the stage seems to furnish rare epics in courage. No finer story of heroism has been told than that of the late Ben Welch who carried on for five years blind when he might have retired and accepted sufficient insurance to which he was entitled to live in comfort. And the bravery of Bernhardt facing the latest curtain call will live long after her acting perhaps is forgotten.

On Tenth Avenue is an eating place run by two vaudeville acrobats who crashed through a net one night and were permanently disabled. On the wall is a sign: "We will talk about anything but our troubles."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Cotton Problem—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—In the middle west and west record-breaking crops of the principal agricultural products spell prosperity for the farmers. In the south, a banner crop of cotton is a tragedy for the cotton growers, the ill effects of which are also felt by cotton manufacturers. This is one of the anomalies of economics and industry of which the country is now having an acute experience. What to do about it is engaging widespread attention throughout the country, but more particularly in the cotton-growing states and in the textile districts of New England. President Coolidge has appointed a commission, headed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., to study the problem and to co-operate with state officials and industrial organizations in working out a plan of relief.

Already much has been accomplished toward meeting the immediate emergency. Cotton prices are firmer, and growers of the banner crop who saw its value drop $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 within a few days after the government crop estimates were made public, are not so panicky as they were. They can draw a full breath now without wondering what may happen to them before they have time to exhale it.

Throughout the country a strong public sentiment has been aroused that finds expression in a movement to bring about a larger domestic consumption of the products of this great American crop. This movement is in a measure comparable with the "Buy-a-bale-of-cotton" campaign of 1914-1915 when disaster threatened the cotton growers through the demorialization of their best market by the European war.

A drive is on in many sections that is illustrated by the action of the students of a woman's college in Mississippi who agreed to give up wearing silk garments of all kinds and wear nothing but cotton fabrics. Women's organizations in other states have taken the lead in urging similar action. Cotton manufacturers are aroused to the necessity of creating a larger domestic demand for their wares, and are initiating concerted efforts that give promise of fruitful results

The Anti-Silk Theory.

Some years ago some one coined a saying that gained widespread circulation. It was to the effect that if one inch could be added to the length of the Chinaman's shirt or coat the market for cotton would be doubled.

Much the same idea is back of the theory that if American women will stop wearing silk and adopt cotton fabrics as their national garb the troubles of the American cotton grower and manufacturer will all be over. Sometimes facetiously, but often quite seriously, it has been suggested that when American women take to wearing cotton they can absolutely insure the prosperity of our cotton industry if they will but add four to six inches to the length of their skirts and return to the use of the good old cotton petticoat, the petticoat being a garment that has become practically obsolete since the ascendancy of the short and skimpy dress and the advent of the silken bloomers or other unmentionables.

However, there is one fundamental fallacy in both the theory about the Chinaman and that about the American woman. You can't make the Oriental add an inch or a fraction thereof to the length of his shirt or coat, and you can't make the American woman abandon silk, lengthen her skirt, or wear petticoats.

In a great emergency many American women might consider it their patriotic duty to wear cotton more extensively, if not exclusively, but they would do that only temporarily and no permanent benefit would accrue to the cotton industry, the problems of which demand a permanent solution. The American woman wears silk because she prefers it, finds it more comfortable, believes it to be more attractive, knows it to be more convenient and more acceptable to her purposes, and finds it to be in some respects more economical, and she is not likely to abandon it until cotton or some other fabric is offered her that has all the qualities and utilities she now sees in silk. Cotton fabrics are certain to come into greater use, but that will be because the manufacturers concentrate on making those fabrics constantly more attractive and on giving them qualities not possessed by silk, or superior to those of silk.

In support of the anti-silk theory it has been argued that because we spend several hundred millions of dollars annually with Japan and China for raw silk, all that money might be diverted to cotton and at present prices would be sufficient to buy almost 40 per cent of the cotton crop, or approximately 6,600,000 bales. That, too, is fallacious.

A Question of Quantity.

That amount of cotton, in addition to the amount that now is used in domestic manufactures for domestic consumption, would make so much fabric that it could not be consumed each year if in addition to its present uses it were made a substitute for wallpaper. It is a question of quantity, rather than of cost. Government experts say that if cotton were to be used as a substitute for all the silk and rayon that are now used in this country it would not create a demand for an additional 500,000 bales a year and that it would have no appreciable effect on the cotton market. And in making that statement they call attention to the fact that we use silk for many purposes besides garments for women, hence what women might accomplish through abandoning silk is further minimized.

It is not to be understood that anybody is discouraging the movement to bring about the use of cotton instead of silk by American women. On the contrary, it will be encouraged and stimulated in every possible way, both by government officials and by the cotton interests, and it will be helpful. It is desired, however, that no false public impression be created as to the degree to which it will relieve the present situation, or like future situations should they develop.

Certain facts are to be borne in mind in connection with the cotton problem. Of a normal crop under normal conditions, approximately 60 per cent is exported in a raw state, while about 40 per cent goes into domestic consumption, which includes personal, household, and industrial uses, and our experts of cotton manufactures. What proportion of the domestic consumption goes into each of the uses cited is practically impossible of determination at present. Statistics are not available that permit of anything beyond rough estimates, and those who make the estimates do not agree.

One expert says that one-half the domestic consumption goes into clothing of various kinds, one-fourth for household uses, while one-fourth is devoted to industrial purposes. Another expert says he does not believe more than 30 per cent is consumed in personal and household uses. Industry, he says, takes 70 per cent.

One thing is definitely known—the annual domestic per capita consumption of cotton is virtually what it was 20 years ago, 57 to 59 pounds. That means that in spite of the great increase in the use of silk for women's garments we are using as much cotton per individual per year as in the days when it took 12 to 15 yards to make a dress and the women wore voluminous and numerous petticoats and had never thought of bloomers or teddy-bears. Of course this is explained by the far more extensive use of cotton today for industrial purposes.

AUDITOR FUND SUIT DROPPED

Bonding Company Asks State to Set Amount of Shortage.

Aside from the prosecution of the indictments, the state's chief interest now in the case of John C. Bond, deposed auditor, missing since last Wednesday a week ago, is the amount of money it will seek to recover from the surety company which gave bond for the ex-auditor during his first administration in the sum of $20,000.

There probably will be no suit to recover the alleged shortage, Attorney General Lee said today, as the surety company has written him that it does not desire a suit. The company also sent the attorney general a form to fill out, which would show the exact shortage. This form, however, has not yet been filled out and it will not be, until Mr. Lee and Governor Gore have determined on the amount of shortage. The shortage has been estimated at between $16,000 and $18,000.

The condition of the bond of the former auditor required of him "faithful and honest performance of his duties" and that "he shall honestly account for, and turn over to the state all monies collected by him for the state."

At the hearing of Bond, nothing was brought out to show that he had not turned over to the state and accounted for all the monies he collected. The charges related only to checks some of which were alleged to be forgeries and all of them alleged to have been issued unlawfully and improperly.

A majority of these checks were paid out of the fire marshal's fund which is collected by the fire marshal from the insurance companies at the rate of one quarter of one percent of all premiums paid on fire insurance. Over this insurance fund the auditor has absolute supervision of the spending, but all of it must go to conduct the fire marshal's department. If at the end of a fiscal year, any balance remains, it must be turned over to the state treasury.

Now the question is, how far could Bond go in paying out the fire marshal's fund, in the absence of specific mandate from the legislature as to how it could be spent.

Attorney General Lee says that this question will not interfere in the matter of collecting from the surety company, when it is shown that the money was improperly obtained and improperly spent from the fire marshal's department.

Others however, contend that the auditor had a right to use his own judgment in spending the fire marshal's fund and there was no one who could tell him how to spend it, except the legislature, and it is pointed out that the legislature did not specify further than to say that it should be used to operate the fire marshal's department.

CLUB MEMBERS GIVEN AWARDS

Five West Virginia Four-H club boys and girls won in the national Four-H Leadership contest conducted by the Farm Journal for 1926. Clarence A. May of Pocahonas county won third award of $50 for the boys, and Clarence A. Stricklin of Triadelphia, Ohio county and Glenn Johnson of Monogalia county won eleventh and twelfth awards respectively and received $10 each. Evelyn Duke of Berkeley county and Beatrice Scott of Randolph county won eleventh and twelfth places for the girls and $10 each.

Twenty-six awards in all were offered, 13 for boys and the same number for girls. The first award in each case was $150, the second $100 and the third $50. The fourth to thirteenth awards for both boys and girls was $10 each.

Of the 26 awards the West Virginia boys and girls took three more than those from any other state. Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Texas, and Oregon each received two awards. The following states got one award each: Arkansas, Kentucky, Indiana, Wisconsin, Vermont, New York, Illinois, Minnesota, and Montana.

SPECIAL NIGHT AT UNION MEET

Large crowd attended union services last night in the United Presbyterian church when "Mother and Daughter Night" was observed.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He took for his text, "And Achan answered Joshua and said indeed I have sinned against the Lord God of Israel, and thus and thus have I done."

Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell sang "In That Beautiful City of Gold." The chorus sang "Wonderful Grace of Jesus."

Special program will be presented tonight in the First Presbyterian church by 100 boys and girls who have been trained by Prof. Mitchell. The union adult chorus will sing.

Many decisions have been reached since the meetings were launched.

LEGION PLANS MEMBER DRIVE

Chester American Legion post plan an intensive drive for new members in the near future. Plans for the campaign will be made at the meeting next Monday night in the First National bank building.

Charter for the organization will probably be received from headquarters of the national organization this week.

Given Final Papers.

Large class were given final papers at the session of the naturalization court yesterday at New Cumberland. The oath of allegiance was administered by Judge J. Harold Brennan.

FACTS
This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other ads permanently.

This illustration shows how springs are used to support the compressor mechanism in a Frigidaire cabinet. Vibration is absorbed, noise is eliminated, trouble-free and dependable operation is assured.

FRIGIDAIRE employs a noiseless, flexible power transmission. The compressor is mounted on flexible springs, and the knowledge of General Motors engineers has been applied in reducing vibration. And automatic lubrication keeps it quiet.

When you buy an electric refrigerator make sure that you are getting flexible power transmission and freedom from vibration—the greatest possible number of cubic feet of food capacity at the lowest cost—the greater ice-freezing capacity—the low operating cost that is made possible by frost coil cooling—and the more precise engineering and manufacturing standards of General Motors. All of these features are offered only in genuine Frigidaire.

Call at our display room, telephone or mail the coupon for complete information.

D. A. R. Celebrate Armistice Day at Mary Hanley Home

The Bethia Southwick chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, was entertained at an Armistice Day party last evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Hanley, High street, East End.

During a business session, it was decided to establish a chair in the new Continental Memorial hall at Washington, D. C. The club members are packing a box of material to send to Ellis Island, for the foreign women to make Christmas gifts. This was suggested by Mrs. Mary Ward, chairman of the committee for Ellis Island.

A program followed the business session. The first part was devoted to Armistice Day, and the second part to Thanksgiving Day. "Armistice Day" was discussed by Mrs. J. W. Chetwynd. The poem, "Flander's Field," by John McCrea, and a discussion of the author's life was given by Mrs. Mary Hanley. Victrola selections for Armistice Day were also diversions.

Miss Carrie Southwick read the address on Thanksgiving by the president general, Mrs. Alfred Brosseau, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Robert Burlingame read "Our Reason for Being Thankful," by Edgar Guest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sadie Leuty.

Mrs. William Wilson was elected chaplain.

The next session will be in the form of a Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Chetwynd, West Sixth street, the date to be announced later.

Surprise Party at Gemeny Home.

The girls in the decorating shop of the Homer Laughlin China company plant No 6, Newell, surprised Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gemeny at their home in Avondale street, last evening, in honor of their marriage Saturday. The social hours were spent with music and games. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Hamilton English and Miss Bernice Finley.

The bride and bridegroom were presented with floor and table lamps.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ida Campbell, assisted by Mrs. Flay Clapsaddle, served refreshments.

Hodson's Christmas Cards.

Star of Bethlehem Party.

Many novel features are planned for the Thanksgiving social which will be held by Friendship lodge, Star of Bethlehem, in their hall in the Ingram building, Diamond, at 7:30 o'clock next Wednesday evening. Games and music will be diversions. Refreshments will be served.

Victory Dancing Party.

A victory dancing party will be held Saturday evening in the Wellsville city hall for the members of the Chester, Lisbon, Wellsville and East Liverpool High schools, in honor of the winners of the Wellsville-Lisbon and Chester-East Liverpool football teams.

Cornwell's Corn Huskers of Beaver Falls, Pa., will play. This orchestra is popular throughout the Beaver Valley, and has filled engagements for fraternity dances in Pittsburgh.

The hall will be decorated in all four high school colors.

During intermission, an entertainer will present a program.

William Hassall Host.

William Hassall, of Lisbon street, received the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church last evening. The devotionals were in charge of Dr. J. G. Reinartz. Following the routine business, general discussion on the doctrinal subject, "Justification by Faith," ensued. Several new members were enrolled.

The following musical program was presented: "America," assembly; "Anchored," bass solo, Charles Hercules; "Air de Ballet," piano solo, Miss Jean Hassall; "Absent," tenor solo, Frank Buxton; "Grandmother's Garden," vocal duet, Misses Sara Buxton and Jean Hassall; "When the Bells in the Light House Ring," bass solo, Charles Hercules; "Smile, Smile, Smile," Frank Buxton; "Star Spangled Banner," assembly.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Hassall, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Simpson and Miss Mildred Gardner.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Dec. 8, at the home of Charles Hercules, Erie street.

Thanksgiving Party Goods, Hodson's.

Birthday Party at Tobias Home.

Miss Rosella Tobias entertained a group of friends Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Fourth street, in celebration of her tenth birthday anniversary. Games and music were the pastimes. Trophies were awarded Richard Ramsey and Paul Keenan.

Refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, assisted by Miss Helen Dopler. Covers were arranged for Esther Rubin, Isabelle Stevenson, Betty Reed, June Tatgenhorst, Dorothy Rigby, Ruth Walker, Angeline Camarda, Josephine Cascio, Nellie Cascio, Richard Walker, Richard Ramsey, Clifford Vess, James Walker, Paul Keevan, Albert Pepper, Richard Landis, Richard Pollock, and Mrs. Dan Pollock.

The honor guest received many gifts.

Thanksgiving Party Goods, Hodson's.

Hostess to Club Members.

The Go-As-You-Are club met last evening in the home of Mrs. Charles Watson, West Second street, with Mesdames Harry Price and Otto Stockdale as associate hostesses. Music and games were the pastimes. Trophies for a guessing contest were awarded Mesdames Homer Risinger, A. H. Kountz and Theodore Hunselman.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, covers being arranged for 15 guests.

Mrs. Theodore Hunselman was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held November 22, at the home of Mrs. Harold Benty, St. Clair avenue.

Hodson's Christmas Cards.

Mrs. Robert Weinhardt Hostess.

Mrs. Robert Weinhardt was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home in Vine street to the members of the Tuesday Bridge club at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Place cards marked the arrangement of the guests.

Following the luncheon, the social hours were spent with progressive bridge, four tables being in play. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Malcolm Thompson and Miss Mildred Weaver.

Special guests were Mesdames Paul V. Robinson and Malcolm Thompson, and Miss Mildred Weaver.

Dancing, Danceland, Thursday night.

Honor Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Coburn.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tucker Coburn, who were married in October, Mrs. Carl Coburn, mother of the bridegroom, entertained last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner at her home in Dixonville. The table was decorated with fall flowers, at which covers were arranged for 18 guests.

The bride was formerly Mary Talbott, daughter of James Talbott, of Harker avenue.

The social hours were spent informally with music and games. Mrs. Melvin McKay presided at the piano.

The honor guests received many gifts.

Country Club Party.

Five tables of bridge were in play yesterday afternoon, when the ladies of the East Liverpool Country club were entertained. Mesdames Sidney Porter, of Newell, and Lawrence W. Smith, of Lincoln avenue, were hostesses. Refreshments were served.

The trophy for the highest score was awarded Mrs. F. T. Meharry of Chicago, the house guest of Mrs. Robert E. Spencer.

Merry Makers' Club Entertained.

Mrs. George Allison entertained the members of the Merry Makers club last evening at her home in Minerva street. Five hundred was the diversion. Mesdames Robert Curran and Edward Holtzman received trophies.

Mrs. Allison was assisted in serving luncheon by Mrs. Curtis Culbertson and Miss Kathryn Gillespie.

The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, November 23, at the home of Mrs. B. O. Harris, Pennsylvania avenue.

Cincinnati Club Re-Organized.

A re-organizing meeting of the Cincinnati Five Hundred club was held last evening in Larkin's annex, Market street. Three tables of 500 were in play. Trophies were presented to Mesdames H. D. Hall and Pearl Bloor and Miss Bertha Sharpe; Messrs. Clarence Graham, John Gray and A. J. Wynn.

The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, Globe street.

BOOK FIVE—X.

The return to normalcy took place suddenly and painlessly.

Madelaine Hamill, opening the door to her son at five o'clock of a blistering afternoon in early July, saw instantly that it had. A dozen little things told her. The look in his eyes. The ring of his voice. The what-care-I tilt of his hat. The long skinny paper-wrapped package under his arm, which could be nothing whatever except a new golf club. . . . When he kissed her his lips made a smack! sound on her cheek, indicative of enthusiasm.

But because she was a very wise woman, who understood Jock very well, she did not say, "Tell me about it!" Nor did she dance a jig, nor sing hallaluiahs, nor give way to any of the impulses that surged in her maternal breast. Instead she went back to the chair in which she had been sitting and flopped down with a tiny moan.

"Isn't it hot!"

"Hell was never hotter," Jock agreed cheerfully.

He removed his hat and let it sail in a neat arc to the divan across the room. He peeled off his coat. He planted his feet astraddle, and with the new golf club, wrapping and all, took several terrific practice swings in air, barely missing the chandelier.

Mrs. Hamill waited.

Jock leaned the brassie tenderly in a corner and approached the victrola. He selected a record with maddening deliberation. While it tinkled in glad tune he stood over it, and twice he moved the needle back to repeat a few bars which he seemed to find particularly pleasing.

Mrs. Hamill waited, and wished she could spank him.

Finally he stretched himself in a chair near hers, poked his thumbs in the pockets his vest, dropped his head back, and said, "I saw Yvonne today."

"Yes?"

"Yes. And it didn' mean anything!" With his elbows he impelled his body forward and looked straight at his mother, and there was a sort of wonder in his eyes. "Can you beat that? After all these months of—of moping around like I have, it simply didn't—mean—anything! I didn't feel anything."

"Did you—talk to her?"

Jock shook his head. "She didn't see me. She was in a machine" . . .

Mrs. Hamill, from the sentences that followed, got this picture:

Fifth avenue and Thirty-fifth street at high noon. A procession of motor cars, and, on the corner, a damp impatient host of people, waiting for them to slide by.

". . . And a fellow standing next to me said to his girl, 'There's the new Demorest Straight Eight.' Demorest is the one, you know. I looked" . . .

A magnificent two-passenger racing car, low slung, painted gray, without a top. In the deep well of it, lounging recumbent behind the massive steering wheel—Yvonne. Yvonne in a gray gown and a tight gray turban with long uncurled feathers that sprayed down on one shoulder. Yvonne with hair that was a loop of flame on her cheek, with diamonds that glittered in the sunlight on her hands, with a Russian wolfhound in a jeweled collar sitting stiffly on his haunches beside here.

". . . And I kept thinking, 'This ought to hurt like hell. This ought to just about kill me.' But it didn't. It just left me absolutely—at peace. Glad for her, because she's got everything money buys to make her happy. And glad for myself."

The room was quite quiet for several minutes. Then Jock lounged to his feet and stood smiling down upon his mother. "And it woke me up," he said, "to a lot of things."

Mrs. Hamill smiled back, but did not speak.

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

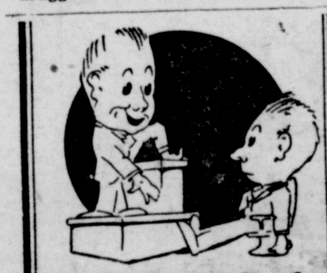

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out conjestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

127 WITNESSES ARE CALLED IN FALL-DOHENY COURT TRIALS

DATE IS NOV. 22

Defendants Will be Tried Separately on Conspiracy Count.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government will call 127 witnesses in its efforts to convict Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, of conspiracy to defraud the government in the leasing of naval oil reserves, it was learned here today.

Dozens of subpoenas will be issued during the next week for witnesses in many parts of the country. Two battalions of lawyers, the prosecution and the defense, are busily engaged in the preliminaries of the trials, which begin on Nov. 22 in the district supreme court.

The defendants will be tried separately, as was done in the recent case of the trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Col. Thomas W. Miller in New York, who also were accused of conspiracy to defraud the government. While the trials proceed concurrently, separate verdicts will be rendered, and the attorneys for one defendant will not necessarily be bound by the actions of the attorneys for the other.

It is estimated the trials will consume six weeks at least.

Some of the subpoenas have already been issued. Among those to be called are understood to be the following:

Ex-Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty; Senators Reed Smoot of Utah; I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin; John W. Harreld of Oklahoma; Thomas J. Walsh of Montana; J. C. Anderson, of Los Angeles, president of the Pan-American Petroleum company, a Doheny concern; Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior under Fall; former representative John J. Fitzgerald of New York; former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma; Rear Admiral L. E. Gregory; Rear Admiral R. S. Griffin; Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post; Rear Admiral C. W. Parks; Edwin Denby of Detroit, former secretary of the navy; Col. Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy; former Representative Swagar Sherley of Kentucky; Rear Admiral H. H. Rosseau; Paul M. Shoup of San Francisco, president of the Pacific Oil company; Commander H. A. Stuart, U. S. N.; all the officers of the Pan-American Petroleum company; officers of several banks including two at El Paso, Texas, where Fall had accounts.

KIWANIS MARKS ARMISTICE DAY

Dr. Edward Andrews and I. A. Hoffman Speak.

Armistice Day and National Educational week were observed at the noon luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

Rev. Edward Andrews, D. D., Cleveland, vice-president of the American Guild of Health, who is conducting a mission in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, was the Armistice Day speaker, while Prof. I. A. Hoffman, principal of the Central school and chairman of the club's educational committee, discussed the Educational Week movement.

Rev. R. K. Caulk, rector of St. Stephen's church, was a guest. Clarence Cline presided. About 50 members of the club attended.

"In 1917 a challenge was issued to mankind to make the world safe for democracy," said Dr. Andrews. "We went into war to end future wars. We sent our boys over there. Some came back and some did not. Many of those who came back returned broken in health and spirit.

"On this the eighth anniversary of the Armistice let us remember those who died in France. Let us take up the torch where they left off and keep the faith of those who rest in Flanders field where the poppies grow. Let us establish a consciousness in the minds of men to outlaw war and remember those who did not return as well as those who came back."

Prof. Hoffman, in discussing National Educational week asserted, that "one of the dark spots in American history was the failure of the United States to enter the league of nations." He paid a high tribute to the late war president, Woodrow Wilson, saying that "Wilson's name will go down in history as one of the nation's greatest men."

Odd Fellows' Initiation.

First degree will be exemplified upon a class of candidates at the meeting of East Liverpool Lodge, No. 379, Odd Fellows, in the lodge temple, West Sixth street, Friday evening.

Of 2,337 exhibitors at the Prague Fall Sample Fair this year, 259 were from twelve foreign countries, including the United States.

TODAY

that original Armistice day. Everybody threw his hat up in the air, many, poor geese, believing that all Europe loved us, because we had gone prancing across the Atlantic ocean, tearing millions of boys from their homes, spending and lending billions of dollars, on what was not our business.

WE KNOW now that Europe hates us, those that haven't paid us a penny of principal or interest on the billions lent them hating us worst of all. The mere thought of paying makes them ill.

Fortunately we can afford what we spent on that patriotic debauch. Let us hope that our future spending will be on preparedness here in America. We have made the enemies. Let us make preparations that will quiet the enmities.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—In observance of Armistice Day, the business of the New York stock exchange, the grain and cotton markets, all of the important commodity markets, the banks and business houses was suspended for two minutes at 11 o'clock today.

Trading on the stock exchange was largely a matter of professional swapping of the speculative leaders in the first hour. Moderate price gains were recorded in United States Steel, the motor shares and the public utilities, but speculative traders were disposed to hold back in view of the important dividend meeting of General Motors Corporation directors after the close of the market.

Shorts in the industrial shares which are the brunt of Wednesday's heavy selling were active buyers of the same stocks on short covering. Montana Power, Federal Light and Traction, Consolidated Gas and other well known utility stocks made the only appreciable move to higher price levels. Steel common gained a point at 147¾; and industrial alcohol was in demand at the best prices of the movement.

Court of Appeals Will Rule Friday In Anderson Case

Ruling on the application for a third trial for George A. Anderson, East Liverpool automobile dealer, twice convicted of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank McLain, taxicab operator, may be handed down Friday by the court of appeals. The case, which was carried to the higher court on error, was argued at Lisbon yesterday afternoon.

Anderson was sentenced to serve four years in penitentiary following his second trial. He was returned to Lisbon from the penitentiary where he had already served four months after his first conviction.

Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, Lisbon, represented Anderson, while Prosecuting Attorney Robert Brookes appeared for the state.

300 DELEGATES AT MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEET

Convention Banquet Served in Methodist Episcopal Church.

TROPHY AWARDED

Three-day Session Will Adjourn Friday Noon.

About 300 delegates are registered for the three-day convention of the Women's Home Missionary society of the North-East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which opened in the First Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday afternoon.

Convention banquet was served in the social rooms of the church last evening by members of the class taught by Mrs. A. J. Savage. The hall was decorated in the society's colors, purple and gold.

Mrs. D. W. Merell, Steubenville, chairman of the young people's work of the conference, delivered the opening speech and introduced the conference officers. Mrs. J. Y. Montague, Steubenville, toastmistress, gave the story of "Pandora's Box and the Stinging Insects" representing earthly troubles.

The symbol of the society, "The Young People's Hope Chest," was portrayed by a group of five girls, Miss Georgia McVay, of this city, "pep;" Miss Frances Bowers, of Steubenville, "faith;" Miss Ethel Shears, Salem, "love;" Miss Ruth Shepherd, Wintersville, "prayer," and Miss Hester Van Dyne, Steubenville, "tithe."

The Steubenville district was awarded the silver cup for the best report during the year, having a gain of more than $1,000 in cash and 127 in membership. This report was given by Mrs. Merrell.

Mrs. Collins J. Brock, a national officer, discussed the mission schools conducted by the church. The devotional services was in charge of Mrs. Mabel Miller, Coshocton, while Mrs. A. R. Brown gave a reading on the subject, "Washed Up By The Sea." The organ prelude was rendered by Mrs. T. C. Flick.

The morning session today opened with communion, followed by a memorial service in charge of Mrs. W. E. Hammaker, Cleveland. The keynote message was given by Mrs. M. S. Crass, Cleveland. Address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. G. L. Brokaw, with a response by Mrs. W. S. Valmore. Conference reports were then given. Luncheon was served in the church parlors at noon.

A children's hour will feature the afternoon session. Mrs. J. W. Dowds of New York, will be the speaker. A mixed quartet will render music at tonight's session. An address will be delivered by Miss Margaret Palmer, a sister of Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, wife of Rev. Isaac L. Miller, now of Columbus, who was pastor of the First church here for several years. Miss Palmer is connected with the national missionary organization of the church.

Should Phipps be named to the irrigation chairmanship, a new chairman will be named to succeed him as head of the committee on education and labor. His successor would be either Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, or Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island. Again if Couzens were given this post, a new chairman of the civil service committee would have to be selected for which Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, has the preference over other members under the seniority rule.

The deaths of Cummins and Fernald and the defeats of Senators William M. Butler in Massachusetts and George H. Williams in Missouri will cause another scramble for their posts on senate committees. The principal plum will be a membership on the powerful foreign relations committee, which Butler held, as well as two posts on the interstate commerce committee, which Cummins and Ferrald held.

City Bows Head

The veterans continued their program at the post rooms at 12 o'clock when East Liverpool's service flag was unfurled. A football game this afternoon and a community entertainment tonight is also scheduled.

The American Legion will celebrate the day with a banquet and a "jamboree" tonight. The Sons of St. George will give a banquet and entertainment in the St. Stephen's parish house. The Knights of Columbus and the Temple Sisterhood have also arranged for celebrations tonight.

Members of the Elks lodge will entertain children of the McCollough-Jefferson county home. The children will be guests at the Ceramic theatre this afternoon. Don Lanning and his musical comedy company who will offer "Top Hole." The kiddies will also enjoy an automobile ride, followed by a dinner at the lodge temple.

army, the air force and the ex-soldiers' associations, were drawn up at attention, while to the right of the memorial and fronting the facade of the home department were the combined choirs of the Chapel Royal and Westminster abbey, attired in their white vestments and lead by the bishop of Willesden, the Right Reverend William W. Perrin, and other church dignitaries.

All the leading members of the cabinet, the dominion premiers now in London for the imperial conference, prominent statesmen and army and navy officials were grouped to the north of the centopah.

At 10:50 a. m., King George, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and Prince Henry, came from the home office and ranged themselves before the cenotaph, while Queen Mary and other women of the royal household took places on the home office balconies.

King Places Wreath on Memorial.

The king, baring his head, advanced and laid a huge wreath of Flanders poppies at the base of the memorial, which was already almost buried beneath a sea of floral tributes. The Prince of Wales and the other royal princes then laid their wreaths and were followed by the representatives of various civic organizations and branches of the government.

War-Wounded in Parade.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Thousands lined the flag-decked Champs Elysees today while hundreds of war-wounded soldiers, led by a guard of honor with torn and tattered battle flags thrown to the breeze, marched to the Arc de Triumph, for Armistice Day services.

President Doumergue, Premier Poincare, Marshall Foch and Joffre, members of the cabinet and other officials wainted in front of the arch while the wounded soldiers and flags of the regiments passed in review.

At 11 o'clock, the trumpets sounded and the crowds stood at attention for a minute of silence, while flags dipped in salute before the tomb of the unknown warrior.

America's Tribute.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—At 11 o'clock this morning the American nation became motionless, for two minutes, as if under a spell, in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War. It was the most impressive moment of Armistice Day.

A sudden hush covered the country. Street cars, subways, elevators, everything stopped. Office workers remained motionless. The nation held its breath. In newspaper and telegraph offices the clattering instruments ceased as the power was shut off.

For two minutes the silence lasted, and then with a rush everything went on again as before.

A bugler sounded the "roll call" at City Hall and in the financial district here.

state of the world that responsibility is more grave than it ever was at any other time. We have to have the facts. The margin of safety in human affairs is never very broad, as we have seen from the experience of the last dozen years. If the American spirit fails, what hope has the world?"

With this text in mind, Mr. Coolidge proceeded to tear down the Shylock character built up for the United States by the debtor nations of Europe.

Did Not Profit from War.

"It is often said that we profited from the World War," he declared. "We did not profit from it, but lost from it in common with all other countries engaged in it. Some individuals made gains, but the nation suffered great losses. Merely in matter of our national debt (now standing at $19,000,000,000) it will require heavy sacrifices extended over a period of about 30 years to recoup those losses. What we suffered indirectly in the diminution of our commerce and through the deflation which occurred when we had to terminate the expenditure of our capital and begin to live on our income is a vast sum which can never be estimated. The war left us with debts and mortgages, without counting our obligations to our veterans, which will take a generation to discharge. High taxes, insolvent banks, ruined industry, distressed agriculture, all followed in its train. While the period of liquidation appears to have been passed, long years of laborious toil on the part of our people will be necessary to repair our loss.

"In time this damage can be repaired, but there are irreparable losses which will go on forever. We see them in the vacant home, in the orphaned children, in the widowed women, in the bereaved parents. To the thousands of the youth who are gone forever must be added other thousands of maimed and disabled.

Urges Conscription of Wealth.

"They tell us we are not liked in Europe. Such reports are undoubtedly exaggerated and can be given altogether too much importance. We are a creditor nation. We are more prosperous than some others. This means that our interests have come within the European circle where distrust and suspicion, if nothing more, have been altogether too common. To turn such attention to us indicates at least that we are not ignored."

The executive did take cognizance, however, of the manner in which a few great American fortunes were made during the World war and demanded that such never happen again.

"It is more and more becoming the conviction of students of adequate defense that in time of national peril the government should be clothed with authority to call into its service all of its man-power and all of its prosperity under such terms and conditions that it may avoid making a sacrifice of one and a profiteer of another. To expose some men to the perils of the battle field while others are left to reap large gains from the distress of their country is not in harmony with our idea of equality. Any future policy of conscription should be all inclusive, applicable in its terms to the entire personnel and the entire wealth of the United States."

Military-Naval Force 550,000.

Although President Coolidge reminded his audience that this government is thoroughly committed to a policy of permanent international peace, he reminded them equally that America committed to a policy of adequate national defense. In the last half dozen years, he said, about four billions of dollars has been spent on this defense.

"Taken as a whole there is no better navy than our own in the world,' he said, "if our army is not as large as that of some other countries, it is not outmatched by any other like number of troops. Our entire military and naval forces represent a strength of about 550,000 men, altogether the largest which we have ever maintained in time of peace. We have recently laid out a five-year program for improving out aviation service. It is a mistake to suppose that our country is lagging behind in this modern art."

Pershing Hits "Slush Fund."

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—General John J. Pershing, in an Armistice Day address here today, departed from the usual tenor of patriotic day addresses and in no uncertain terms condemned political slush funds.

"In the light of recent events in certain states, some of our citizens should modify the methods of selecting candidates for office," he said.

"If the present system encourages or permits the contribution of inordinate sums by wealthy candidates or their supporters it should receive the most careful scrutiny by honest citizens.

"The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes may be made without ulterior motive does not appear to be warranted.

"To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nomination of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthy from such contests.

"If the time ever comes when public offices can be virtually bought and sold either directly or indirectly, then the downfall of the Republic will not be far off."

"May We Always Remain United," is Message From Foch

PARIS, Nov. 11.—"May we always remain united and understand each other."

This is the Armistice Day message of Marshal Foch to the millions who fought under him, as published in Le Matin today.

Driver is Slightly Hurt as Truck Runs Away on Hillside

Carmel Patterson, 32, driver for the Purity Milk company, Chester avenue, received minor injuries when his truck ran away on St. Clair avenue at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after he failed in an attempt to shift the car into low gear near Grant street.

Without brakes the car gained momentum as it traveled down the hill. At the sharp turn near Walnut street, the machine overturned. One front wheel was demolished as the truck slid into the curb.

Patterson, who remained in the cab of the machine, suffered cuts to his right leg and head.

Figures compiled by the city engineer show that 559 acres of territory are in the proposed zone, adding about 450 houses and 2,000 population.

Should the move for annexation fail, it has been intimated that the fire department will be instructed to answer no calls beyond the city limits as the department is maintained by city taxpayers.

At tomorrow's hearing the annexationists will call attention to the fact that residents outside the city are using the garbage disposal plant and Carnegie library, both maintained by the city. Should annexation be approved the city will construct water lines to the new territory, install street lights and provide fire and police protection.

Q. Please give some information about Thrift Week. H. J. R.

A. National Thrift Week is observed annually beginning January 17th. The anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birthday is National Thrift Day. The week was established as a result of cooperation of various business and professional interests with the Y. M. C. A. The week comprises the following days: Share With Others Day; National Life Insurance Day; Own Your Own Home Day; Make a Will Day; Thrift in Industry Day; Family Budget Day; and Pay Your Bills Day.

Q. Are the citizens of Porto Rico citizens of the United States? M. N.

A. Porto Rico is not incorporated into the United States, but its inhabitants, save for less than 200, are citizens of the United States.

Q. What kind of crocodiles are found in the delta of the Ganges River? C. McC.

A. The delta of the Ganges River is cultivated. In the southern part of the delta bordering the sea is a dismal network of swamp land known as the Sundarbans. This swamp land is infested by crocodiles, tigers, and other wild animals. Three distinct species of crocodiles are found in the Ganges —the fresh-water, long-snouted gavia'; the man-eating koomiah; and the muggar.

Q. What five cities with population of 65,000 or more having street car systems, have the smallest mileage? E. E. S.

A. The American Railway Association says that probably the cities would be Tulsa, Okla.; Miami, Fla.; Rockford, Ill.; Charleston, S. C.; and El Paso, Texas. In choosing cities with least amount of track, cases where several cities were served by one company, were omitted. Since the company is apt to report total trackage without allocating it.

Q. How big a whale has been captured? H. L.

A. The Smithsonian Institution says that the length of the largest whale that has been captured so far is about 100 feet. The weight of this whale is unknown.

Q. What does a cubic foot of fresh concrete weighs? E. L. S.

A. The weight of fresh concrete is about 150 pounds per cubic foot. This would vary slightly according to the various mixtures ,and also the size and type of stone and sand which are used.

Q. I have heard that the English word "gentleman" has been put into the French language. Is this true? W. R. M.

A. Within the last few years the French Academy has officially received the word "gentleman" into the French language and incorporated it into the famous dictionary of that institution. An interesting feature of this is the definition given, snce there has always been more or less discussion as to just what constitutes a gentleman. In this dictionary he is defined as "one in whom are combined a certain elevation of character with a certain elegance of manners." This is believed by many authorities to be a most apt description.

Q. What is Nesselrode? R. F. M.

A. The definition given for this is —containing chesnuts, named after a Russian statesman and epicure.

Bad Stomach Made Her Arms Yellow

"I had indigestion so bad that my hands and arms turned yellow, and if it had not been for Adlerika, I think I should have died. There is nothing better for indigestion."—Mrs. Mary Hannaford.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store and other Druggists.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?

Why cutting and operations fail?

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by C. G. Anderson and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. Don't delay. Try HEM-ROID today. It will do the same for you.

PROBATE COURT HAS BUSY DAY

Five Marriage Licenses Issued Yesterday by Judge Riddle.

A marriage license has been issued by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle to L. B. Pike, of Lisbon, father of county treasurer Jo Pike and Georgia Jones, and who has been engaged as a nurse at Lisbon. They were married by the Rev. C. N. Church at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church.

Glen E. Grim of Columbiana, and Anna Mary Muck, of Salem, a former resident of New Waterford, have been granted a marriage license.

George Smith and Mary E. Fynn, both of East Liverpool, have obtained a marriage license. The couple were married by the Rev. J. C. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Edward E. Handte of East Palestine, formerly residing at Lisbon, and Nellie Olloman Firth, also of East Palestine, after obtaining a marriage license returned to East Palestine where they were married by the Rev. Rose.

Noah Leightner of Waynesburg and Carrie Holloway of East Palestine, secured a marriage license. The ceremony is to be performed by the Rev. Plummer.

EDMOND DU BOIS GRANTED DIVORCE

On his cross petition, Edmond S. DuBois, of East Liverpool, has been granted a decree of divorce from his wife, Grace DuBois, on grounds of wilful absence and gross neglect of duty. Alimony has been settled by agreement.

The original petition of the plaintiff was filed Sept. 24, by Cochran & Crawford of East Liverpool and George T. Farrell of Lisbon. The cross petition and answer were filed by Attorney Charles Boyd of East Liverpool.

WOMEN GRANTED DIVORCE DECREES

Rachel Smith was represented by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool when her divorce action against her husband Jacob T. Smith was called for trial before Judge Spence. She was granted a decree on the grounds of failure to support, and gross neglect of duty.

Following a brief hearing in common pleas court, a decree of divorce was granted Alice Toothman of East Liverpool against her husband William Toothman on the grounds of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Toothman was restored to her maiden name, that of Alice M. Stuart.

SUITS FILED TO RECOVER MONEY

Frank D. Taylor of Rogers, through his counsel George T. Farrell of Lisbon has filed an action in common pleas court against J. N. Riffle and Mrs. J. N. Riffle on a note for $500. The note is declared to have been signed by the defendants and the loan made July 18, 1914. The defendants reside on Main street, Columbiana.

A petition has been filed in court by O. H. Shaw against H. O. Reeder and Etta Reeder of Kensington, claiming there being due the plaintiff $169.67 on a note for $700 given by the defendants to the plaintiff July 28th, 1925.

Given Custody of Child.

Another entry has been made in the divorce case filed in common pleas court, Nov. 4, 1921, in which Lenora Monroe was granted a decree against her husband, James A. Monroe, of East Liverpool. The divorce was granted on the grounds of extreme cruelty, and the custody of a child was awarded to the plaintiff.

Through his counsel, P. V. Mackall, Monroe went before Judge W. H. Spence Wednesday afternoon and regained the custody of his child.

The divorce was granted Mrs. Monroe January 27, 1922, by the late Judge James G. Moore.

Judgment Asked.

Declaring that many loans were made him upon request from time to time, and that none of the money has been repaid. Lucy Thompson, through her counsel, Lones, Hill & Davidson, of East Liverpool, has filed a petition in common pleas court against Fred E. Eardley, wherein the court is asked to return a judgment for $1,100.

Suit Instituted.

Claiming $2,427.55 due on an open account for milk and cream delivered upon request, the Golden Star Dairy company has filed a petition in common pleas court against Maude M. and Amanda Evanitchka of East Liverpool. Interest on the account from Oct. 5th is asked.

Action Dismissed.

The action pending in common pleas court since July 14th. 1925, wherein John Calderone is plaintiff and S. M. Stockton defendant, has been dismissed. In this case the plaintiff sought the cancellation of a lease and also sued for a money consideration. The settlement was at the costs of the defendant.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60c at Mathews Med. Store and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

FOUR INJURED IN TWO WELLSVILLE AUTO ACCIDENTS

WIFE, HUSBAND AND DAUGHTER IN ONE CRASH

Mrs. James H. Baum In Accident at Yellow Creek.

SEVERELY HURT

Thomas Reed, East Liverpool, Bruised in Collision.

One woman was severely injured and three other persons were cut and bruised in automobile accidents here Tuesday night and this morning.

Mrs. James H. Baum, of the Lisbon road, is suffering from the effects of a dislocated wrist which she received when the auto in which she was riding went over an embankment north of the county bridge over Little Yellow Creek this morning at 8 o'clock.

Her husband, a local florist, and daughter, Thelma, who also were occupants of the machine, were less seriously hurt. The former was cut about the face and the latter escaped with a few bruises.

Bringing a quantity of flowers from their greenhouse a short distance north of Hillcrest, the Baums were enroute to the city, with Miss Baum driving.

Something, apparently, happened to the steering geer as Miss Baum made the turn to the right at the foot of the Lisbon hill road, preparatory to crossing the county bridge, and the front wheels could not be straightened out in time. The car slid over the embankment and, about two-thirds of the way down, lodged against a telephone pole and an old three stump. The pole prevented the machine from turning over.

G. H. McGeehan, of the McGeehan Auto Repair company, Wells avenue, conveyed the party to the office of Dr. J. S. McCulloch where their injuries were dressed. The machine, a Hupmobile sedan, was taken to the McGeehan garage for repairs.

Thomas Reed, of East Liverpool, escaped with a few bruises when the Ford coupe in which he was riding Tuesday night collided with another machine on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. The impact of the collision threw Reed's car into a truck which was passing at that moment and between the two the small car was badly damaged.

Reed was enroute to Wellsville at the time of the collision. His car was towed to McGeehan's garage for repairs.

Irondale O. E. S. Holds Party for Dr. and Mrs. Rice

Amateur Baseball Players Benefit by Bout in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—The amateur baseball players of this city are to be the beneficiaries of the boxing show to be conducted at the public auditorium Friday night.

For this occasion, Promoter Matt Hinkel has donated his services as matchmaker. He has arranged a card calling for thirty-eight rounds of fighting, featuring Johnny Datto and Johnny Farr, two of the best featherweights in the twelve round decision main bout. This is a fight Cleveland fans have been waiting for. The rivalry between the two is keen and lots of action is expected.

In the eight round semi-final, Ted Eastbrook of Niles and Floyd Hybert of Ashtabula have been matched. They are quite evenly matched.

In a six round fight Jimmy Mendo of Philadelphia is to meet Billy Herrold from the Pacific coast at 126 pounds.

Three four round fights with promising Cleveland talent will precede these affairs. The recent show at the public hall, which opened the indoor season was attended by the customary number of northern Ohio fight fans and it is expected that the fast Farr-Datto battle will bring in more hundreds from other cities.

Cleveland fans are supporting the coming fight quite generously as the proceeds go to the amateur baseball players' medical fund from which they pay for attention given injured players. They also are keen about the show for they figure the events will produce some exciting fighting.

ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOLS GOOD

Grade Pupils Average 97 Percent, High School 95.

With a grade school average of 97 per cent and a high school mark of 95 per cent, attendance in the public schools here was unusually good during the month of October.

Enrollment figures, as announced by the board of education, show a larger number of boys in the high school than girls, an unusual situation. A total of 184 boys are enrolled and 166 girls. The grades boast an enrollment of 671 boys and 604 girls.

Two changes in the teaching staff have been announced by the board. Miss Anna Duane Dever was granted leave of absence as a result of illness and Mrs. Isa Quinn will teach in her stead. Miss Rhemeyn Hamilton was engaged to fill the vacancy in the West End building created by the resignation of Miss Grace Phillips, recently married.

The board has authorized the expenditure of $100 for reading matter for the grades.

THREE HELD IN MURDER CASE FREED ON BOND

Zionna and Scoia Each Required to Post $5,000.

SCACCUTO OUT

Carbicella Brothers Face Probate Court Examination.

Three men who have been held at the county jail in connection with the murder of Patrolman James Kenny, of Wellsville, the morning of May 17th, last, have been released on bail, these being the last three arrested in connection with the investigation of this case by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, Sheriff George Wright and Chief of Police John H. Fultz of Wellsville.

Recently the court set bond at $5,000 each in the cases of Mike Zionno and Mike Scoia, of Cleveland, who were charged with murder on an affidavit filed by Chief Fultz in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon. Zionno was the first to be released on bond, and since then a steady effort has been made to secure bond for Scoia. This bond was not secured until late Wednesday afternoon and the defendant was ordered released.

Attorney W. A O'Grady, of Wellsville, then went before the court and asked for a bond in the case of Antonio Scaccuto, a brother of Nick Scaccuto, and who was arrested at Detroit, Mich., recently by Sheriff George Wright and Chief Fultz as a material witness in this murder case. The court set this bond at $500, and soon after this was approved by Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine, Scaccuto was also released.

Friday morning Frank Carbicello and his brother, Bennie, together with Joe Fusco will go before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and undergo an examination, which will permit the court to determine whether or not they can be released on bail, this latter request for an examination being filed with the probate court last Saturday.

How the Cole Hot Blast Heater

Cuts Down Your Coal Cost— Yet Increases Comfort

In the ordinary heater from 35 to 60 per cent of the fuel is wasted up the chimney. The gases that give most intense heat are wasted because they cannot get enough air to be oxidized. This is prevented in the COLE HEATER by the RED TUBE that burns up all the gases—puts them to work for you.

GET THE ORIGINAL

When you buy a heater, be sure to get the original HOT BLAST HEATER with the RED TUBE — the COLE HEATER. That's the kind we have on display this week at our store. Be sure to stop in and let us explain the many superior features to you.

It's fun to study—

but glare and gloom make dunces of us all!

LET the children see with ease — without eye strain — and then interest in books and problems will never lag.

You know how distracting and irritating it is to try to read or work in dim and dingy light or under glaring, unshaded lamps.

Parents and Teachers Note

You will find that many backward pupils' grades can be traced to poor or improper lighting in the home. You will be doing them an invaluable service if you help them get a suitable study lamp for evening home work.

Come to our office, or go to your electrical dealer's store, and inquire about the right kind of lamps for eye comfort.

The trifling outlay for the proper lamp is nothing compared to the handicap of poor sight and glasses for the rest of your youngsters' lifetime. It's fun to read and work when they can see with ease.

PARK ENGINEER IS ON JOB AT ROCK SPRINGS

New York Company Sends Experts to Chester.

BUILD COASTER

Dancing Pavilion Will Open on or About Dec. 10.

Amusement park engineers from the Harry C. Baker company, Inc., New York, arrived in Chester yesterday to assume charge of the rebuilding of New Rock Springs park, recently leased by C. C. Macdonald, former operator of Summit Beach park, at Akron.

The party includes Vernon Keenan, chief engineer; John S. Dean, business manager, and Albert McKee, construction superintendent. Their first work will be to supervise the erection of the new coaster ride, which will take the place of the "Scenic Railway" already razed to make room for the new device. The ride will circle the dancing pavilion and other amusements.

Improvements to the dancing pavilion, which is being enlarged and remodeled, will be completed on or about December 10, according to Macdonald. The building is being enclosed making is available in winter as well as summer. The orchestra pit will be in the center of the floor. About 1,000 square feet additional floor space has been added to the pavilion.

Repainting of the fences and buildings in the park is progressing. Landscape architects have already visited the park arranging for the beautifying of the lawns, floral beds and the park grounds in general.

Parole 123 at Reformatory.

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 11. — The state board of clemency announced that 123 inmates of the Ohio state reformatory were granted paroles at the November hearing.

Forty three cases were continued. Those paroled will be released commencing Dec. 1.

So Many Endure Catarrh Needlessly

Why bear with the distress of stopped-up head, constant phlegm in the throat, irritating mucus discharge, or other unpleasant effects of catarrh when thousands have proved that you, too, can get rid of catarrh.

Catarrh is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—the delicate lining of nose, throat and head. Clear that up, and catarrh—catarrhal bad breath—and catarrhal deafness disappear.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine has been successful in the treatment of catarrh for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

WESTERN STUFF IN MIX FILM

"Great K. & A. Train Robbery" at American Theatre.

Real Western stuff!

Tom Mix has it in "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Films version of Paul Leicester Ford's thrilling story, which will show at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

It's a story of a cowboy-detective on horseback running down and capturing a gang of outlaws who have terrorized a great railway and driven its president to the edge of a nervous breakdown. Mix has the role of Tom Gordon, detective. He gives a great performance.

Tom rides the trail of the outlaws, overhears their plans and discovers that Burton Holt, division superintendent, one of the trusted employes of Eugene Cullen, president of the line, is the real brains of the bandits, while Bill Tolfree is only the able leader in their actual operations.

Tom's horse accidentally discloses his presence to the gang. The desperadoes leap on their horses and start to run him down. Boulders dislodged by the horses' flying hoofs roll down the mountain to the hairpin turn below and frighten the horse of Madge Cullen, daughter of the railway president. She is unseated and a foot catches in a stirrup so that her head dangles near the runaway's flying feet.

Tom disregards the danger of bullets and rides to the rescue. His handkerchief masks his face and Madge mistakes him for a bandit and the outlaws for a sheriff's posse. She tries to escape but he is unwilling to leave her to the outlaws. He takes her on his horse and dashes toward the railway, with the gang in pursuit.

Cullen's car is attached to the rear of the train. Tom rides alongside and lifts her over the observation platform rail into the arms of her father who also believes Tom is an outlaw. Holt is aboard and Tom recognizes him, so that it is necessary for him to change his plans.

Cullen directs Holt to stop the train. The jerk is almost fatal to de Luxe Harry, a tramp who is riding in his hammack under Cullen's car. Harry proves to have been Tom's orderly when Tom was an army officer and the detective accepts his offer to aid in tracking the bandits. That night they go to Cullen's home to spy on Holt. He takes Harry to Cullen's car and puts him underneath, to overhear the plans. Then he dashes away to the gorge where the gang is to hold up a train carrying a fortune.

Tom routs the desperadoes and recovers the loot. He finds Madge in her father's car attending Harry, who is wounded, and their faces register possibilities of future happiness.

In the cast are Dorothy Dwan, William Walling, Edward Peil, Sr., Harry Gripp, Carl Miller and Curtis McHenry.

High Grid Rivals Confident as They Prepare for Battle

Princeton Wouldn't Be Goat; Breaks Off Harvard Relations

Crimson's Refusal to Put Tiger Game on Annual Basis Leads to Upheaval, Together With Jeering Editorial in Lampoon and "Dirty" Football Charges Hurled at Cambridge Team.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—Princeton refused to be "the goat."

That in a nutshell was the reason the Tiger broke off athletic relations with the Crimson, it was learned today.

Harvard graduates have been clamoring for a game with Michigan or other middle western universities.

The upshot was that the Harvard committee on the regulations of athletic sports drew up a new athletic policy, under which Harvard reserved the right to select her athletic opponents with the sole exception of Yale. This, in effect, was a refusal to place the Princeton football game on an annual basis. When the new Harvard policy reached Old Nassau, Princeton cut loose and wrecked the "Big Three."

The anti-Princeton jeering editorial in the Harvard comic paper, Lampoon, issued last Saturday to the crowds entering the stadium for the Princeton-Harvard battle, and much Harvard talk about "dirty football" are believed here to have hastened the Princeton action.

Athletic Director William J. Bingham said today that the Princeton action came as a complete surprise to him. He and President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, declined to discuss the matter.

The only statement coming from anybody was from Captain Clem Coady of the football eleven, who said: "I am sorry that Princeton thinks it necessary to severe athletic relations with Harvard. I hope time will remedy the situation."

Details of the new proposed Harvard agreement, drawn up here October 8, but not sent to Yale and Princeton until yesterday, could not be obtained here. It leaked out, however, that the "big shot" in the new Crimson policy was the making of the Harvard-Yale football game the only "must" game on the schedule.

Students Approve Action.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—While graduates of Princeton, Harvard and Yale were stunned today by the action of Princeton last night in formally breaking off athletic relations with Harvard, thus ending the historic "Big Three," undergraduates hailed the move with approval.

Some regret was expressed at the passing of the Princeton-Harvard football classic, dating back to 1877, but the students as a whole were glad to see Harvard dropped.

The storm which has been brewing for weeks and which came to a head when the Harvard Lampoon took notice of the already strained relations between the two universities in humorous vein, broke when the board of athletic control met here to consider the possible severance of relations.

Vote Unanimous.

The vote was unanimous, according to Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board, who made the public announcement following the meeting and who wrote a letter to William J. Bingham, chairman of the board of athletic control at Harvard, announcing the break.

It was announced, and Harvard was so informed in the letter, that all athletic events already scheduled would be played off if Harvard so wished otherwise cancelled. The announcement made it clear that the articles and poems in the last issue of the Harvard Lampoon were not the only cause of the decision, but that they were, in effect, the last straw.

The Harvard-Princeton game last week was the twenty-eighth between the two universities. Of these Princeton had won sixteen, Harvard had won nine and three have been ties. Since the war nine games have been played, and Princeton has won eight of them losing only in 1923.

Fourth Break.

This is the fourth time the two universities have discontinued athletic relations. The other breaks were from 1885 to 1886 on charges of professionalism; from 1890 to 1894 on charges of professionalism; 1897 to 1910 on charges of unsportsmanlike tactics preferred by Harvard, and from 1917 to 1918 on account of the war.

The letter sent to Harvard by Professor Kennedy read in part:

"We have been forced to the conviction that it is at present impossible to expect in athletic competition with Harvard that spirit of cordial good will between the undergraduate bodies of the two universities which should characterize college sport.

"Unless athletic contests between colleges grow out of and reproduce a feeling of friendly rivalry and mutual respect there can be no valid reason for their continuance."

Object To Harvard Policy.

However, the Lampoon attack merely decided Princeton in its attitude. Previous to the issue of this publication, officials here felt that Harvard and Princeton must reach the parting of the ways because of Harvard's latest policy, announced in an official communication to the effect that the Crimson would meet Yale in all branches of sport annually, but that all other colleges would be met intermittently.

If such an arrangement were adhered to by Harvard, local officials were of the opinion that a Princeton-Harvard break would have been necessary, anyhow.

Break in All Sports.

Dr. Kennedy's letter to Bingham clearly indicated Princeton's desire to make the break an immediate one.

General satisfaction was felt here that Princeton had taken the initiative in severing relations, particularly since Harvard had evinced a desire to drop Princeton from its 1927 football schedule in favor of Michigan. Later Harvard reconsidered and offered Princeton an October date, which the Tiger declined. Then, at the solicitation of Yale, the Crimson decided to return to the old November arrangement.

The present break is the first between the two institutions in all branches of sport but not the first affecting football alone.

MICHIGAN OFF TO OHIO CAPITAL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11.—Michigan's squad of 34 players and six coaches and trainers will leave tonight at midnight for Columbus where the Wolverines will do battle with the Ohio State grid machine Saturday afternoon. The squad will arrive in Columbus early Friday morning and will retire at once to the Columbus Athletic club. A brief workout Friday afternoon on the Ohio gridiron will be the only activity provided for the players before the game.

TUNNEY PLANS STAGE TOUR

Champ Scheduled to Open in Youngstown Nov. 22.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—None the worse for a series of very brutal rounds—golf, angelo, not boxing—Gene Tunney, champion of the world in several languages, will return from Bermuda today to lay belated claim to those requisites of the profession, a hastier acceptance of which his proud spirit forbade.

Our Mr. Tunney turned up more or less missing immediately after making Jack Dempsey exactly what he is today. But he will be easy to find now.

All one will need is $165 in cash money and a rough location of the box office. Tunney is going into vaudeville and much power to him. If you don't get it quickly, you finally get nothing except a punch on the nose and the right to clamor for a return bout.

Opens in Youngstown.

Tunney will open in Youngstown, O., on November 22 and is booked ahead to the coast for three months. That will mean that the boy friend will not be on fistic view until late in the summer. Billy Gibson, who sometimes is right, admits as much.

"Let Sharkey and Maloney and all those other mugs show something," quoth Mr. Gibson in his elegant way. "Tunney had to do it. They say we have a lot of good heavyweights around now. All right. Let's find out who is the best many and Tunney will be glad to take him on. Persson? Sure. Dempsey again? I don't see why not. Tunney is a fighting champion. He'll fight anybody."

But, Mr. Gibson neglected to add, not indoors. This was overnight. Mr. Gibson no doubt will be glad to tell anyone Tunney will not fight Abe Attel indoors. It isn't being done by our best people these enlightened days because, while a punch on the nose is the same, indoors or out, its merited reward is somewhat different.

Won't Fight for Nothing.

Tunney probably is a better fighter than a lot of people suspect and his faith in himself is so great as to be almost touching. But the day is gone long since when John L. Sullivan toured the land, inviting all comers to take a swing at his nostril.

The boys don't do that sort of thing now. They are willing to be swung at but only under approved conditions. If it should so be that Mr. Tunney is to halt one with his jawl, he will do it where the air is open and the addicts are gathering in the greatest possible numbers.

BILLIARD FANS SEE CLOSE MATCH

Another close, keenly contested match gave cue addicts additional thrills last night at the American Billiard parlors as Johannes nosed out Shevers by the narrow margin of 100 to 98.

E. Smith and Rodebaugh are slated to clash tonight.

WILLS-PERSSON MATCH IN VIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Prospects of a heavyweight match between Harry Wills and Harry Persson, of Sweden, at Madison Square Garden some time in February were considered bright today, following Tex Rickard's announcement that he stood ready to match the two boxers. Rickard previously had declared that he had washed his hands of Wills after the colored man's efforts, through his manager, Paddy Mullins, to halt the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Philadelphia.

Persson, at present, is not available, being under indefinite suspension here for fouling Bud Gorman. The Swede also is out of training owing to an injured left thumb.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

The forward passing combination of Benny Friedman and Oosterbaan has helped make Michigan one of the country's greatest elevens the past two seasons. Quite obviously such a combination is only as good as its receiver. Oosterbaan, as end and chief receiver of the passes Friedman hurls, has stamped himself as one of the best linemen in the game. He is not only a brilliant wingman on offense, but a sterling defensive player. He and Flory give the Yostmen two of the best ends in the west, if not in the country.

OOSTERBAAN

LINDENMEYER

He is one of the outstanding stars of the middle west.

Oosterbaan's great height gives him an advantage in receiving Friedman's long passes. He stands six feet four inches with his cleats in the mud. Edgar Lindenmeyer, All-American line selection last season because of his work at tackle for the Missouri team. His punting, open field running and passing have played important parts in Missouri's game to date. His punting helped keep Oklahoma U. from rolling up a bigger score in blasting Missouri's chances of copping the Missouri Valley conference title by a 10 to-7 victory. His passing helped the Show Me team score its touchdown.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If the player could have a peg projecting from his side at a point about half way between front and back so that his right arm could strike and rest against this stopper during the back swing, he would have a device that would keep his right arm in the correct track. That is, in the back swing action his right arm would strike this peg, pause just a moment, and then go outward and upward slightly. The point is that this elbow leaves the body only when it is required to do so to follow the shaft, and then it goes out and somewhat up—not very much up, but considerably out, in a full swing. This keeps the right arm under the shaft where it can hit at the last moment, as it should.

LIBERTY PIN LOOP FORMED

Six Clubs are Lined Up For Duckpin Campaign.

Forbes "Scotty" Alcock, ex-coast league baseball star, who recently took over the management of the Liberty bowling alleys, today announced plans for the operation of a six team duckpin league there this winter.

Arrangements for the first half of the league schedule will be made at a meeting Friday night at 7:15 at the alleys. The entire schedule likely will cover a period of from four to five months, with the initial matches billed for Monday.

The following clubs have lined up: Harry Altmans, Golden Star Dairy, Turk-Nash, Smith News, Strabley's Roselawns, and the Libertys.

Cornell In Top Shape.

ITHACA, N. J.—With every man in good shape and the varsity at top form, Cornell is ready for Dartmouth. The only worry of the coaches is the Green's passing game.

Toronto Game Only Basis of Comparison For Saturday Clash

Chester Licked Jefferson Countians, 6-0, and East Liverpool Lost by Same Score; But Dope for This Particular Tilt is Likely to Prove Anything But Reliable.

CHESTER high school gridders, under the direction of Coach Ray Wilde, who is generally credited with having produced the most effective football machine that has operated for the Purple and Gold for a number of years, Saturday will make their strongest bid for the triumph that the Blue and White of East Liverpool has denied over a long period of campaigns.

Having hung up a record of four victories in five starts up until this stage of the season, the West Virginians are confident of their ability to give the local eleven a battle, even if they don't win, and many of the Hancock county delegation are optimistic enough to look forward to a victory.

Lost To Follansbee.

The Follansbee game is the only black spot on the Chester record to date and even in that game Wilde's crew made the Brooke county aggregation hustle to win.

The rest of the schedule to date includes victories over Wellsville, Weirton, Wellsburg and Toronto.

The Weirton conquest puts the Chester eleven in position to argue with New Cumberland for Hancock county honors and this will come about on Thanksgiving day at New Cumberland.

Compare Toronto Scores.

The game with Toronto provides the only line on the respective merits of the Chester and East Liverpool teams. Wilde's combine turned the Torontoans back with a 6-0 trimming at Chester in their game two weeks ago, while the Kidder-Cox outfit went down to defeat by the same score on Toronto's own lot.

But the score doesn't tell the entire story and to reason out a Chester victory on this basis alone may prove disastrous. The backbone of the East Liverpool team was virtually broken by the absence of three leading players, all idle as a result of injuries, and even at that there is question in the minds of the locals as to the referee's decision on a goal line play there.

And irrespective of what logic may be produced from the two teams' respective performances against Toronto, it will be a case Saturday of East Liverpool against Chester and anything can happen.

Regulars Injured.

Although the local coaches are not ballyhooing the news, it may be a fact that three Blue and White regulars will not get into action again on Saturday. Smith, tackle, is out with a broken ankle, it became known today, and Clark, another tackle, is suffering from the effects of a bruised thigh and quite possibly will be unable to play. Jack Bromby's right ankle, twisted in the Salem clash, is badly swollen and his status is questionable.

Crawford and Irwin both good linemen, will replace Clark and Smith in the event these latter two are kept out, but a successor to Bromby in the backfield, if necessary, has not been determined upon by Coach Kidder. He has a number of good boys to call upon and his selection may prove a surprise, at that.

Blue and White Confident.

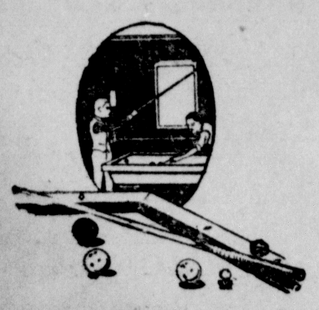

None of these circumstances, however, has failed to shake the confidence of the team as a whole. There is no question in the minds of any of them that the Chester eleven of 1926 is a far more formidable organization than other team of recent years and that they are in for a stiff battle but they feel more than confident as to the ultimate outcome.

Faculty Manager Decker today announced the following officials for the game: Referee, W. Brown Sterrett, of Beaver Falls; Umpire, Jones, Sebring; Headlinesman, Ewing, Rochester, Pa.

The game will be played at Columbian park, Decker announced today. Hopes had been held out for the contest at Patterson Field but rains this week have made this practically impossible.

Portugal plans to repair nearly 2,000 miles of roads.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SIDELINES

Army Drill Light.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 11.—A light workout was scheduled for the Army squad today in preparation for the Notre Dame game. The scrubs, using Notre Dame formations, have been unable to score on the varsity. A fine punter appears to have been uncovered in Brentnall, a sub back.

Green's Offense Improves.

HANOVER, N. H.—Following a short workout the Dartmouth squad will leave late this afternoon for Ithaca, N. Y., where the Green plays Cornell on Saturday. Although this week's practice has been held in snow and mud, the varsity has developed a more powerful offensive.

Practice in Sheepskins.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—Following the return of all of Colgate's injured regulars to the line-up, the team is confident of defeating Syracuse. The intense cold has forced the squad to practice in sheepskins.

Show Up Varsity.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Syracuse is none too confident of defeating Colgate as a result of the varsity's showing yesterday against a team composed of coaches and ineligibles, which ripped through the varsity's line at will.

Slagle Running Again.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Princeton team that tackles Yale on Saturday will be the strongest Tiger eleven assembled on the field this season. With Jake Slagle leading the attack the varsity scored three touchdowns against an all-star team in its final hard workout.

Stick to Tad.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Despite Yale's losing streak, the team is optimistic regarding Princeton. The players scoff at reports of disruption and dissenion and are with Coach Tad Jones to a man.

Columbia to Scrimmage.

NEW YORK—The Columbia squad today will hold its last scrimmage before the Penn game. Mike Sesit, injured back, is in fine shape.

Scull Back on Job.

PHILADELPHIA—Paul Scull, Penn back, has recovered from his injuries and will play against Columbia. Douglass has starred this week with several sensational runs and is also expected to play.

Pitt Dickers With Ohio and Nebraska

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Although athletic department officials would make no further formal announcement until the schedule is completed, it was learned here today that the 1927 Pitt gridiron schedule is likely to include games with Nebraska and Ohio State. Rumors were to the effect that Nebraska will play here next season and that a two-year arrangement has been negotiated with Ohio State, Pitt to play at Columbus next season.

Badly Inflamed Varicose Veins

Relieved and Reduced by Simple Home Treatment that Must Give Relief or Money Back.

No sensible person will continue to suffer from dangerous swollen veins or bunches when the new powerful yet harmless germicide called Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Ask for a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a few days improvement will be noticed, then continue until the swollen veins are reduced to normal. It is guaranteed and is so powerful that old chronic cases of running sores or ulcers are speedily healed. Mathews Medicine Store, J. D. Holloway and Hercher's Drug Store are selling lots of it.

"CASCARETS" KEEP BOWELS REGULAR AND STOP COLDS

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets to-night and you will wake up with a clear head and no doubt you will wonder what became of your cold. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

There's a sure way to put an end to indigestion, gas, shortness of breath and all the ailments that are caused by a bad stomach.

You are simply patching up your stomach when you take things that only give relief for a few hours.

Why not build up your run-down stomach—make it strong and vigorous so that you can eat anything you want any time you want to without the least sign of distress?

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is what every stomach sufferer needs—a pleasant tonic elixir for all stomach ills.

Thousands of bottles of Dare's Mentha Pepsin are sold every day because it is the one outstanding, supremely effective stomach remedy that is guaranteed by Jesse D. Holloway and druggists everywhere.

MAN READS OF GOOD NEWS IN RECENT NEWSPAPER ARTICLE

Marietta Grocer First Learns About Tepee Herb Tonic From Reading Friend's Statement.

One night while quietly reading his newspaper, D. F. Mendenhall, who runs a grocery store at 117½ South Fourth street, Marietta, Ohio, chanced to read an advertisement in which a friend recommended Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic for stomach and bowel trouble.

Inasmuch as Mr. Mendenhall had been having considerable trouble with his stomach and bowels he decided it would be well for him to try Tepee Herb Tonic. He obtained a bottle the very next day and began taking it. In a short time his ailments disappeared.

Mr. Mendenhall says: "For months I was in a badly run down state of health. My bowels were very irregular and try as I might I couldn't find anything to help me. I became so nervous that I couldn't sleep soundly at night. When I got up in the morning I felt tired and worn out. My tongue was usually coated and I had a dull headache that lasted pretty much of the day.

"It's wonderful how Tepee Herb Tonic relieved me of those troubles. Since taking the medicine my bowels are regular and I don't have to be resorting to the use of pills and tablets. I seldom have a headache.

"I have a good appetite, too, and my food doesn't hurt me like it did. I sleep as soundly as a boy. I advise every person who feels like I did to try this medicine. You can't go wrong."

If your food doesn't taste right, if you have dizzy spells and your tongue is coated; if you feel all worn out and when night comes you are so tired that you can hardly drag one foot after the other; if you have any of the disagreeable symptoms of stomach, kidney or liver trouble you owe it to yourself to take Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic. It has helped thousands and you may confidently expect it to help you.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in East Liverpool at Carnahan's Drug stores.
